INTRODUCTION

Jesus continues to guide our path and add his truth to our lives. For those of you who have not read Our World in Transition, Messages From Jesus, this book is a continuation of his book one teachings, giving greater depth and detail to what has already been published. It is not necessary to read Vol I but you may gain some valuable insights from it.

Spiritual truth is something that hits the soul with a resonance which cannot be denied. We are inclined as humans to interpret, judge and analyze what we take in as truth from an outside source. The mind is always categorizing and assessing information so to feel comfortable with what may seem a far-fetched idea such as reading communications through a medium. If you have purchased this book, then you must have at the very least been intrigued by its contents. Before the mind brings you to that place of incredulity, I urge you to take a leap of faith so that you might readily absorb some of the truths contained here. These messages contain sound reasoning and a flow of logic which if given half a chance can lead the reader down some soul fulfilling paths. In essence, these teachings have the intention of bypassing the mind altogether, instead leading the reader to a deeper awareness borne of the soul. Though the teachings which Jesus shares here are not much different from those of 2000 years ago, he uses contemporary language and insights to bring a simple message: that love heals all and love from the Divine Source is the greatest of healers.

To discover the power of what Jesus calls Divine Love we need to understand what it is and how we can come to live within the energy of this love. The twenty-two lessons contained within this book are a guide to the journey. Each one is layered with wisdom, insight and truth which may require a number of readings in order to absorb all that is offered. It is not light reading but as you contemplate and come to a personal understanding of these words, you will most likely gain a sense of peace and a closer realization of true soulful understanding of what life is and can be. Some of these teachings challenge those who are living in the reality of a strictly material world. They are intended to wake us up from our spiritual slumber, helping us to attune to higher levels of consciousness in ways that are simple, yet profound. Through techniques described in this book, portals of soul truth and understanding can be achieved. And if one wonders why such a journey is necessary, Jesus shares his perceptions about why the world is in need of deep shifts in consciousness, which are often attained by one individual at a time.

This book can be a gift to the reader who incorporates the spiritual practices shared within it. It does not require your subscription to any group or religious affiliation. The journey can be taken individually, or it can benefit from a small group of interested souls supporting one another. It costs nothing other than your time and focused intention. If upon reading these passages you feel a tingling in your solar plexus, which is the location of your soul within your body, then might it be that the inner you is signaling that there is something important for you to pay attention to? All great discoveries begin with one step. May your discoveries be something truly extraordinary.

With love and blessings,

Albert J. Fike

MEDIUM'S COMMENTARY

As a developed medium of 15 years and a practitioner of Divine Love prayer, I am delighted to publish this book of Divine Love Truths.

For those who are unfamiliar with Divine Love teachings and practice, engaging in conversation with highly evolved spirits such as Jesus, Confucius and Augustine would be a ludicrous idea. But given the transformative power of receiving this rocket fuel for the soul called Divine Love, such things are possible and indeed probable. When one gets over their mental barriers to accepting these experiences, there comes an understanding that these most exalted souls are also humble and approachable. They have our best spiritual interests at heart and wish to help those of us on Earth. It also becomes clear that Jesus is not God but an elder brother who loves every soul on the planet. Confucius comes across as a happy, friendly soul with a powerful gift of healing energy. Augustine is a being of powerful convictions and a desire to uplift humanity. They all convey a quality of love which infuses the room with its sweet fragrance and atmosphere. As such, who wouldn't want to know these famous, yet very real and present figures from history and find out what wisdom they wish to impart to us today?

Almost a year ago I experienced a remarkable visitation from Jesus. In the last 15 years, having my brother and friend Jesus come close enough to be able to recognize his presence is not remarkable in itself. What was extraordinary is that he gifted me with a woolen prayer shawl, of the type that Jewish men would wear, though it was colored with earth tones, and it had thick red strands loosely woven into shawl form with tassels dangling off its edges. It felt warm and comfortable and came with a sense that it truly belonged with me. With the presentation of this gift, he said that he had a mission for my wife and me. We were to set aside a particular day in the week to receive what he called "His Messages to the World". He invited us to sit in prayer on an allotted day and hour to receive his messages delivered through my gift of mediumship and that we were to record and transcribe what he had to say. Since my wife Jeanne and I were already spending an hour a day in prayer, usually during mid-morning, this was certainly not a hardship, rather a welcome and intriguing opportunity for purposeful connection and communication. So began our weekly prayer vigil and gradual accumulation of several hundred pages of documents which are meant to shift the consciousness of humanity into greater light.

Thus our first publication of messages from Jesus was offered in March 2021. This was not the first publication concerning messages from Celestial Angels but the first to be exclusively from the Master of the Celestial Heavens. Our communications continued through to 2022 and we are now able to offer another collection of his teachings conveyed in the same way. Within these two volumes there are hundreds of pages of truly remarkable teachings from the Master. My fervent hope is that you will receive them with an open mind and heart. Whether you believe its source or not, the proof of its veracity is with the individual's application and experience of what is taught. May these teachings uplift, inspire and bring true spiritual light to you. It has been such an honour to receive this discourse regarding the awakening of the soul and what is to come for the healing of planet Earth. May you be truly blessed on your journey home to our Creator.

With love and blessings,

Al Fike,

LESSON 1

Earth Changes and Soul Awakening

April 9, 2021

May the highest blessings of God be upon you, beloveds. I come. I am Jesus. I come to pray with you, to be with you, to share my wisdom with you, and to walk this path together in love.

Yes, your Earth is undergoing great change. I wish you to know that there is a counterpart to each physical manifestation of God's creation. That counterpart within you is called the spirit body. The counterpart of your Earth also has what you may call a spirit body, an energetic reflection that is the true manifestation of God's creation. Like your physical body and your spirit body, you respond and react within the energetic envelope which is your spirit body which in time, manifests upon your physical body.

It is the same with your world. As humanity continues to desecrate the Earth, claiming for its own so much that is within the Earth and upon the Earth, so the planetary body feels these desecrations manifest within the energetic field which is the "spirit" counterpart of your Earth. In this sensitivity and response, so the Earth has eruptions and defenses which try to heal itself given the inharmonious conditions and actions of humanity.

So much about life, about what God has created, is unknown to humanity as your brothers and sisters continue to strive through their own mindful reckonings and desires and to make a life upon this planet of yours. Yet, they do so often in ways that are born of ignorance and self-gratification and thereby are not fostering harmony upon your world.

Your prayers are very important, beloved souls. Continue to pray for the well-being of your world and the well-being of your brothers and sisters. Indeed, your brothers and sisters must come to truly understand who and what they are and what life truly is. In this understanding, they may come to know the power of love, the power of God's Love to heal and transform, the power of God's Touch to bring vitality and health and the power of a soul awakened in the wisdom and glory of the Love Divine flowing within the soul. In this way, humanity can become an active agent of God, helping to nurture and bring about greater harmony upon your planet, for this is truly possible and can be manifest given the awakening of the soul with the faculties of the soul engaged with the mind to bring about those things that are truly part of God's intentions for life.

It is for you to continue to delve deep within yourself, to seek God's blessings through your prayers, to be in harmony with love and the Truth of God's Love. In this way will come a true insight into the condition of your world and the condition of humanity which is not often a pleasant experience but rather shocking and disturbing to see how clearly and naturally humanity continues to act against the Laws of God, mostly out of ignorance, mostly out of fear, mostly out of a desire for material well-being.

So, the Earth cries out. The true essence of what the Earth is, this sensitive and dynamic aspect of the Earth, feels every imprint and desecration upon it as the consciousness of the Earth is present in everything. It is only humanity, through its inability to know and feel, that does not know the harmony and beauty of the Earth's expression that envelops you all. This allows you to go about your business unaware of what you do and how you continue to claim ignorance of all that is of the Earth and yet do not ask and do not seek to be in harmony with what God has created.

Indeed, God has provided for humanity. This you have no doubt, and this is the truth. But the way in which that provision is made relies upon your awareness and sensitivity to how the Earth may function and be part of the entirety of God's creation in harmony and continued evolution toward greater harmony. You must see with the eyes of your souls and understand with your true nature which is the mind and faculties of the soul.

In this way, you will see that which I speak of and come to understand with a greater appreciation and knowledge of what the Earth truly is and how you may be part of this beautiful and wondrous creation which is the Earth, God's gift to humanity. The gift of life, a beginning that is of material nature and leads to the spiritual, is given to you so that you may progress on as an individuated identity and true individual creation of God with a soul, with a spirit body, possessing great and powerful inclinations and possibilities, some of which are used and some are not known. Upon your journey of awakening you will know your true selves and will come to understand why you are created and with what materials and aspects of your creation that makes you the wondrous soul that you are, opening to God's Will and the great possibilities that God lays before you.

Beloved souls, you are given a great gift, the gift of life. This gift is multi-layered where many aspects lie deep within you and are waiting to emerge into consciousness and be expressed in life. You must go to God seeking His Love, this great nurturance of the soul so that these parts of you may awaken. In so doing, you may teach your brothers and sisters of the things that you may know and understand upon this journey of life, so that they may teach their children and children's children until the entire world has been brought back into balance and harmony with creation.

This is truly a part of God's plan for the salvation of humanity of which many of you are a part given your dedication, time, efforts and application of truth, as your faith grows and becomes a powerful force within you and your soul awakens so that you may be guided forth, and have the insights and possibilities of knowing the truth in ways and means that are rarely known upon your world. These things will come about given your willingness, your choice to follow this Path Divine into the realms and great unknown that shall be known and manifest within you.

May God bless you on that journey, beloved souls. May you come to truly know the gift of life, that gift that is you and that gift that is this beautiful place in which you inhabit and are an integral part.

Each of you, beloved souls, are connected to one another and will help nourish one another. Through your individual journeys and efforts, so this will flow through this Lattice of Light, this intricate web that is woven between you and will come to nourish each one as you journey forward and find your way and place within this great plan of God's desire and intention to heal the world.

His blessings pour forth upon you, beloved souls. The world feels the nurturing warmth and blessings of God's Touch upon it invigorating and healing those damaged parts. You will come to be truly a part of this world and a part of God's universe and a part of God's great family of souls walking in the light, being a part of a wondrous place and expression of God's Creation.

God bless you, beloved souls. God bless you deeply, that your faculties may open, that you may drink in the Living Waters of God's Love nourishing and quenching the thirst of your soul so that you may truly know and awaken to His deep Touch upon you. I am with you and I love you dearly. I am with you and I am close. God bless you, beloved souls.

LESSON 2

Life on Earth and the Importance of Spiritual Progression

I come. I am Jesus. I come to add to my message regarding celestial bodies, the firmament of God's creation, and the energetic signatures and components of these aspects of God's creation.

For some, those who are involved in astrology and other such related matters, there is a belief that the celestial bodies within your view and connected aspects of the firmament in which you are a part have a great deal of influence upon each individual depending upon their date of birth and other aspects of their material life. Unfortunately, many of these ideas are not entirely accurate. But indeed, each planetary body and all that makes up the universe, as I have explained recently, are interconnected and have their own individual energetic signature; they have a mild influence upon the Earth plane due to this connection and interaction, but there is no direct correlation. These bodies do not determine the condition of the individual, nor their thoughts or actions as some believe they do.

Rather, the entire universe is impregnated with God's creation and influence. This in turn has some bearing upon the condition and thoughts of the individual. Your scientists are eager to discover what they call the dark matter of the universe, that component of the universe that is substantial yet undetectable by present technology. What they call dark matter is indeed light matter. It is the Light of God infused in the universe. This does not indicate that God is everywhere for God is not. God is within a particular location in the universe, but that location is not of the material plane but far beyond it.

The Emanations of God continue to influence all of creation no matter what layer or aspect it is in God's creation. There are many, many layers and it would take an eternity to discover all the aspects of God's creation. You only are barely aware of one, that of the Earth plane and some of you, of the world of spirit. Yet God's creation goes far beyond this.

Indeed, those who sense that time is expressed simultaneously and that all things in God's universe are being manifested at once rather than in chronological order is valid, it is merely those conditions of your Earth and the Laws that God has placed within these conditions and creations that is your reality so that time feels that it is linear and that events happen chronologically. But in the wholeness of the universe, these things are but a moment. Though this is quite challenging to your minds, indeed when your souls are developed in a reasonable way, this understanding will come to you and you will be able to comprehend the nature of the universe in this regard.

Many different aspects of creation which involve a material expression and a spiritual expression make for a somewhat complicated scenario in regard to your understanding of the universe for even these two aspects brought together into your consciousness are challenging to understand for many of you. You are stuck within a linear, mindful consciousness and realization of your life in this world; thus, you find it very difficult to go beyond that consciousness, that familiarity, that comfort of an ordered universe, that which is ordered within your mind, and that which you understand to be real. Yet, your reality is subject to the workings of your mind and the influences and development of your mind which have come to see through the five senses and all the intellectual understanding of what the universe is composed of within your individual life.

Indeed, as I have implored humanity in my messages, there is a need to go beyond this very limited perception of life. Now is the time for humanity to break those barriers of thought and perception and venture into a wider world, a world that is more complex yet will bring greater gratification, understanding, and edification to the individual, living within the great universe of God's creation with a deeper and greater understanding of the components and aspects of the wider world and cosmos.

Many solutions will come to the dilemmas that humanity has created for itself and the challenges of earthly life. Life will become a much easier flow of experience where one's physical needs will be met and one's intellectual needs will be nurtured from a greater body of understanding and truth. One's soul will come to know its great desire and need to be in a relationship with its Creator, with the opening of the soul awakening to God through receiving this great boon that is the Divine Love. Your eyes will be opened, and the possibilities of understanding will be far greater. The truth will be more accessible, and love will infuse everything that is a part of one's life.

As each individual comes to realize that they have imposed upon themselves great limitations and come to a deeper understanding of the universe and all that is within it and the universe that is within them, all the possibilities and aspects of their own being will open and be realized with the perceptions of the soul. It will be realized with the awakening of the great potentials of the soul and of the mind fused together by the great transformative power of the Divine Love entering the soul, transforming all. Humanity will then take further steps upon the road of their evolution toward greater light and understanding and truth.

As each individual is awakened, so they add to the body of light that is growing in your world. In the growing transformation of the world from darkness and ignorance to truth and love, all will truly be transformed. Those limitations that humanity has set upon their experience and understanding of life will be removed and the great floodgates of true understanding, experience, and awakening will come to pass and be the heritage of humanity for thousands of generations to come.

This is an essential part of God's plan to awaken humanity, to foster their growth with the unfolding of all that is meant to be within them and within the world. Great influence and power are focused upon your world at this time. This does not come from the heavenly bodies of the material plane. But rather, it comes from God's Great Soul shining down upon your world, a world that is on the precipice of terrible destruction and disharmony. Yet, as in everything that happens in one's life or within the life of this planet, crises can often bring transformation and opportunity, shifting consciousness out of and in response to the pressures that are put upon the individual or this world.

Great opportunities and blessings have been given to humanity at this time as God continues to focus His Love, care and desire for the upliftment of humanity. Each individual in your world has a sense to some degree or another that change is coming and that they are indeed feeling restless, unsure and often fearful because of a sense of impending change and shifting conditions in your world. As I have said, these changes are actually being manifested within the spirit component of your Earth and will soon manifest within the physical aspect of Earth. You will see for yourselves a great uprising of physical responses and reactions to this influence of God combined with the Earth's efforts to heal itself. You will be experiencing very dynamic conditions within the Earth plane. Yet, along with these dynamic conditions and challenges, God has also provided for each individual soul the opportunity to come into alignment more readily with the Divine and to understand, not from the limited perceptions of the mind, but to know from the greater perceptions of the soul.

God is giving humanity a great gift. Although this gift has not been given because God has considered this in a casual way, but because God realizes, as do we in the Celestial Spheres, that the world is in great jeopardy and there must be some form of intervention. In God's great economy, God does not waste His resources, but God gives what is in harmony with the wisdom of His Great Soul and those laws that He has put into place which govern the universe.

This intervention is a unique and wondrous gift to humanity, for the Heavenly Father has reached out to humanity and implored all to rise above the conditions that they have created and come into greater harmony with His creation and His Being. God's plan for the salvation of humanity continues to unfold, much of which has yet to be realized or understood. But as I have said, many are feeling the draw and pull toward the light and toward greater harmony. Consequently, they are beginning to look within themselves and see those things that are not in harmony, are not of love, are not truly of their nature and being which God has created. This is causing distress, unease, fear, and judgment of oneself and of others as the darkness begins to boil out of their being, coming into consciousness and is seen. It is important that each individual sees for themselves their true self, that which they have created and that which may be a beautiful potential of becoming, provided they choose to align themselves with light.

Your world is in great turmoil. Many are concerned, confused, and in need of comfort and understanding. Of course, a great many hide away from these things and continue to resist this unveiling of themselves to themselves. But as the power of God's intervention and blessings upon the planet continue to intensify, so these things will intensify within each individual. As a result, given the nature of humanity, they will begin to act out these disturbances and realizations within them. It is often the nature of individuals to point fingers at others, to blame them for their own failings, discomfort and pain. You will find as you progress in your work that many will want to point their finger at you and blame you for their misfortunes or blame God which is indeed what many tend to do. An important part of your work, beloved souls, is to explain with love and patience what is happening in the world and why, as well as what the solutions are to these dilemmas and conditions.

Yes, many will not hear you. Some will laugh at you and degrade you in their response to you. But I say to you, beloved souls, know that you do God's work, that you will continue to be a light, and no matter what that response may be, know that you have sown the seeds of truth and that at some time in the future, those individuals who are resistant will come to realize the truth that you have shared and come to appreciate what you have given to them as a gift.

As we have said many times, there are challenging times to come. This challenge and the intensity of these conditions will be greater as these next years in your life unfold. We have encouraged you to prepare for this and to awaken to your own condition and improve your condition through prayer and through paying attention to those aspects of yourself in need of reclamation and upliftment. Many of you have done so and continue to do so knowing that you will be gifted with the presence of angels by your side and God's blessings upon you so that this transformation that is needed may be realized and will take place.

You will find yourself in many situations and conditions in your world that will require you to speak the truth, to be an example of truth, to share what you know to be true, and to do so with the strength and honesty and clarity and confidence that will draw many to you. Is this not a vital component of any leader? To be sure of the message that they have to give, to give that message in love and respect of others, to allow the flow of the truth to come unimpeded through you for the benefit of those individuals with whom you speak and share this message?

Be prepared for great change in your life, a shift of priorities, a shift of what you may do in a day as God's guidance will become more intense and will influence your day more powerfully as the need arises for His children of truth to step forward in the world. Every soul in this world will be affected by what is to come. Every day will have a possibility to bring change in powerful ways, in unique ways, in unexpected ways. It is for you to humbly go to God and ask to be used as an instrument for His Will, to be used to enact His plan upon this world, to walk with faith and a clear understanding that the priorities of life at this time are focused upon the healing of your world and the healing of humanity.

For you to do so, you must come into alignment with God more fully, to allow the healing of your own self to be more complete so that you may release all conditions within you that may overshadow the clear truth and light that is meant to come through you as God's instruments and channels of love. You are on a very dynamic and wondrous journey of service and love, of awakening and joy. This comes as you continue to open yourself to God more fully and awaken to what is meant to be for each of you, for each soul walks a unique path. Yet together, you become a formidable force for light in the world. Allow yourselves to walk within that flow of God's Will and Light and Love and all will unfold in harmony, in peace, beauty, and joy.

The world as you see it and know it is not the true world of God's creation but merely a shadow that humanity has placed over your world that insists that it is the real world. Indeed, it is the fabrications of humanity's collective mindset and in this way indicates the power of humanity to influence and change its reality. You must understand this and realize that as you continue to grow and awaken in the Divine Love, so these false perceptions will clear away and the true world will become evident. This will be a powerful step forward for each of you in helping humanity to release its illusions and come to the truth.

These are serious times, times in need of great commitment and desire to be in alignment with change, healing and truth so that you may be a harbinger of light, a beautiful channel for God and to be so in such a clear, powerful and harmonious way that those who doubt you will come to realize that you are an embodiment of truth, an embodiment of God's Will and will come to you with an open heart, mind and soul for you will manifest many things upon this world, beloved souls.

For those of you who are aware and acknowledge and continue to be open to God's Will and the wonderment of your own soul, much will be in your lives, a life that is blessed with both great love and joy and great challenges and opportunities. This is not a life for those who wish to live in a mundane sort of way, complying with the edicts and conditions of the world that humanity has created. Rather, this life is meant for those who wish to contribute and forge a great chain of change, a chain that will lead toward greater truth and understanding and harmony in the world. It is for those who are willing to release their illusions and come to God and be fed the great waters of truth, even truth for the mind.

Much is coming. You are in need of great blessings of Love within your soul. Continue to pray earnestly for this. Whenever you have the opportunity, set aside a moment for God and ask to receive His Love. Even if it is a fleeting desire, as long as it is true, it will be answered. Allow this desire to be a part of your day and to set aside time in prayer and contemplation with each day. In this way, you will continue to prepare yourself and strengthen yourself as the conditions of this world continue to change and bring greater challenges to your material world and life.

May God bless you on this journey, beloved souls. I come because I wish to continue to add to that which I wish to say to the world. I come because I, in these moments, have taken the opportunity and advantage of the condition of this beautiful channel to bring forth more complex messages. I will continue to do so. In this way, there is no need to set aside time as I have indicated in the past but to be open to the opportunity of receiving such messages. With your openness and desire, so these things will come in their good time and in good measure.

May God bless you upon your journeys, beloved souls. I am your brother and friend. I am Jesus, Master of the Celestial Heavens. I continue to be with you all as you are experiencing the great transformation of your world and each individual upon it. God bless you. My love is with you. I am with you. God bless you, beloved souls.

LESSON 3

Healing the Human Condition

God bless you, beloved souls. I come once again to deliver a message of importance for humanity. I wish to discuss the subject of how to neutralize and combat the human condition upon your Earth plane, how you may bring greater light into your own personal lives, and through personal discipline and understanding of the Laws of Attraction, come to insulate yourselves from the overwhelming conditions that come with humanity's influence upon your Earth plane.

The human condition is an amalgam of many forces and expressions of humanity upon this Earth. Whether that be the cumulative results of human thought which are generated a million times over every minute of every day or the actions of humanity which create disharmony in the world plus those emotions generated by each individual which are born out of fear, confusion, anger and all aspects that are a reflection of the mind seeking control and reacting to conditions which countervail the desire for control within the individual.

The many elements come together creating an atmosphere around your Earth plane that continually reinforces thought patterns, behaviours and expressions of each individual. Thus, no soul escapes these conditions or the influence thereof. Whether they are aware or not of these conditions, they are present in your world. It is an unfortunate fact and truth that at this time the predominant influence of spirits on your world is that of darker influences and those influences that are somewhat of light but not pure in their character and condition. This too influences humanity to a great extent. For the vast majority of individuals upon the Earth plane live in great ignorance and a lack of understanding of these forces of spirit influence combined with the forces of material human influence. A powerful current passes through all of humanity continually reinforcing a condition that is not of light but of darkness. Though many may experience through their day glimpses of joy and light, it is because of the great power of their own souls and their desire to bring love into the world which indeed counteracts the predominant darker conditions.

I come to relay a key message and teaching about how one may bring greater light to the world. It starts with the individual and their choice of thought and expression. It requires that they consciously become aware of their mindful and emotional responses to whatever event is taking place with each moment of their lives. Many respond reflexively to these events with thoughts that come forth within their conscious self, motivating them to act in accordance with that thought and desire.

Humanity lives upon the surface of their consciousness, not truly taking into consideration the consequences of their action or thought but merely responding reflexively and habitually to the stimulus that is presented to them. Many of their responses are the result of an ingrained sense of fear and a desire to be a part of the flow of humanity so that they are accepted within the body of their particular culture or set of human thought and perspective which comes with that culture.

As humanity continues to engage with a great many avenues of stimulation and information that comes to them, so this reflective and immediate response of the mind and the body comes forward. The immediacy of these responses often does not reflect a deeper, more spiritual perspective that may come to the individual. Rather, those deeper inclinations are ignored, and their responses are of a superficial nature.

The flow of humanity continues to be reinforced moment by moment by waves of immediate thought, emotion and response governed mostly by superficial impulses, fearful motivations, and ill-informed concepts and ideas which are passed on as powerful impulses and forces through many avenues of communication in your modern world. There is no time for contemplation. There is no time to think deeply about a matter, an issue, an idea that may arise in one's daily life. Rather, with the immediacy of thought, there comes often an accumulation of distorted information which leads too often to distorted thinking within the individual.

As the distortions grow and accumulate, reinforced daily through the interactions of humanity, so the error grows. The distortions become powerful influences upon the individual. Much unfolds in response to these ideas and conditions. This is not to say that every thought and interaction between individuals is of error. But indeed, those deeper things of truth and love, harmony and peace are often trampled by thoughts and reactions which convey judgment, anger and condemnation of the ills of this world. Few have time to go to God. Few have time to truly formulate and acknowledge their own views of the world incorporating their perspectives and understanding of the flow of their life. Rather, life is becoming a moment-by-moment affair reinforced continually by your media, by those sources of information that are so prevalent now.

In my day, when I walked the Earth, no such thing existed. We had much time to contemplate, even to pray. We considered our actions toward one another reflecting our Jewish faith. There were many creeds and ideas indicating how we interacted and the morals which governed our ways, but these things do not hold sway for many in your world these days. This is a great problem and it is indeed a sad state of affairs. It appears that the greatest motivation for humanity at this time is the accumulation of wealth, of material objects and well being, of being safe and insulated from those dangers and possible pitfalls of your world.

Many are motivated by fear and to have control of their lives. Some indeed have insulated themselves well from the intransigence of the human condition. Yet within their being, the human condition indeed persists and is powerful. No matter what the material buffering of these conditions may be, much of humanity is still immersed within this darkness. Though those who are wealthy may insulate themselves with material and mindful distractions, having much in the way of material objects which they admire and with which they feel a great connection, so that they become well-immersed within the distractions of the material world, yet their material wealth does not insulate them from the deleterious effects of a life lived in this superficial way; they are immersed within the human condition. Rather than escape the true conditions, they merely delay the inevitable, which usually comes when that individual passes into the spirit world, and their true inner condition is revealed to themselves and to this new world.

Many people pass over into spirit life ignorant, fearful, and to a degree, in darkness. It is very important that humanity realizes that within the material (Earth) plane of existence, every moment has a powerful effect upon their future (Spirit) existence, an existence that goes on for a very long period of time, far greater than their short time upon this Earth plane. It is important to choose thoughts, actions, and deeds that are in harmony with love, light, joy, and all things of God. If one takes the road toward light, then one will benefit greatly, not only in their material life but in their future life in the spirit world. Considering those conditions which humanity lives within at this time, it is obvious that they must make a concerted effort, a conscious effort to choose the road of light and love.

Without being aware of one's choices, one's responses, one's actions which come with each day, then many become lost within the human condition and are without true guidelines or standards from which to behave and live in harmony and light. Yet, these guidelines are deep within every soul, where an understanding of what is of light and harmony and what is not resides. Unfortunately, because humanity rides upon the surface of consciousness, it is very difficult for many to dive deeper and come to a place of soul awareness.

Yet, it is possible. We in the Celestial Heavens continue to teach the way to do this. By receiving the great gift of Divine Love, so those avenues reflecting the journey toward the soul become more powerful and the route obvious to the individual through prayer and receiving this gift from God. With the vast majority of individuals upon your planet, this Truth and gift to the soul will not be known because humanity insists upon its delusions and way that is of their choosing and their desire. As I have said, these things reflect the human condition and the desire for material gratification. Yet, they must know that their thoughts and actions are contributing to the pollution of your world which is of thought and emotion, light and darkness which proliferate and feed upon themselves as these things are continually reinforced by human behaviour.

My message to all is that your thoughts and your actions are powerful influences upon this world. In order to change this world from darkness to light, one must change one's inner being, mindful considerations, and actions from darkness to light. When one takes this effort seriously and finds their particular avenue in which to enact a desire to bring greater light into themselves and into the world, then the process of purification begins. The change starts to take hold within the consciousness of the individual and a very different view of human life starts to emerge within that consciousness.

The mind may indeed continue a tedious struggle reflecting the inconsiderate ways of the world. This is what many who are striving toward light are engaged within, a mindful struggle that disciplines and motivates the individual. Their thought patterns are changed by the concerted efforts of the individual. Much is accomplished in this way. Through this process there is a slow and considerate effort that takes much time to rectify all of the mindful patterns within the individual. It is slow and tedious but can indeed be effective in replacing old patterns and thoughts that are not of light with those which are of the light.

Many are engaged in this in a great variety of ways. Many avenues and approaches have been taken with those who are teaching and aware of those conditions within each individual which are harmful and not useful in life. I applaud any individual who makes an effort to change their ways, to be in the light, to bring greater harmony to themselves and to their lives. This is much needed. Yet, a more powerful way to transform one's condition is through receiving the great gift of Divine Love which awakens the soul. In awakening the soul, there comes a great flow of wisdom, understanding, and love. All things that are in harmony with God's creation manifest with the accumulated power of the Divine Love within the soul. As this transformative love grows and emerges within the individual, so the mind in time acquiesces to this soulful condition growing within and does not require those concerted mindful efforts to change patterns of thought. Though this may be applied as transformation takes place, it is not an absolute requirement.

Instead, one requires faith, trust, and focus upon the development and unfolding of the soul. This comes with prayerful effort. It comes with contemplation of the changes that are taking place from deep within. It comes with a concerted effort to express one's life in harmony with love and God's Laws of Love. In this way, the transformation, depending upon one's commitment to prayer and to receive these great gifts of Love, can take place relatively swiftly compared to the act of recalibrating the mind and the patterns of thought within the mind. It is often the case that the mind must catch up to the soul and the soul's progress, where one must allow that progress within the soul to merge into the mind, and that this transformation may be accepted, utilized and expressed in harmony with what is truly a part of the individual's journey in life.

I will conclude my talk today urging each individual to seek their own soul, to come to know that soul, to come to know their soul's relationship with God. In this way, they will regain light, bring light, and flush out the darkness that resides within each individual in this world of yours for each has a great challenge and few escape the influence of the human condition. With concerted effort either by training one's mind to think in terms of light and harmony and love or by awakening one's soul which in the response to its awakening, thoughts of light and love vanquish those aspects of fear and anger and judgment that are so much a part of the human condition.

May you come to know the great freedom that comes with an awakened soul. May you come to know the great wisdom that will guide you with a soul awakened and the mind freed from its anxiety and fear. This comes with God's blessings upon the soul. May you come to know this and feel this with great power, love and grace. May God bless you upon that journey. I am your brother and friend, Jesus, and I thank you for listening to my talk today. God bless you. God bless you, beloveds.

LESSON 4

Lesson 2 on the Power of Love to Heal the Human Condition

I am Jesus. I have come once again to elaborate upon the human condition and to further express my perceptions and concerns regarding the conditions of the Earth plane. Though in the past I have spent much time and effort describing this perspective, I wish to add some further details as to the causes and effects of human behaviour in your present modern life. These things seem so very obvious to us who look upon the Earth plane and observe so many of the patterns of humanity upon this plane of yours. There are very common aspects that signify your humanity and your behaviours as children of the Earth.

The corruption and distortion of the individual from birth onwards continues to be a powerful directive toward one's expression of life. The child within the womb is deeply affected by the conditions of the mother and the father and every part of the atmosphere that is of your earthly condition. Yet, the innocence of the newborn and the young child continues to predominate. We also see that that innocence is replaced by the human condition at a younger and younger age as the child absorbs whatever information and stimulus is given to them. This in turn begins the journey of formulating the reality of that child as he or she grows up and becomes an adult.

As I have said, a great many avenues of communication that are available to each individual in the modern world are powerful instruments which influences the child greatly. A child is a sponge that is open to receiving all information that is available to it for this is necessary for the maturation processes of a growing child. Yet, their parents often are somewhat careless as to what that child sees and hears and experiences in their environment. This is not done purposefully or consciously, rather it is the result of a parent being distracted, often consumed with the responsibilities and stressors that are put upon the adult in daily living.

This too serves to reinforce distortions, error, fear, even a lack of love. Yet, the parent has great love for their children and does not wish any harm upon them. With the great currents of dark energies and thoughts and images that constantly bombard each individual upon this world, it is inevitable that these conditions will infiltrate the minds and even the bodies of these innocent children. The power of these currents, this continued evolution of the human condition, perspective, and energies are so great that very, very few escape them.

This is why God sets forth a plan to circumvent these currents of negativity and darkness upon the world. God will ensure that the innocence of the child will be intact and that the compulsions of the parent or adults, whomever they are in the world, may be circumvented through the changing conditions of this world. Humanity has brought too much darkness upon itself and done so because they value so highly the possibilities of the exertion of free will and desire in whatever ways and directions that they so choose. This is not done with wisdom. It is done out of ignorance. It is done out of a desire for pleasure, for power, for control, and at times, for love and recognition.

The creative spirit of humanity is great. It is full of many possibilities and potentials. It is often governed by the imaginations of men who desire to accumulate wealth and to utilize these creative forces within them and that which comes together collectively, producing all manner of inventions and material items which they proclaim to benefit humanity but in truth, often hobble the spiritual journey of the soul. As I have said often, humanity continues to ride upon the surface of consciousness, rarely going beyond that shallow depth of thought and emotion to a place of true experience and openness of the soul.

As this current, this great power of human endeavour and thought, continues to grow and cover the Earth, it creates an influence and reactive condition which brings all of God's creation upon your Earth plane out of harmony with its intended flow and expression. So the intention of humanity is to dominate the world. Over the eons of time, even from the beginning, this has been the great goal and desire, to have control over all, to be the predominant force within the world so that he may dictate how the world may come into compliance with the will of man. Not all of humanity existing in every time have adopted this perspective but indeed, the dominant perspective has been to exercise control.

This condition is now prevalent, powerful, and destructive as the many species of your world succumb to the acts of mankind seeking to consume ever greater portions of the natural elements of the world in order to create objects and items that humanity has an insatiable desire to consume. The great flaw of humanity is that it is difficult for the individual or even a society to see beyond the obvious material manifestations of their actions within the world.

Ironically, humanity has a great capacity to see beyond the superficial view. Within themselves is a great capacity to see the larger picture and to understand with deeper wisdom, a wisdom that emerges from the soul awakened, even from the mind released from its blinkered perspective, so that it may see clearly the destruction that ensues from the obsessive and compulsive behaviours of humanity.

God gave humanity great gifts, great potential, many capacities for creativity. God placed humanity upon this world with the intention that the presence of humanity upon the material world would enhance it and make it more beautiful, creating a stewardship that would lead to greater harmony. That humanity would guide the evolution of this world in ways that reflect their highest nature. Instead, humanity has chosen to follow the pursuits of their baser natures, animalistic instincts, and restrictive ideas and thoughts which come from a mind that is not fully engaged or does not reflect the great potential that is there.

This comes as a result of a soul that is stunted, neglected, and not recognized by the conscious individual. This is not to say that all individuals in your world reflect this condition but rather the majority within your world do so, for they are the victims of the reinforcing cycle that I have described, which creates the human condition. Few can disengage from this, but some do. Often, they become great lights in the world. Yet, as they venture forth to teach others, serving humanity, often they are ignored or even if they receive a measure of recognition in the world, they are given a deaf ear.

So many of the solutions for your world are present at this moment. So much is offered to your world not only from those individuals in your world who have attained a higher capacity of understanding, vision and spiritual light, but also from the many spirits who endeavour each and every moment of each and every day to uplift humanity, to inform humanity in a way that may offer solutions to those vast dilemmas created by human behaviour over the millennia of its existence upon this world.

Unfortunately, many leaders believe that the world evolves in cycles and that they are helpless to contravene these cycles, where there is a consistent rise and fall of various cultures and endeavours. This is a belief that has been garnered by observation of history. Yet it is time now to put aside these old ideas, those somewhat valid but irrelevant perceptions of the course of human evolution. Now is the time to see that many floodgates are open, of knowledge, of truth, of solutions to those problems that are so evident in your world.

Unless a firm and substantial majority of individuals are willing to set aside their old beliefs and their restrictive thoughts, opening themselves to something new, vital and wonderful that God is presenting to your world, humanity is destined to walk a road that does yet again repeat itself into collapse and chaos, into the fall of that which has been built but cannot be sustained.

Yet with all your ability to communicate with one another, an ability that has never before been seen upon your world and connects so many together, there is the possibility of opening the world to truth. Humanity may indeed come to truly see itself for what it has done, and also for what it can do to create light and harmony, so that the great potentials of humanity may be opened and exploited and expressed in such a way that greater harmony and light may indeed be a part of your world. It is possible to realize God's intentions for humanity, for God created such wondrous gifts and potentials and possibilities within each individual waiting to be awakened and expressed in the world.

The time is now to release the error, for God's Plan is meant to be to come to fruition. This requires each individual to look within themselves, to take stock of their own condition, their spiritual lacking, their mindful ignorance and motivations, those things that make them apathetic and allow the dark human condition to manipulate and to form them into the image of another's ambition rather than for them to come to know themselves as the unique and wondrous soul that they are and have been created to be.

All things of light are possible within your Earth plane, for the unique nature of this earthly plane is that through the great power of free will and through the interactions and co-mingling of the many individuals upon this Earth, great creative forces can be unleashed. Great possibilities of knowing the truth and expressing truth can be given and transferred to many individuals.

Even though a dark condition is predominant upon your Earth, there is also a great and sleeping potential to bring reform and light, joy, love, harmony, and peace to your world. We must awaken this sleeping giant which is within humanity to give to each individual an understanding of the choice to awaken, to come to know their true selves. God is blessing this world with each and every breath. Every individual has the possibility of receiving great blessings, great light, healing forces, and the Great Love of God within them, given their desire to receive.

I come, and others come who reside within the Celestial Heavens, to awaken humanity to what can be and what must be upon your world. In the awakening of the world will also come the waves and currents of awakening and light to those dark spheres of spirit. Like the ripples in a pond, so the Earth is that stone that enters the great waters of spiritual light and causes the ripples to spread forth touching many spirits in the spirit world. It begins here on this Earth as it has since the beginning.

Remember, that one individual may cause a great shift in the conditions of humanity. I am an example of this. I continue to work to spread the word and light that all of humanity is loved by God and that God wishes for each of His children to know this and to receive His special gift, the anointing of the soul with His Love. With this great blessing, given to enough individuals upon your world who are willing to live and express this truth, there can and will be a great change, a great effect leading humanity toward greater light.

If the possibility of compassion was awakened within each individual, then how changed your world would be. Rather than each individual holding on tightly to their heart and not releasing their love and compassion for others, selecting only a few rather than all in their great expression of the heart, if this great reluctance to love was overcome and humanity learned to trust one another and to give unreservedly to their brothers and sisters, the world would be the paradise that it is meant to be. All those aspects of the human condition that have brought on war and destruction, degradation, a lack of love, a lack of truth, a lack of peace would be transformed by the mere actions of each individual soul to express love in the world unreservedly and fully.

It is love that will release humanity from its burdens, its pain, its disfunction. It is love that will cement humanity together as a family, recognizing that each is the great creation of God and thus all are God's children. This cannot happen without the proactive efforts of each individual to turn their thoughts away from the great obsession of the material, those great fears that all will be lost and that all that has been gained will disappear from one's life. Yet, the truth is that when one releases their attachment to these objects and ceases to objectify everything within the world, then they will find freedom and great abundance in their lives. Much is dependent upon the individual's choice, for the power of free will is substantial and a great determinant of all that unfolds in an individual's life.

If one chooses consciously the journey toward the light, then indeed all the resources of Heaven and Earth will conspire to assist that individual in their journey. There is much that can be given. As the light continues to grow in your world, so the potentials of humanity will slowly begin to emerge. Just as the twig sprouts a bud which sprouts a flower, so humanity will come to know their own souls which are that bud within them, a bud that requires the blessings and nurturance of God to bring it to life and to bring it to fruition.

May God bless you as you continue to walk upon the great path of life. As you walk, may you discover that you are not alone, that God sends His great spirits and angels to walk with you and that God is always with you. May you come to know the tender heart and the wonders of the soul blooming forth, creating its fruit which may be shared amongst humanity.

You are the blessed children of God. May you come to realize this and express this in every way and means that you are able in this world. In this way, you will help to transform your world into a Garden of Eden, that great utopia that has been dreamed of but never fulfilled. It is the blessings of love, the expression of love, the understanding and true embracing of love that will bring about the great transformation of the world.

God opens the gates of possibilities. He sends His angels forth to help guide humanity to that place of light. May you come to acknowledge and live this truth of love so to be within the great flow of God's Love, so to express God's Love through you into the world. May all those magnificent gifts, those creative impulses, capacities, and abilities of the human individual be expressed in light and harmony. Oh, how wondrous the world would be if humanity could but allow themselves to love and to love themselves, to love their brothers and sisters, a world infused in love where the currency is love, where the motivation is love.

This is our goal, and this is God's plan for the transformation of humanity and this world. It will come in fits and starts, but still, the great impetus is there and shall continue to grow and bring about this great transformation. We will be with you as you witness within yourself what shall be within the world, powerful change, beautiful change and transformation as love governs all and is expressed in all aspects of your being.

God bless you, beloved souls. I am your brother and your friend. I am Jesus of the Celestial Kingdom and I shall continue to speak to you all about matters of love, of truth, of light, of healing, and of peace where joy is and can be a true part of your being. God bless you, beloved souls. My love is with you. God bless you.

LESSON 5

Bringing One to God

Through the Gift's of the Soul

I wish to speak about the desires and longings of the soul and how they are often ignored and unrecognized by the individual. I have talked extensively about the human condition and those energies, thoughts, and things that are contrary to God's Laws and the well-being of the soul as each individual ventures out into the world encumbered by influences, thoughts and inclinations which have their effects upon the individual. The soul is buried under layers of conditions which we call encrustations. This muffles the desire of the soul from its true expression and communion with God, for every soul was created with the capacity to communicate and be in communion with God.

Every soul desires a reconnection with God but when the soul incarnates into the world, often that connection is diminished and eventually lost as the human condition and the various conditions that come with earthly life serve to create barriers between the soul and God. The soul incarnated into the flesh has a great struggle throughout its life to become heard and recognized in a conscious way by each individual.

In your secular world, very few find their way to God. Rather they are consumed by their pursuits and thoughts, desires which reflect materialism and an urge to express their natural love capacities. The natural love in its expression and pursuit is of the mind and the natural inclinations of the mind while the deeper inclinations of the soul are often not recognized. Often the pursuit of God is not deemed as necessary in one's life. Indeed, the necessity of connecting with God and being with God, in harmony, in grace, in love is not a requirement of life, at least within the life that humanity has created for itself. Yet, for life to progress and for the earthly conditions of darkness to dissipate, the enlivening and awakening of the soul becomes a powerful catalyst for the purification of earthly conditions and those conditions within each individual.

Each soul desires to be in harmony with God. It is a longing, a true longing within the soul for the soul's purpose and abilities and gifts come into full alignment when God is present and His Love empowers and awakens those things within the soul. Few truly understand this. As I have said many times, the human condition makes for a great burden upon the subtle and sensitive consciousness of the soul and the soul is often neglected. Just as anything in God's creation that is not exercised in the way that it is meant to be expressed, there is a weakening and a withering of that gift or capacity within the individual.

Even though the desire within the soul continues to burn in some lonely corner or aspect of the soul's consciousness, much of what can be facilitated and encouraged in reaching and bursting out toward God is hobbled by the encrustations of the soul where desire and longing become very faint indeed. It is often a whisper in the background of a very noisy, conscious self, engaged in so many material and mindful things. For the fortunate few, they feel compelled to search, to find a way toward spiritual fulfillment and this is often motivated by a desire and longing of the soul for God.

Those individuals who have found their way need to encourage others to do so, not by imploring and an insistence but by their own example and their gentle encouragement that indeed life is not fulfilled without the soul finding its way into a conscious experience of the individual. In this way, there is a great balance that is achieved, for as the soul longs for God and receives God's response in the inflowing of His Essence of the Divine Love into the soul, so it ignites the many faculties and capacities of the soul. The soul comes into joyful communion with God and that joy is like a warm glow that infuses every part of the individual. It brings a surety, a peace, a knowing that few possess upon your world.

This combination of feeling and perception, and of joy, shines through the individual by the light that is produced by this condition. That light is the greatest teacher of all, for those who come close to you will feel the difference, the condition, the light energy that is emanating through you to that individual and it sparks toward the other soul a glimmer, an insight into its own longing . It ignites a spark of recognition, some sense of understanding and indeed in many a desire to be a part of this condition of love, peace and joy. It provides an open door between yourself and another so that you may communicate this proof as simply and humbly as you are able, that the truth is demonstrated in a direct way which reaches the soul. In turn, the soul responds. For some, that response is like a burning within and that burning indicates a deep longing of the soul.

Some acknowledge in a mindful way that this is the truth and it can become a great motivator toward truth. Yet, in essence, the longing of the soul is the great motivator as one prays for God to touch them and connect with them. If the burning and longing of the soul is incorporated in one's prayer, then that communication to God is direct and powerful. When one's prayer is merely an intellectual expression that reflects dimly the soul's true desire, the results will be somewhat mediocre. Many engaged in this tepid form of prayer do not feel much of a response from God. Rather, they feel they have done what they must do, having acknowledged the opening of the door of truth. Unfortunately they have not gone so far as to step into the experience of this truth. This is a common experience that brings much frustration and lack of awareness of the experience of receiving God's Love within. Indeed, the mind often creates a great barrier to this. Since humanity has pursued the way of the mind for generations upon generations, it does indeed create a great barrier toward understanding, acknowledging, and knowing the experience of the soul.

I urge those who struggle to not give up but to be persistent, to have faith and to seek God in prayer whenever there is a moment to do so. Often when prayers are set forth, there is a glimmer of longing as part of that prayer. In this way, there will always be a response, for this is the Law of Activation working for the benefit of the soul. Few will feel absolutely nothing in their prayers. For those who are in this unfortunate condition of numbness or are so consumed within the mind that nothing that is of the subtle and more refined nature of the soul can penetrate that consciousness, there is always hope. God will always find a way to reach out to those individuals provided they are longing and desirous of that experience.

The experience of knowing God and of feeling God's Touch upon you is unique to the individual. As is so often the case with human nature, there is a desire to compare and to mimic others in their experiences. Yet, this also serves to block the true experience of the soul with God for there is a unique and beautiful flowering of each individual's soul. It is good to share your experiences, to acknowledge them, to say to others, "This is my journey. This is what God has created within me and I, in my gratitude and joy, acknowledge this and wish to share this."

In many cases, revealing these experiences encourages others to acknowledge their own personal journey to God and to ignite a further longing within them. It is important however to affirm that each journey has its own timing, its own expressions, reliant upon the free will of each individual and the efforts that they may make toward the goal of freeing the soul from the tyranny of the mind and awakening the soul to the expansive and infinite relationship that comes with God's Touch upon the soul. In time, every individual discovers their own soul whether that be upon the path of purification through the natural love or that of the Divine Love, bringing to the individual the infinite possibilities of a soul awakened and transformed in this Love. God's Will, His plan, His laws are set in motion affecting every individual created and all the souls that are yet to come into their own individuality and expression in the universe.

Each individual soul longs for its Creator and longs to reconnect with that place in which it existed before incarnating into the world. This journey is a journey toward at-onement with God, a journey which few understand and even fewer truly step upon this path, of at-onement. Indeed, it is that longing within that continues to motivate every soul in some way to find its true communion and at-onement with God as this communion and at-onement is a joy so vast, a wonderment so deep, an expansiveness so profound, a knowing so complete that all other experiences in life and in the spirit world pale in comparison to the true sense of at-onement with God.

As the soul grows in the transformative blessing of the Divine Love and becomes more sensitive and able to comprehend and experience this truth, this true connection with God, those qualities of which I speak, become more and more intense, never to be diminished but always to grow toward greater at-onement with our Beloved Creator, our Heavenly Father. This is what the soul truly longs for. Though this experience may feel far off and out of reach at the beginning of this journey, it is destined to be the case for each and every soul who pursues the path of Love to experience at-onement in time. Though they may not have this true and wondrous experience in their earthly lives, at least they are laying the foundation for such and have begun their journey early on in their lives, creating a great advantage for their spiritual progression as it continues on in the spirit world and eventually into the Celestial Heavens.

Indeed, to lay a foundation here on Earth is a great, great blessing for each individual as it sidesteps many lessons and trials and tribulations that may come in the world of spirit and the material world. It is the longing of the soul, as I have said, which motivates and informs your choices, provided you are willing to listen and are sensitive enough to hear and know it as a true, deep and vital part of you. I urge you to continue to listen. I urge you to continue to feel that burning within your soul, that true desire for God, and if you are willing and able, to put aside your material concerns momentarily in prayer, to truly focus upon those inner places where the soul speaks and many blessings, communications, and guidance come as the soul slowly awakens and comes into its own.

As we observe these things of the emerging human soul from our lofty heights, it gives us great joy. Just as a gardener sees his garden coming to life after a long winter, so we see the spring emerging, the souls coming to life, their beauty beginning to form and be expressed in their unique ways, and so it is with you. As you look back upon your life, do you not see that you have progressed and grown and emerged from the murkiness of ignorance and error to the brightness of truth and love expressed through the wisdom of your own soul?

So much comes in the simple experience of connecting with God. So much more is awaiting each individual soul, allowing the grandeur, the expansiveness, the wonderment, and the joy of a soul filled with God's Love to emerge through the personality of the individual and express itself in all its beauty and gifts, strength, truth, and clarity, all infused with love. Such awakening souls bring forth many blessings upon this world as God's instruments, God's children, God's beautiful souls coming into their own.

Continue to long for God, beloved souls. Continue to seek God. As you tread upon your path of light, may you see God in all that you are, all that is and all that can be, for this is God's creation. May you see deeply, having deep understanding, joy and appreciation of the life gifted to you, laid before you, step by step, in a world created to nurture you on a journey; created to awaken you and to help you to mature spiritually. This vision of the soul will come to each individual.

You will come to see clearly and know fully these things of God. You will not be held back by the human condition. Rather, with each step, you will shed this condition, this cloak. This burden that enwraps the souls upon your world will fall away as you don the new garb, the garb of love that envelops the soul, and so you will be freed. You will come to know a self within you that has been a stranger but will truly be your loving, most wondrous friend which will guide you to God time and time again so that you will know fulfillment. You will not know loneliness. You will not feel isolated, but you will come to see your own self in its complete and wondrous creation and find great comfort, joy and fulfillment in this knowing.

As you come to know your own soul, to befriend your soul, so the great portals of truth, of love, of vision and knowing will open to you in ways that you could never imagine. This experience will be a unique journey for each of you. Until that beautiful gift comes where you and your soulmate come together and experience this wonderment in complete harmony, the journey will be full of many individual experiences, many steps upward toward pure and powerful truth.

Your journey will be accompanied by many bright spirits and angels who seek to assist you and accompany you as you continue to grow and discover your own potential, your soulful self and so, beloved souls, I encourage you forward. I wish that you will know the deep comfort and faith and strength that comes with knowing that this journey has only just begun for each of you and that the promise of this journey is great and full of much joy in its unfoldment.

May God bless you upon your path, beloved souls. May your soul continue to grow in Love. May you continue to awaken, opening your eyes to the Truth of God's creation, the truth of your own soul. In this, the unfolding of the universe will be laid out before you. The ecstasy of true understanding and knowing, this great recognition of the soul, will be yours. Joy beyond joy as the eternal expansion of the soul awakens you over and over again. The depth of this profound awakening will continue to show its way into your soul.

May God bless you, beloved souls. I am your brother and friend, Jesus, Master of the Celestial Heavens. I am your humble servant who comes to teach and bring these truths to you. To encourage you and uplift you, to bring to you all that you require upon this journey for as you know, the angels have travelled the road that you have travelled and have experienced the travails of that road, having deep compassion for your struggles. We continue to uplift and support, to guide and protect, to love and nourish you upon this journey. As God's instruments of light and love and truth, so we are with you always. May God bless you, beloveds, and keep you always in His Light, helping you to know the true longings of your soul. God bless you. My love is with you always.

LESSON 6

Developing Your Gifts Including Spirit Manifestation

May 5, 2021

Beloved souls, I am Jesus. I come to make a commentary on an issue that you have been considering and that is of your efforts with Direct Voice in the world. There are certain individuals and groups within the world who are earnest in these endeavours. Various spirits from the spirit world and some of us, who are at the Celestial Kingdom, are working with these individuals in order to develop this gift. Indeed, these gifts can be a great boon to your efforts to teach humanity of the great gift of Divine Love for when it is done on the highest levels, so those of us in the Celestial Kingdom may materialize in front of a crowd of individuals in broad daylight. This is our goal as I know it is your goal as well.

As we have said many times, the most powerful component of this manifestation is with the Divine Love that rests within your soul for this is the great activator that will bring about these manifestations. Indeed, if you use me as an example, such a thing was accomplished upon the mountaintop where Moses and Elijah manifested beside me and a great light came from that manifestation of the three of us together, I in the flesh and the others in their spirit bodies.

Without the faith that I carried and the power of my own awakened soul in Divine Love, such a thing would not have been possible. In truth, it was a manifestation that was witnessed by many hundreds of spirits. For many of those individuals, it turned the tide of the belief that indeed there was and is truth and power to the Divine Love blessing within the soul which I taught at that time.

Now you come to a time where many do not believe even in the presence of God which was a rare thing with the peoples of my nation and many peoples around the world. That innate knowing that God existed, that God was indeed the Creator of all was a common understanding in my world when I walked and taught upon it. Now, even that has gone by the wayside for many. Indeed, as we have talked of many times, the power of the mind and the rationality of the mind has dominance over many of those more intuitive and inner knowings of the soul.

If and when this gift is manifested through those individuals interested in doing so, it will be a shock to many who witness it. Indeed, the witnessing may also come over the wires rather than merely with the presence of those individuals who are a part of such an event. Then much chatter, talk and speculation will ensue and in this, you will be asked many questions.

For those who are very much of the mindful ways and perspectives, their desire will be to discredit you. But when you come and speak and answer to these individuals and the many others who will clamour at your door and you are honest and clear and direct with your answers, they will not be able to refute you other than in their own minds create a story of disbelief in order to assure themselves that such things are not possible in the world. These individuals will be of the minority and the majority will have a deep curiosity and desire to know from whence these gifts come, for they will not be discredited by technological means because there will be no way in which these things may be produced technologically.

This is an organic manifestation created between the alignment of the soul, the spirit body, and the physical body along with its acceptance within the individual's mind. These things may come about as a result of your diligent efforts in receiving the blessing of God's Love provided you do not lose your faith so to speak in regard to the possibility of manifesting this gift.

There will be those who will wish to pursue this course of development which requires many hours of dedication in one's life. Only a few are willing to dedicate themselves to such a degree. Yet, those who have done so already know that they have made a valuable contribution and still remain in deep commitment for the manifestation of this gift. For those whom you call the group of seven, you have been told that this gift has been implanted within each individual and that it awaits the blossoming of your soul so that this gift may come consistently and powerfully through each individual who has been blessed.

It will go with those who also are willing to make this commitment and open themselves up to the work that we must do on our side of life in order that this manifestation may take place in and as I say, in an organic way for it must be a manifestation that has a material aspect to it yet is also in alignment with the higher aspects and energies that we contribute to it.

I wish to put your minds at rest, beloved souls, that this gift will come in good time, that it requires your prayers, your continued dedications in prayer toward its optimal outcome. We have done everything that can be done with your group in terms of its development, and of course, there are others who wish to carry on in this development through different circles and efforts, combinations of individuals. This we do not discourage but encourage.

As our beautiful leader and guide in these efforts, Seretta Kem has indicated, it does require much time and dedication and time together with your spirit guides who will assist in these efforts. It cannot be done over the wires. I know you have great faith in this way and means of communication and that we have accomplished much in this way. But in this regard, it would be impractical to try to develop a circle that is not together in the flesh for periods of time so as to bring about the development of this gift.

I wish to make myself clear and I speak for all those who are involved from our side of life who desire to assist in the development of this gift, that many may pursue this gift so that the vast majority of souls may at least come to see a manifestation of the true power of Divine Love and its beauty and light in the world. This manifestation may assuage many minds who are skeptical and who have difficulty in their willingness to connect with their own soul. This gift, though it may not manifest in your lifetime, is always available to those who are willing to commit to its outcomes and what is required in order to bring these outcomes forward.

We are willing to work with any individual who is dedicated and well-immersed in the Truth of Divine Love. Those who possess a soul that has been deeply blessed by Divine Love, and that they may have the time and the inclination to gather together as your group has done in the past.

The way in which this must be done, though the timing and numbers may vary greatly, the time must be put forth. The effort must come in what is invariably a deep sacrifice and dedication from those who are willing to step forward in this way. Little can be accomplished otherwise. Although we certainly may lay some groundwork with individuals who are not yet coalesced together into a dedicated group, this is merely the precursor to a more complex and physical gathering of like-minded individuals.

For those of you who feel in their hearts and know within their souls that they are destined to become a part of such a group, I say to you, carefully consider your acceptance of such an invitation, that it will require sacrifice. It will require time. It will require a dedication of thought and prayer. It will require harmony amongst your group and a well-balanced collection of gifted souls who are able to work together in these solitary conditions that require your time and dedication.

Your celestial friends cannot guarantee success for it is a collaboration, as you know, and requires your efforts, your solidarity, your loving support of one another, your desire to bring about this gift, and your patience and faith. Little is accomplished in a spiritual way without such ingredients. Whether it be your own spiritual journey or in the development of your individual gifts, these elements must be a part of it for there is much within the Earth plane that is contrary to these efforts. It requires a deep dedication from all to counteract the dark conditions of your world and to work with God and His angels to open the possibilities and portals of blessings that may come through the many dedications that are required in order to be an instrument of God, a true and clear channel of God's Love.

Prayer and more prayer, beloved souls, is the answer to many of these dilemmas, questions and desires. Putting aside your innate obsession with the material world is a great benefit for those who wish to serve in this way. Being clear about your motivations and your desires is very important. Be true to yourselves. May your desire for any gift, including that of what you call Direct Voice, be heartfelt and of the soul for this is your true self. As the saying goes, to your own self be true.

I say to you, beloved souls, those who have great ambitions in the world, who wish to lead the masses to the Truth of Divine Love, who wish to be a channel and light in the world, who wish to manifest the true soul and the gifts of your soul and all things of light and all things of God that are in harmony with His Will, may you be fully dedicated within yourself in your efforts to reach God and to be with God. May your prayers be heartfelt. Within your mind, may you be focused upon the wonderment, the blessings and glories that God has to give to you. May you live your life as a channel of love. May you uphold and adhere to the truths that you have been taught and that you have received in your personal communications with God, for these gifts if not exercised and this truth if not expressed are as if pearls have been wasted, wasted efforts. For when you are given the gifts of truth and you have been ministered to by angels and God's Hand rests upon you, so it is your responsibility to uphold the truth in the ways that your soul knows is in harmony with God's laws.

We do not expect perfection, beloved souls. We do not condemn you when you fall and falter but we expect that you will make an effort to pick yourselves up, to make an attempt to correct these errors so to change the errors of your ways. That you may consult your own soul and in so doing, your relationship with God and ask that you may be strengthened in Love, that you may know the wisdom of God's Love, that you may walk in the wisdom of God's Love and express the Truth of God's Love with every breath.

This expression may not be pure and perfect, for it is a great journey for this to be the case and few have reached the pinnacle of that journey but indeed each day is a challenge. Each day you must consider that this is a gift from God and a test from God to see if you are indeed in the light, that you are indeed worthy to lead others into the light. You know within yourself whether this is a truth, that you are indeed worthy, that you have made yourselves worthy by your efforts.

It is not that God sees you as unworthy for God never judges His beautiful children in this way but it is in your personal efforts, your personal thoughts, your personal prayers, and all those things within your life that make up your life that determine whether you are in the light or not. You may be able to fool others. You may think that you are resurrected, transformed, and perfect, but this, my beloved and beautiful children, is but folly. You are imperfect but, in this imperfection, you are deeply loved and you will follow the road that you choose, beloved souls. You may also follow a road by which you have chosen to listen to the guidance of God.

The choice is yours. But to follow the higher road, the road of God's guidance, direction, and the support of your angel friends upon that road will get you to your destination more quickly. The road of the mind and the ego as you call it is a meandering road, a road that sometimes backtracks upon itself, a road that often is drawn to error and to the manifestation of a mind that wishes to control and have power over all things. This road is the road that humanity follows almost exclusively.

There are beautiful lights in the world who understand this difference but there are very few, beloved souls, very few in comparison to the millions upon millions who continue to walk a road that is governed by the mind and the reflexes and responses of the five senses and the linear thinking of the individual's journey of experience.

It is time to awaken others to a new way, a new road to follow. This, as you well know, we have encouraged you to follow exclusively within your lives, those of you who are truly dedicated to the truth.

Indeed, many of you have one foot upon this road and one foot upon this other mindful road. You continue to walk in this stilted way, and we continue to encourage you forward.

In time, you will elect to follow the Divine Path to your ultimate destination and destiny. We who are with you patiently guide and encourage and uplift and pray and continue to carry you until that fateful time when there is no need for the crutch that is our intense assistance to uphold you. When that time comes, it will become more of a collaboration than nursing of your journey.

My beloved and beautiful brothers and sisters, continue to pray to be used as a channel of God's Love in the world. Continue with each day to open your eyes just a little more and to awaken just a little bit to the truth of your own soul and the possibilities of your own soul. Be true to yourselves, beloveds. In this, you will find your way to serve humanity through gifts and manifestations which are blessings through you from God.

Remember that these things that come and these things that you do in the name of truth are of God. They are not of your power, but merely your meagre contribution comes in the great and vast contribution of God's Touch, His angels, and bright spirits who work through you. But indeed, your contribution is important and necessary for those things to manifest upon the earthly plane. We come and be with you, to pray with you, to assist you and uplift you so that this may be fulfilled, so that you may truly be an actor in the great plans and outpourings of God's intentions for your world.

May God bless you in your efforts, beloved souls, and know that I do not say these things to diminish your enthusiasm or your attempts to walk in the world of God's Love and Truth upon His Path Divine, rather, to inform you and enlighten you on what is required and what comes as you make that commitment to open that door to serve God. That door is the avenue to vast resources, vast light, powerful love and grace and blessings that may flow through you to others. It comes on the heels of humility, prayer, and understanding how truly vast God's universe is. It comes because you have come to love yourself, to be humble, and in the grace of God always. In this way, many things, many blessings will come to you, through you, and all about you.

God bless you. I am your brother, your friend, Jesus. My love is with you. God bless you, beloved souls.

LESSON 7

Embracing Your Struggles

Beloved souls, I come once again to deliver a message to the world. Today I wish to talk about the personal struggles that many have in coming to understand and enact the desires of the soul contrasting with what are often the desires of the mind.

When one begins a spiritual journey, a journey to know the truth, to understand their own inner selves, there are often many barriers in the way of this journey. It is like having a scale within each one of you, a balance beam. On one side there are many factors and aspects of the human condition living within the individual. These things may be rife with a sense of guilt, shame, apathy, anger, resentment, judgment, all of those many things that are of this human condition. On the other side of this balance beam is a true desire of the soul to seek God, to be fulfilled in its purpose and being which God has placed within that soul.

Because of the desire and power to influence contained within the soul and within the mind, there is a yearning and a sense that all is not in balance or correct, that a sense of awakening, of change, of coming to a place of harmony is present. With most individuals in your world, there is inharmony. Depending upon the personality and the life experiences of that individual and the conditions that they have inherited from their forefathers, the depth of inharmony may be great or may be less so.

Yet, the individual chooses to incarnate into the world at this particular time in order to continue the flow of progress of the soul which comes with the dawning of personality and identity as one incarnates into the material world. As I have said several times, the conditions which the newborn babe may inherit, not only as it comes into the flesh but also as it first incarnates into the fetus, a great many conditions and encrustations immediately take effect upon the soul. The newborn's journey is fraught with many perils, situations and conditions which have been put upon it from the beginning. While one may live in a family that is loving and caring and provides the physical necessities of the child, there will be the overlapping of conditions which have been brought upon this particular family through the inherent conditions of ancestors from the past plus the cultural conditions which are a part of one's life in a particular country. Many biases are taught by the parents and absorbed by the child as they grow up within certain cultural norms and expectations. Thus, the burden that the individual carries when they are mature and set forth to live their own lives is great.

The mind is filled with many ideas, and there is much within the individual that is contrary to joy and happiness. There are some who, for the most part, escape these conditions, who have a personality, an inclination toward joy and light-heartedness but these individuals are few and far between. Almost from the beginning, the child is given a series of expectations and a great many burdens which influence the perceptions and desires of the child. Upon adulthood, these things which are deeply embedded within have a great influence upon the direction and choices of that individual moving forward in their lives. Within each soul, there is a desire to be free from those inharmonious conditions, conditions which are not a part of God's Laws of Creation, God's expectations and opportunities that He has placed before each and every one of His beloved children. Yet, the soul persists. The soul, if inclined to pray to God, will find some answer, an expression of God's Touch of Love upon them and guidance forward so they may have the opportunity to grow spiritually.

It is up to the individual to listen to these promptings both from within and from God. Indeed, some do, and some will find themselves upon a journey of discovery toward light and harmony. That journey may take many different permutations and expressions as the mind sorts through the various experiences that are sought out to affirm their spiritual quest. Their path may meander through the maze of the variety of spiritual opportunities and teachings that exist in your world.

As you well know, the vast majority of these teachings are that which lead to the perfection of the natural man and the way of the natural love path. There is only one way that leads to the fulfillment of the truth of the way of Divine Love, but there are times when the individual may stumble across the experience of knowing God in this way and receiving the blessing of His Love. God opens many doors of opportunity for the individual to seek light and to be in the light. When the aspects of soul longing and desire along with an openness of the mind come together in alignment, then there is the possibility of this experience to take place.

What the individual makes of this experience, how their minds and those things within the mind which have been conditioned in a certain way with certain beliefs integrate this experience is of a very random nature. Few will come to a clear and pristine understanding of the dynamics of Divine Love because very few in the world know of this truth in the way that you know. If the soul is deeply touched by this experience of Love and continues to pray to God and long for this experience to return, indeed, it will come time and time again.

There are some who pass into spirit after a long life who are surprised to realize how this longing has made within them a bright light which is to their great advantage in the spirit world. The mind does not necessarily need to know the words and understanding as you do, beloved souls, though the soul must have the opportunity to open to the gift of God's Love flowing within it. The vast majority of individuals who are receiving Divine Love do not know this clarity and understanding within their minds but are yearning for this gift and receiving the benefits and blessings which come with their prayers.

Yet, how much easier it would be upon these individuals if they were to know with clarity and adopt with faith the simple knowledge of how one receives the great gift of Divine Love and to understand the process, the steps which the soul must inevitably take in order to grow in Divine Love. To express the Love within their souls in the world with a clear understanding of its benefits and God's desire that each individual may become a bright light, a channel of love for Him.

Many souls struggle with darkness. Even those souls who have found God's Love, in whatever way it may come to them, often struggle with dark conditions within them. The mind is a repository of many patterns and ideas which have been embedded within that mind at an early age and continue to exercise its influence upon the individual. As I have said, these things may encompass dark thoughts and feelings which are not conducive to spiritual growth and soul awakening. Rather, they are the things which muffle and hide the soul from one's self in a conscious way.

The struggle comes when a person endeavours to uncover their own soul and to truly know their own soul; a soul that has been hidden away by layers of thought and conditions which are contrary and difficult so that the soul may not emerge and may not be heard or known. Yet, with faith, with a true desire for God, God in many instances will assist the individual in pushing aside these barriers and coming to a place of grace, upliftment, of feeling and knowing this Love in all its unique and wondrous qualities flowing toward and into the individual.

This is accomplished by His blessings through the Holy Spirit as well as the assistance of the Celestial angels who help clear away the clouds of doubt and darkness, of fear and unloving ways which are so common in your world. When these things come into alignment, the earnest prayer from the soul given through the openness of the mind, allowing the forces of God, the Laws of God to be enacted thereby producing a conscious and very real experience to the individual, then their faith and understanding of these things grow. If they are allowed to be repeated multiple times, indeed the securing of this knowledge, the building of great faith and the knowing of the soul is great and sure.

In this way, one becomes secured upon the Divine Path, that path which will ultimately lead to at-onement with God. Along the way there are trials and tribulations, tests and divergent conditions which make the journey a difficult one but if one continues as the soul persists and the individual accepts their fate, which is to come to know God and to truly come to know themselves, then their path is secured in this truth. Individuals are strengthened by the Love that is pouring within their soul, giving them the strength to overcome these multiple barriers which are invariably within every individual.

Free will has a great bearing upon how quickly this journey goes toward the purification of the soul, for the encrustations around the soul must be lifted. This is done often in a gradual way. At times, in ways that are not known or felt but at other times, great waves of grief and longing and disturbance come to the individual. This great distress often brings a deep concern for its source. In the beginning, many are confused by this intense experience and the outcomes of a soul engaged in its purification process brought on by the Divine Love.

As is the case with most in your world, there is a spiritual immaturity within the individual and a sense that all will be sunshine and roses, as you say, that there will be no struggle as one takes this journey toward a utopian ideal which is often within the mind and easily obtained because possessing the Divine Love will ensure that all be smooth, that there will be no rocky roads ahead but rather a clear and swift passage which will in time lead to the individual's incorporation into the Divine Heavens, the Celestial Heavens.

It comes as a shock to many when their first conscious episode of soul purification, the release of encrustations which are essentially memories and feelings around the soul, are felt and experienced directly. For some, there comes disillusionment because their ideals have not been met. Certain expectations of the mind which often perceives things in black and white other than the truth that all things are the result of shades of grey and shades of light are not realized so readily.

Progression is the transition from the greyiness to the light, but how is that transition accomplished? For those who walk upon the natural love path, this is accomplished by a great deal of effort expressed through the mind recalibrating thoughts and essentially re-learning ideas that are more in alignment with spiritual life and spiritual purity.

It is a very long and arduous path but one which is taken by most in your world who are serious about their spiritual awakening because it is more satisfying to the mind than to capitulate to the soul and allow the soul to lead the individual toward spiritual awakening.

The soul is a great mystery to the mind. It is such a different place, a different aspect of awareness than that of the mind which has been taught and developed in its linear thinking, intellectual processes, structured concepts, and paradigms that are built through the education and experience of the individual. Much energy and thought have gone into these paradigms and they are valued. They become a great anchor of reality for the individual. When that position is challenged by something so radically new and unexperienced as that of the soul coming to the fore and indicating to the individual a different form of consciousness, then conflict ensues as a result.

Doubt begins to grow within the garden of the mind seeking to discredit what it truly perceives as a powerful aspect of its own consciousness which has been long ignored. The struggle often begins with the mind refusing to believe and acknowledge the experiences of the soul. These experiences are often accredited to the imagination, that the mind is indeed fabricating these illusions and that if one is to pursue this course, there is a deep fear that the mind will be lost in the illusions of such fantasies.

As the soul persists and the individual continues in prayer, coming to a place of equity between the mind and the soul, a compromise, if you will, between the consciousness of the soul and the consciousness of the mind, then the resulting stability and anchoring serve to open the door to the soul's purification, the settling of the mind and the further balancing of these two aspects of the individual's consciousness.

It may be a long and arduous journey but for some who are gifted and sensitive, it may not be so difficult. If the individual is strongly intuitive and has an open mind, then understanding the soul becomes an easier prospect for it is with intuition that one comes to see the functioning of the soul. The soul does not derive truth or experience through the gradual building of the mind's experience, thought and education. Rather, these things come in a flow, a wave of completeness and beauty.

There is a knowing of the soul that may come to each individual. That experience of knowing comes with a sense of expansion, of truly understanding. This experience overflows into the mind and becomes a conscious thing provided that the soul is anchored within the consciousness of the individual and there is a ready acceptance of these experiences. In acceptance comes the capacity for the mind to integrate those experiences which have emerged from the soul and is essentially a gift from God to the soul.

As the soul grows in the Divine Love, so these faculties of perception and abilities to know the truth, to experience truth in ways which are unique for each individual, then the process of true soul-awakening begins. For the mind is then a ready participant and eager partner in this process. But this does not guarantee an easy passage, for the soul must also release its burdens. In doing so, it is hoped that the mind will comply with this release and also take up the new perceptions and perspectives which may come with this release and apply them to one's conscious and material life.

This too can be a great struggle, for often those things of the soul challenge the old patterns of the mind. The mind must come to grips with its error and those patterns which are not in harmony with this growing light and love that is blossoming within the individual. These struggles contribute to the continued and ongoing purification and cleansing of the individual. There is still much effort needed by those who are serious about receiving Divine Love and living this Love.

I have heard it said that many have the ambition to transition from the material world directly to the Celestial Heavens. This is an admirable ambition but one that is naively taken and is often a way by which one may mask their true condition. For instead of humbly coming to their souls and asking God to cleanse and to purify their soul through Divine Love and to accept this process of purification whole-heartedly, the mind often wishes to take precedence and to work its own ways of making right that which is within them, thereby circumventing the processes of the soul which will bring about needed purifications and healings.

It is very unlikely that an individual will come to that place of such purity and alignment with God that they may transition directly into the Celestial Heavens. It is not impossible but indeed it would take a great deal of effort, a great deal indeed to overcome the multiple barriers, the inherited conditions and those many conditions which have been laid upon the individual that are not in harmony with love and in need of releasing to come forth as a clear channel between your soul and God to receive copious amounts of Divine Love.

Since there are billions of individuals upon your planet, the possibility that one or two or three may indeed accomplish this in a lifetime upon your world is somewhat feasible but I would not hold up your hopes and I would not waste time with such ambitions. Rather, take each day at a time seeking to receive the blessings of God's Love within your soul, seeking to allow the purification of your soul to be as it will in the inevitable process of soul awakening and re-alignment, as well as mindful dedications to a way of thinking and doing which is more in harmony with love.

In accordance with the conditions of your world, one day may be more challenging than the next for each day is different and each day presents its own challenges, its own tests, and its own opportunities for reconciliation, healing and expression in light. It is indeed a building process, the building of the soul, redoing and remaking the soul from the image of God to the substance. It is a tremendous undertaking. It is also one that requires diligence, persistence, consistency, and dedication, but the rewards are great, beloved souls, as I have said many times. The rewards are great.

It is time for this world to accept that the starvation of the soul is an issue and a challenge that must be focused upon. It will come and these changes are inevitable. This knowledge must come to every individual. This truth must be at least acknowledged by every individual whether they choose to follow this way or not. At the very least, they must come to know that there is an opportunity provided to them from God and that God's Love may clear away all the barriers, the darkness, the struggles, and the pain that the individual carries in their present-day life.

I beseech you, beloved souls, to embrace your struggles, to see your struggles as the road to redemption as well as the necessity to release those things that are not in harmony with love. They come in waves. They come in spurts and starts. They come as the result of certain events in your life and opportunities that God has placed before you. They come because it is necessary to confront the darkness within each individual. It is necessary to release that darkness with all humility and faith to God and say, "Dear God, cleanse this from me and in its place put your Love".

In this way, you will have stepped forth in great leaps and bounds and prepare yourselves for further awakening, for the development of further gifts to emerge and further joy to be a part of your heart. Indeed, the mind must learn to accept that it is subservient to the soul. Without this subservience, a true and pure channel towards God's Love and Will cannot be forged. Each of you who are serious about this journey also harbours the desire to be a clear and beautiful channel of love for God, to assist your brothers and sisters in the work for the redemption, the saving, and salvation of your world. You must be brave and strong, clear and accepting that not every day will be a day of joy and enlightenment. Some days may carry with it the awareness of the burden of darkness that is within you. In that awareness, may you come and pray and ask God for healing through the inflowing of His Love to that place that has been entered containing darkness and pain. And so this process goes forward, releasing encrustations and absorbing the healing balm of God's Love.

It was not meant to be this way. In the beginning, your first parents were given the opportunity to continue with their awakening and their spiritual progression through receiving this great gift of Divine Love but unfortunately, they did not accept this proposal from God. Rather, they went their own way and ever since that day, the struggle has ensued, the darkness has proliferated, and the conditions of humanity have been difficult. The labours have been long, the struggles intense, yet through all of this, humanity persists. Through all of this, the desire of the soul persists and wishes for you to acknowledge its inner truth and desire to be with God.

Many of you will indeed be with God abiding within this Truth. Some of you will turn away in frustration for you do not wish to look deeper. Many will gaze upon you and wonder how you may be of this light, how you may have come to that place of greater peace, of joy, of love. In this way, you will be God's instruments, though often imperfect. Yet indeed you will serve a purpose. You will come to be God's instruments in the world.

In time, it is our desire and often yours to be that pure channel of love. We work diligently to assist you upon the journey of awakening, purification, and the realignment of both your mind and soul with the Truth of God's Love. We will continue to do so, always persisting and always with you. Indeed, our desire is to help humanity and whatever soul may come to desire this may receive the benefits, the upliftment, the blessings that God wishes to give in great abundance. In unerring ways, in unconditional love, so He gives to His children always so that you may benefit from His gifts and His blessings.

May God bless you upon that journey, beloved souls. I am with you upon that journey as are many who reside within the Celestial Kingdom. We will journey forth together, brothers and sisters all, beloved by God and indeed part of this great family of love. God bless you, beloveds, and thank you for listening to what I have to say today concerning your great struggles of the soul. I have deep compassion for you all. It is not an easy life but indeed there are flecks of light everywhere within your life that will bring to you joy, peace and love. This will grow and persist in your life provided you are willing to pursue the Truth and Path of Divine Love. God bless you, beloveds. God bless you.

LESSON 8

Life on Other Planets Can Assist Us on Earth

I have come to recite another lesson and teaching for the edification and interest of those who wish to read these lessons about spiritual truth. I am Jesus. I am with you today to speak about these things.

Today I wish to speak about life on other planets in the universe which is vast, seemingly infinite and all that is within God's creation. We have spoken extensively of what constitutes your world and our world and its many layers and spheres of existence. These spheres are very diverse containing many different cultures, perspectives and expressions of the individuated soul. This in itself is a universe that is primarily of man's creation utilizing the Laws of God to create and exist within its own reality. As these layers of existence are more refined and have greater light, then a more direct alignment with the Laws of God is possible and understanding of truth through the expression of the soul which is primarily reflected within the higher reaches of the spirit world.

As we have taught, beyond the spheres of the spirit world reside the Celestial Heavens, which is a world that is so refined and in such alignment with God that it does not bear much of a resemblance to that of the spirit world. It is its own unique existence but still within the great expression of this earthly existence, this planet from which we have all sprung forth and have continued upon our trajectories toward light and truth.

This template or pattern is repeated throughout the universe, for God's Laws are intended to be consistent and reflect His great creation no matter where one may exist within the universe. Those individuals who possess a soul reflect a similarity in appearance and form when incarnating into what you might call human form.

There are of course variations and adaptations which are a part of the particular conditions and essence of the planet in which they may exist. These forms vary in as much as some are of short stature, others very tall. Facial features may reflect physical requirements in their existence upon the atmosphere and condition of that planet as well as other minor differences.

Yet, within them is a soul and that soul is a reflection of God, not in substance but in its mirroring of God's Soul with the potential to express attributes of God within it. As such, the path that must be travelled in order to do so does not vary from that which you yourselves continue to travel and refine your own spiritual self and nature which brings greater harmony and alignment with God's creation.

Thus, the desires of a soul wherever it may exist in the universe has within it certain attributes and affinities that reflect the overall design of God's creation for the existence and progress of the soul. Though as I say, there may be some differences in appearance, they are minor and are not shocking as some of your science fiction writers may reflect in their imaginings of certain species and places within the universe.

The universe does teem with much life, some of which cannot be readily observed or detected by the material senses but are indeed present in many places in God's creation. The evolution of humanity reflects a pattern that is often present in many other places and planets. Though, the direction of that evolution or that progressive expression and refinement of the individual soul may not be so convoluted, complex and erratic as that of those who exist upon this Earth plane of yours.

Instead, many of these individuals and cultures have developed swiftly and have chosen an easier way toward the light rather than expressing their free will, which they too possess, in a way that has created much disharmony and difficulty for the progress of God's children in the universe. These great struggles that you are engaged in your world are not present in many other worlds.

The length of time in which these worlds have existed varies greatly. Some are very new and, like tender shoots, are nurtured by

God and are not very far upon their path of development; while others are ancient and have continued to progress often to the point where their physicality, what you call vibrational existence, is not detectable by the five senses or material instruments that may indicate their existence. They are far beyond this lower level or vibration that exists in your reality. Thus, in order for humanity to perceive their existence, there must be a great leap forward in spiritual senses and perceptions in order to comprehend their existence.

Amongst those cultures which reside upon other planets, there is often a great deal of communication between them planet to planet. They exist not so far from your Earth that these worlds would seemingly be beyond any capacity to connect or communicate with you. Many of these planets trade amongst each other as they have a free flow of communication, and an in-depth understanding of one another for they have recognized that they are truly a part of the vast expression of God's children in the universe. As such, there is great respect and love that is expressed between them, and as in all of God's children, a deep curiosity of one another.

In time, your Earth plane will join with others in this great family of individuated souls living upon the material plane which you see as the universe of God reflected in the night sky. There are many from my side of life who are working toward forging this connection with others who exist in various places. As of recent discussion, there are those who have come in material form and transport to observe the earthly plane for as I have said and many of you well know, this Earth is in great flux and is on the verge of great change. It brings those who are curious and who wish to assist this Earth in its great leap forward toward a higher level of consciousness, a higher level of expression and a greater understanding of the workings of the universe. Though humanity has taken great strides in technological advances and abilities to see beyond the atmosphere of the Earth, it is still not mature enough to take those leaps forward which are destined to be taken when the time is right and humanity has matured in its thinking and motivations.

As I have said often, it is love that will open the doorways, even to this form of communication with what you call extraterrestrials. All are poised for this communication to take place, for humanity is poised upon the threshold, the doorway to great change. Because of great fear and misunderstanding within the vast majority of the people on Earth, there is a deep reluctance to step forward. Those brothers and sisters from planets and even galaxies far beyond this one who have come to assist are often seen or imagined as enemies and those who wish to do harm to humanity. This is a reflection of the inner psyche of humanity which is built upon fear and a deep reticence to be open and to accept that which is not known or understood. Yet, all of these beautiful souls who are present within God's great universe are as you are, creatures and children of God. Once humanity comes to see this as a truth, then indeed, the great floodgates of connection, realization, and understanding will open to your world.

Indeed, it is fear that continues to proliferate in your world. The baser desires of humanity are reflected in almost all that is within the endeavours and industry of the human world. Yet many truths have been discovered and to some degree, are known upon your world but are not acted upon unilaterally. Much is hidden away or ignored, often because a particular truth is not well-understood because those who are in charge of the economic aspects of your world are often reluctant to change the ways in which commerce is expressed and to shift focus upon other less invasive technologies and ways in which greater harmony can ensue. The motivations of those of you who are part of the material world are rife with fear, greed, misunderstanding, error, and a lack of love. Within your world are great opportunities to turn the tide of these dark conditions and seek greater harmony and opportunity for the betterment of humanity. These dark and light conditions which exist in your world are a rather unique characteristic that is not common in other worlds.

Thus, many come to observe and to analyze why a planet with such rich abundance and beauty is so easily desecrated and unloved by humanity which exist upon it. Like all of the other brothers and sisters in existence in the universe, humanity has been endowed with great intellectual capacities, perception, wisdom, and love but these things are not predominant within your world. This baffles those who admittedly are quite advanced and spiritually attuned for it is a conundrum to see such potentials and abilities wasted upon a great focus of acquiring material possessions and re-enforcing those aspects of life that bring independence and a sense of individuality that is not necessarily an expression of love, generosity, and assistance to one's brothers and sisters.

Those who observe our world, many of which we in the Celestial Kingdom have made efforts to communicate with and to collaborate with, wish to ensure the betterment of your world and are poised to step forward and make themselves known to humanity. Unfortunately, the conditions at this time are not favourable for such an effort. As the world continues to change, however, and as God continues to pour His Love and transformative blessings upon your world, there will come a time soon when these efforts will be realized and the assistance from your brothers and sisters from other places will come forward.

This will be a time of great change, upheaval, such great waves of shifting understanding and perceptions of life that there will be for many the disillusion of their old paradigms and perceptions. They will not feel as if they are walking on solid ground and will be greatly confused and distressed. With this great shift of perception and experience in life, there will come many opportunities for the higher forces and that which is in alignment with God to bring about interventions, to teach, to awaken those who have been sleeping so that the dark night of human existence will now come to light and the possibilities of light and truth, of wakefulness, and of love will take its place as humanity awakens.

So much is waiting and is poised to happen in very short order. Thus, we make great efforts at this time to communicate, to be with you, to pray with you, to influence and educate you so that there will be those prepared for the great changes that are coming. Understanding that you are not alone in the universe will be one of many great revelations that will come in these times of awakening. The greatest of which will be the possibility for every soul to come to know itself and to know its true destiny, its true purpose in life. With this understanding truly becoming a part of the consciousness of humanity, there will be great strides in many ways, along many avenues of human endeavour.

In this, many things will change as perspectives and priorities shift toward light, love, equanimity amongst humanity, and deep respect for all. The great disparity that now exists in your world will be removed. The many who are shackled to their fears and error and pain will find these chains dissolved by love, by the revelations that will come, by the dynamic forces that will be predominant within your world. There will be no possibility of hiding away from these things as it will become plainly evident. The awakening of humanity will not and cannot be resisted though many will try. Many will look in disbelief. Many will be fervent with their efforts to disregard this new reality. The only way in which this may be done successfully will be if that individual's soul leaves their body and transitions into a plane that is more in alignment with their thinking and being. There will be those who will transition because they cannot live on a plane that is of such light and building harmony. They will not accept the changes that are coming, and they will not see beyond their willfulness and desire for the old comforts, the old perceptions and understanding of the world.

It will be a time of great choice. Indeed, these choices will be extreme in nature. Many will feel weak and unwilling to step forward for they are the ones who are governed by fear and are not willing to release that fear. But those who are attuned to their own souls, whether that be in an instant or has been cultivated for many years, will come to understand the wisdom of the soul, that which is meant to be and is ordained by God. These dear souls will readily step forward and come to adopt their new perceptions and understanding of what is truly meant to be a life on this Earth, the sort of life that is reflected on many other planets in your universe.

A rising up from darkness is the next necessary step in the evolution of your world. It is coming soon and, in many ways, it is upon us now. Indeed, there will be material manifestations and expressions upon your world that will indicate the great shift that is unfolding and continues to manifest in the coming years. These manifestations will grow in intensity. With this will come deep inspiration to many souls upon your world. There will come revelations of understanding and knowing that will comfort the hearts of those who are receptive, helping them to move forward within this great momentum of change.

God's plan will manifest, and all will come into alignment with this plan. Many, many souls will be saved from darkness. Many souls will come to realize their own true and wonderful souls in all their glory and beauty. They will come to see that they are truly loved and know what life is truly meant to be. They will come to express all the lovely, wondrous potentials of their soul in this world. Because the world will be changed, it will be uplifted, re-enforcing a great multiplication of energies and blessings of light so that humanity will be nurtured in an ever-accelerating journey forward into the light.

God's great mercy for this planet is manifesting and is orchestrating the tremendous healing that must come, empowering the great forces that will bring change and shifts of consciousness and shifts of expressions even in material ways to this planet. In this way, many things will change as many aspects and even geographical expressions upon this world will change. Your climate will be different and the ways in which you will live, those patterns of life, will reflect these changes. The upliftment in understanding and knowledge of humanity will demand great change in how you live together and how you live with the natural world.

Those concerns for an ever-degrading climate and natural world which your scientists see in plain evidence will be allayed by the healing force that will change the environment and make it more conducive for life. Humanity will no longer be able to take life for granted nor will the rudimentary perceptions of the material world be sustained. As each soul comes into acceptance of these changes and is in alignment with them, they will see the world very differently indeed and will not be able to utilize the world's resources in a way that they are objectified and unseen as vital forces that are of God's creation.

Yes, much will change, beloved souls, and with that change and great adjustment that must come with change, those other brothers and sisters who reside upon different planets will come to assist you and bring to you great knowledge which will help to bring an easier transition and help awaken a more harmonious way in which humanity may live together and share with one another all that is required in life to help sustain life, to help bring ease of life to this material world.

Yes, much is coming, my beloved souls. I say these things so that you may have hope, not fear, that you may see with the eyes of your soul that what is coming is a great blessing from God. In these blessings, many wondrous things will take place within your life and beautiful awakenings that will help you to see more clearly life's true meaning and life's true gifts. You will see that God has brought to you many things and God's great creations are wondrous to behold, such a great treasure trove that may be explored and known to the individual soul.

Know that you are loved by God and that God continues to nurture your world and everything upon it. God has a plan for greater life upon this world so that truly it will be in alignment with all other worlds in light, in truth, in vitality and love. This is coming, beloved souls. I continue to speak of these things so to prepare you for your life ahead, the life that is coming upon your material plane, and the life that will inevitably come to each one of you upon the spirit planes. May you step into light always and be in harmony with God's Laws so that your souls may awaken in His Love and all may unfold in such grace and peace and joy that whatever may come, whether that be in the material or the spirit world will be welcome and understood and known from those deep recesses of your soul. May the faculties of your soul awaken in order to bring to you that deep consciousness that knows of God and knows of God's great Love for all creation.

These things come to you day by day, continuing to open and expand and be a part of daily life.

May God bless you upon that journey and may you come to know the expansiveness of God's intentions and Love for each of you as it manifests in this world and all worlds. God bless you. I am your brother and friend Jesus and I love you all dearly, will be by your side always. Protection comes to those who are open to God and all that God is. God bless you, beloved souls. God bless you.

LESSON 9

The False Doctrine of Reincarnation

May 20, 2021

I come once again to deliver a message for this instrument is in a good condition to bring such a message forth. The subject of this message is the issue of reincarnation, one which is what you call a hot topic in your spiritual circles and in the many and diverse spiritual understandings of your day.

As you well know, we do not subscribe to this belief that for the individual to progress spiritually they must return to Earth time and time again in order to accomplish deep spiritual growth and light. It maintains that this Earth plane is the great university of the soul and it requires numerous incarnations in order for what is called nirvana to be accomplished. So many believe that the events of their life have been brought about by what is called karma which requires certain lessons to be learned in life.

In some ways, this restricts the individual's experiences in life and brings great bias to their understanding of these experiences and the integration of the lessons that are learned in the material life. Many rationalizations and ideas as to the meaning of life are born from this one doctrine. It does indeed direct the thinking of the individual in such a way that it limits this understanding and rationalizes many unfortunate events in one's life that apparently have been brought about by previous expressions within another body at another time.

This creates a somewhat simplistic view of one's life events. When some analysis of these views takes place, there are deep flaws to be seen within it. One may take, for example, the plight of those who are desperately poor and those who are extremely rich. With the logic of karma, would it not seem that the desperately poor are punished for previous infractions and dark expressions within their past lives while those who are extremely rich benefit from a life that has been well-lived before this incarnation?

Yet often, those who are desperately poor have a greater light about them, within their souls, than those who are extremely rich. In fact, it is more often the case that greater happiness and spirituality come in the simple life of the impoverished person though they do suffer. Indeed, many lessons come with this suffering but also deep compassion for others and a deep desire to assist their brothers and sisters in their desperate plight. While the rich man looks upon the poor as deserving of their fate, and many do not make one iota of effort to uplift their brothers and sisters in these conditions.

I know that there would be many who would listen to this example and give a detailed explanation as to why these conditions exist and further make effort to rationalize their perspective. It saddens me that there is a deep rift between those who believe in the doctrine of reincarnation and those who do not. For is not the purpose of life, no matter which perspective and philosophy are taken, to gain in spirituality, light and progression, and that the moment of now is more important than the idea of why and how one came to this moment?

Rather, I urge all to seize the day. In whatever form and way regarding the journey that they are upon, that they will progress further along their path through love and harmony. I have come to speak of the soul on many occasions. In many ways, the doctrine of reincarnation speaks to the mind and the attitudes and logical deductions which come from mindful considerations. Yet, the mind, as I have said many times, is limited in its perspective and capacity for spiritual growth, where the soul frees the individual and allows him to walk a path of unlimited progression.

Even if the doctrine of reincarnation was true, the truth of the liberation and awakening of the soul through Divine Love would contradict and nullify the contract of the soul for continuous incarnation into the world for if a soul is liberated and cleansed of its inharmonious conditions and encrustations as we call it, then there is no need for the process of returning to Earth in order to learn its lessons.

Rather, the simple truth, which has been seen and witnessed by many in the spirit world and in the Celestial Heavens, is that the individual incarnates only once into this material world, a world that has a great potential to assist the individual in spiritual learning and growth but is not the only avenue for such growth to take place. There are many opportunities within the world of spirit which, as I have explained, is divided into 6 major spheres of spiritual reality. One may continue to learn and grow within these spheres of experience and interaction with what is essentially the continuation of life. Though spirits do not have the experience of material bodies as such, they still possess a soul and a mind and a spirit body which allows them to experience the quality of life that is available in the spirit world.

The spirit world is not a waiting room for the next incarnation of the individual. Rather, it is a true form of life that will allow the individual to grow and evolve spiritually and mentally into greater light, truth, and harmony. Therefore, the doctrine of reincarnation is not a viable truth that has been proven evidentially by those who preach this doctrine. Yes, there are many stories of individuals, even children, who have distinct memories of places and experiences in the material world and this is put forth as an example and proof of the existence of this doctrine. Yet, there are many other explanations for this experience, certainly within children who are open vessels, receivers and transmitters of much information, both in the material plane and in the spirit world. Some are very mediumistic and receive the influence and thoughts of spirits who are around them. A deep connection may be forged with a spirit that has a need to overshadow the child. Therefore, it is believed that they are truly that child.

This deep connection seems to indicate the valid idea of reincarnation. When individuals engage in what is called past life regressions, they too feel that they have made contact with another life and other experiences which have played out in other times in history. Yet, through this process, which is essentially hypnosis, the opening of the individual to influences of spirits is accomplished quite readily. Often, in this experience, they believe that the spirits' influences are indeed an integral part of themselves. In what that spirit has to share with the individual, they believe that they have indeed experienced these things and know these things from firsthand life experiences.

There is a repository within the astral plane of the Akashic records which is a form of recording of every event, thought, and experience of every individual who has ever lived upon your world. It is possible for the individual to be attuned and absorb some element of this recording which may be very detailed and feel very real to that individual but is in fact a mere replica of that experience stored away within this layer of what might be called psychic consciousness.

It is understandable that those individuals who experience such things and are taught to accept them as fact have a deep belief in them. That indeed reincarnation is real and a viable explanation for life upon this Earth. But in truth, life upon this Earth has one very important goal and that is to establish an identity for the individuated soul so that it may continue to progress in its own self-individuation, not only on the Earth plane but through many planes of spirit. For those who are redeemed with the Divine Love of God, they will also in time continue on into the many planes of the Celestial Spheres. Whether the individual may exist upon this Earth for a brief moment or for a hundred years of life, that goal has been accomplished and life continues on within these spheres of experience which are complex and detailed and full of many potentials and possibilities.

It is unfortunate that there are some spirits who have waited many, many years to be reincarnated upon the Earth plane in order to fulfill its goal for spiritual awakening. For many, it has brought about a great stagnation of their growth for they do not believe or aspire toward the continuation of their spiritual progress in these spheres. Rather, they see their existence in the spirit world as something that has within it a kind of neutrality and lacks the potential to bring spiritual growth to them.

Many of these individuals preclude any further experiences and do not wish to explore the potentials of these spheres which are often of a lower plane and quite earthly in their condition. These spirits are often stuck within these conditions and often gather together and support one another in their beliefs. As the Law of Attraction brings them together because of thoughts of a similar nature and common aspirations and their beliefs become reinforced and more powerful within them.

There are those who come and influence some within the Earth plane in a desire to convince them that the doctrine of reincarnation is real and a potent force within their lives and within all of humanity. The world of spirit is a very diverse place so that these thoughts and conditions exist readily within it. Indeed, many delusions exist within the lower spheres of the planes of spirit, those that are close to the Earth plane. So much error ensues as a result of this reinforced loop of thought and expression which continues to plague humanity with much error and darkness and great misunderstanding.

I come to reinforce the truth that the doctrine of reincarnation does not exist in reality but merely within the minds of those individuals who have a deep belief in it. Yet I know not of any individual in the spirit planes who have reincarnated no matter what station or level of progression they have accomplished. They have not demonstrated the truth of reincarnation but merely are deeply committed to this belief and continue to harbour a deep desire to return to Earth in the flesh.

God provides for His children great opportunities for progression and light. These opportunities exist within the planes of spirit as well as upon the Earth plane. God will not alter His great structure that has been put in place for the progress of all souls that have been incarnated into the material world. There are no beliefs or exercise of will within humankind that can alter these laws no matter what level of progression that they have attained because certain laws are immutable and cannot be changed by the will of man.

I urge all spirits and mortals to seek out their own soul's progression into the light. That the great power of the transformation of the soul through receiving God's Love may bring greater truth and greater liberation from all untoward conditions and darkness which the individual may have accumulated in their life, both upon the material plane and the spirit planes. This is the highest doctrine and blessing given to humanity. Its simple truth is potent beyond all reckoning and mindful consideration, for within this truth is the gift of God's Essence given to the individual so that they may be transformed and healed by it, so that they may reflect and express certain attributes of God within them, attained by the accumulation of the Soulful Essence of God.

In comparison to the doctrine of reincarnation, this simple truth and journey is far less complex and difficult. One's spiritual journey toward light and at-onement with God may be accomplished in this way through prayer and receiving the Essence of God makes the difficult and painful journey of reincarnation very unpalatable indeed.

I would urge all souls to consider this truth even if their beliefs in reincarnation are strong, so that they may open their minds and their souls to something that is an alternative to these beliefs. It is something which is indeed real, powerful, and effective in assisting one upon the journey toward light and truth. There is nothing to be gained by a closed mind, yet everything to be gained by testing this truth and seeing for one's self its veracity and potency. There is so much upon Earth and Heaven and all that is in between that humanity does not know or recognize in a clear way.

It is important for each individual to seek out clarity and truth and to do so not just from the mind but from the faculties of the soul awakened so that they may truly see for themselves the Truth of God's creation. For all is put into place for the benefit of humanity so that they may grow and seek greater light and harmony.

There is much in the world yet to be discovered upon one's spiritual journey. May you find your way upon a true path, a path that leads toward swift and sure enlightenment, a path that releases the shackles of the expectations, judgments, and error of the human condition and brings one to the purity of truth, the wonderment of love, the joy that comes with knowing one's Creator.

These things are readily available to all souls provided they are open and willing to explore the many avenues which God has created for them. May the world come to greater truth, greater light, peace, and joy, that love may reign supreme in your world and in all worlds for this is what is meant to be. God's intention is that all will come to the truth. No matter what avenues are taken, what choices that they may make upon their spiritual path, so that indeed in time, the truth will reveal itself. Deep truth comes with deep reconciliation of the mind and the soul in harmony together walking a path of light and truth.

May you find your way, beloved souls. May you come to know God who is all love and forgiveness, healing, peace and truth. This is what is meant for all, to attune oneself to God and receive the great blessings that come with this. The doors are open to this journey of truth. May you be awakened and know the true journey that God has provided for His children upon this Earth and in the realms of spirit.

God bless you, beloved souls, I am Jesus and I come once again to teach, to bring truth to humanity. God bless you, beloveds. My love is with you. God bless you.

LESSON 10

Journey to an Awakened Soul

God bless you, beloved souls. I am Jesus. I have come once again to speak of things of the soul to help uplift, inspire and teach you of this journey toward at-onement with God. As you receive the gift of Divine Love, His Essence, so the soul awakens and becomes a true partner in your life and then you may experience things of a spiritual nature from the true perceptions of your soul and those experiences which come with an awakened soul.

I wish to speak of those things of the awakened soul and how soul awakening may be accomplished and what indeed are the components of a soul awakened in this way. The soul is the very center of life within your being. Without a soul, you would not exist in the material plane for it is the soul that was created by God and ignited into life in that place of soul existence or pre-existence before one is incarnated into the flesh. The very essence of who you are is embedded within your soul and being which in turn has been ignited by your soul's incarnation into the fleshy body.

The soul begins its journey of individuation, coming into its own identity and capacities of expression with its incarnation upon the Earth plane. These expressions are readily understood on the physical level as the body is animated and is expressed as the newly formed child grows and comes into its true abilities. These things have been discussed in previous lessons so I will not go into greater detail.

The great mystery to many is understanding what the soul truly is. What are the components of a soul? What are the abilities and capacities of the soul? You are eager to dissect and to understand these things. Yet, a soul does not have any physical components. A soul is pure energy but a sort of energy that cannot be broken down into components nor can it be divided or categorized or understood by the material mind in such a way that your scientists would be satisfied with an explanation as to what a soul is. Thus, our dilemma in teaching you, beloved and beautiful children of the Earth, is how may we truly describe the soul when there are no words to accurately describe aspects of the soul.

Yet, we must do so in order to assure you that the soul does exist and that the soul is indeed that vital part of your existence. We speak of the faculties of the soul. These faculties vary within each soul, yet there are various components or aspects of the soul which are universal. The soul has a capacity to communicate with God for your soul is a reflection of God's Soul. It is made of the same materials and has within it the ability to be in rapport with God's Soul, recognizing this connection which often comes in prayer. For most, the greatest perception of the soul is that of knowing God.

When a soul is awakened and yearns for God, so that the feeling and desire to be with God is expressed to God, the response from God is to satisfy this desire for connection by joining God's Consciousness with your own within the soul. This happens frequently for those who are engaged in prayer, having great faith in God and often blessed with a knowing, an understanding that this connection is real and palpable for they have allowed their soul's consciousness to come forth into their material consciousness and what comes is a palpable response to prayer.

The soul has feelings, those higher feelings and expressions of feeling which come with love, a sense of gratitude, of joy, and a sort of surety which comes in knowing and truly understanding from that place of soul consciousness. The higher emotions which include one's longings in prayer are a powerful catalyst for the individual's motivations in life. The capacity to love is also an expression of the soul. Love is most often of the natural kind, the reflexive expression of the individual toward another no matter the relationship so that there is a sense within the soul that it is fulfilling its purpose in life which is to love, to truly love another. All the myriad of ways in which love may be expressed originates from the soul. This is why those upon the Earth have a great deal of trouble defining love for they do not know their own soul and cannot discern the source of this love. Yet, when other faculties of the soul are opened, it is easy to see the well-spring of love that comes from the soul.

The soul can grow and be purified through mindful actions and disciplines, through the choices that one makes in life and the many experiences that one has in life. Or the opposite may be true, that the soul becomes contaminated, encrusted with dark matter and those memories of experiences of life that come in this dark world. But rest assured that the soul has the great capacity of memory, that all things that have happened in one's life have been registered within this place and it becomes a living reality within the soul. The soul is a repository of memory.

The experiences of life are not lost upon one's transition into the spirit world. Rather, they are more fully alive as one experiences their new life within the spirit. The soul has spiritual capacities. Your gifts of healing, of vision, of knowing from that very deep level, a truth, a warning, a sense of another, are all aspects of a soul's capacity to perceive, translate and transmit that experience to your conscious self.

The soul has within it a sort of antenna, an ability to receive information that is not of a material nature. The experience of receiving does not come in a linear form that can be analyzed by the intellect and categorized by the material mind. Rather, it is a sense, a capacity to understand in a form which can be thought of as three-dimensional; information and expressions that are both of the material and spiritual nature which are a part of your material life and the energetic conditions that surround your world. This flow of conditions, both material and spiritual, are as common and palpable as your weather. They cannot be seen by the material senses but are sensed by the faculties of the soul and the spirit body

This antenna is highly sensitive but is rarely acknowledged by the mind even though the awareness and interaction which comes with a soul engaged in life is very active and continuous within this level of soul consciousness. Yet, few know how to bring together their material consciousness with soul consciousness so that they may be aware of such things. The individual transmits thoughts, energies, conditions which are expressions of the soul. These contributions drift within the great energetic fields and currents within your earthly life. The sense that we are all one comes from the reality of this vast energetic network fed by the emanations and thoughts of each individual.

As you can see, there are a great many dynamics, a flow of information and energies that are a part of the soul's experience of life, both in the material plane and within the spirit planes. It is complex indeed and difficult to give in detail what this means to your soul's consciousness but I tell you that there is much going on below the surface of the material consciousness that many are not aware of and yet, can have a great bearing upon one's capacities to choose certain directions in life and expressions in daily life.

This dynamic part of you is not asleep inasmuch as it is not acknowledged nor are its abilities to communicate well-understood by most who dwell within the material plane. When other faculties of the soul are awakened, then the deeper and more refined aspects of communication, of sending and receiving information become more integrated and clearly defined in the conscious self having more power to inform the individual.

There are many gifts of the soul that may be expressed when the soul is at a higher state of light and consciousness. When the soul is activated in some way by the acknowledgment of the surface consciousness of the individual so that they may go deeper within themselves and explore the various avenues of expression that the soul has within it, then there may be expressed many aspects of one's gifts and faculties into conscious self-expression.

One may see the soul as a plant that has a great seed pod filled with many seeds within it, layer upon layer of seeds waiting to be expressed. So it is that the soul has embedded within it many potentials, possibilities of expression which cannot be realized until the soul matures and there is an opening for the expression of these various gifts into the world. If that soul is not mature, having not grown in light, these things cannot possibly be expressed to any great degree for the environment for that expression, or shall we say germination of the individual seed, is not present.

The soul is a repository for many potentials, gifts, capacities to be expressed as the soul grows and expands in light. That expression may come through the natural growth and purification of the soul in relationship with a spiritual path that encourages its expansion in light and purification. This is what we are often fond of calling the natural love path. Upon this path, many of the soul's capacities can be realized and expressed and are often done so within the higher planes of spirit. This is not so easily accomplished upon the Earth plane which has within it many contaminates and energetic conditions which inhibit the soul. But indeed, it is possible and has been demonstrated through many individuals in your earthly plane, individuals that you tend to admire as gifted spiritually.

Often these individuals take to a life of teaching and demonstrating spiritual gifts and capacities which may be categorized as metaphysical. Spiritual teachings may come forth that in many ways are a hybrid of the soul's understanding of certain things married with the mind's insistence upon categorizing and defining various manifestations of the soul. Thus, you have many avenues of religious teachings and spiritual practices that are available to you in your present earthly life.

These things continue to have great sway upon many individuals who are seeking truth. Within their minds, primarily, are definitions and understandings of truth that are acceptable to the intellect. Along with this intellectual acceptance may come a sense of rightness. That rightness is the soul responding to the mind's journey toward truth. Yet, that sense of rightness may be a mere reflection of the soul's understanding of truth. It is not clear because the mind continues to formulate and extrapolate upon the truth in its own way. Thus, the truth becomes a solid thing within the mind of the individual but is not necessarily complete. Though it may not reflect the truth at all but rather it becomes an erroneous interpretation of truth. Yet, the soul may signal to the mind that they are on the right track toward truth. This is often the case with the individual seeker. Within their journey of accumulating truth and the understanding of it, they will often have a great collection of truth and error within their minds which they truly believe is pure and credible. Indeed, pure truth is rarely found upon your Earth plane. It requires a great deal of spiritual purifying and soulful awakening so that the truth may be understood fully within the soul, bringing perception and understanding which may be transferred to the mind with clarity, wisdom and understanding.

A soul that is limited to the natural love journey has a great many hurdles to overcome in order to truly understand what it may understand in the way of truth, in the way of the reality of God's creation, in the way of the individual's expression in life. Yet, many are diligently engaged within this journey and have come to various conclusions, understandings and experiences within it. They have formulated within their minds a great body of understanding which they call truth, but in many respects is merely the reflection of the individual's experiences married with definitions which they have gathered through their life's journey and spiritual experiences.

Truth upon your earthly plane is difficult to obtain and though expressed in many, many ways, is not a true understanding in a way in which the soul has given to the mind the great gift of truth as a clear and unadulterated perception of truth. Yet, we speak of the journey of Divine Love and what that may bring to one's understanding of the soul.

A pause in the delivery of this message

We will continue. Indeed, the limitations of the body often make it difficult for us in spirit to communicate as we might more fully and completely within the delivery of these lessons. We must accommodate the limitations of the mind, body, and soul but there is often the possibility to bring forth messages of deep import and complexity.

I will continue with my dissertation on the gifts of the soul and the abilities of the soul to express itself within the material plane. We will now talk about the ability of the soul imbued with Divine Love and what differences this would make for the expression of the soul and the gifts of the soul enhanced by the gift of Divine Love. Indeed, there is a great difference between a soul that expresses itself in all its natural capacities and abilities as compared with a soul that has been transformed with the Divine Love of God, the Essence of God for with the gift of Divine Love within the soul, with this gift, the divine attributes of God, to some degree, are infused within the capacities of the soul thereby making it a true reflection of the Divine.

This may only be accomplished through the transformative qualities of the Divine Love, the Energies of God infused within the soul. Though the soul in its natural state is a reflection of divine attributes and capacities, they are not fully realized without the infusion of the Essence of God. It is the fuel that activates the mechanism that is the soul. Though God has given life to every soul, this is a different sort of life, a different sort of expression which activates many other things within the soul that cannot be activated otherwise.

All the gifts that are laid within the soul, those seeds which I have spoken of, have it's destiny to be awakened and expressed within that individual. Unfortunately, this is not so within the souls of those who walk the journey of the natural love path. Yes, many things are indeed awakened and many capacities and abilities come to life given the journey of purification of the soul and opening up channels of consciousness within the individual. It is a laborious journey indeed, one that culminates within the sixth sphere of spirit where the natural man is pure and has come to realize, at least to some degree, the capacities of their soul expressed in its pure and highest form within the limitations of it's expression outside of soul transformation.

Yes, there are many steps forward which can be taken once the great gift of Divine Love is infused within the soul to the point where the soul is transformed, purified, and awakened by the gift of this Love. To describe in detail what it is that constitutes an awakened soul is a formidable task for I must use these material instruments, that of the mind of the medium and the language of the material world to describe something that is far beyond your material world.

I am hobbled in my desire to speak of these things clearly to you, to do so in a way that you may understand it clearly for unfortunately you do not have the capacity at this time to understand what it is that is truly within your soul, those beautiful potential seeds of light that are awaiting life and expression. But I must say to you that when your soul is fully activated and transformed, the way in which you will see life, experience life, travel and journey through life, will be completely different from what you are experiencing at this present time.

There are none upon this Earth plane who are truly at that place of experiencing life through an activated soul with all its perceptions and abilities to know life and to know itself and express itself in all its unique forms. You may indeed come to a place of soul perception. You may indeed express gifts of healing and be a channel for love and a truly beautiful soul upon this earthly plane. Many of you journey upon this path and express these things to a degree, but you are not yet fully awakened. Until the transformation takes place and that tipping point happens within your consciousness where many awakenings, revelations, understandings and perceptions that are all built and predicated upon the power of God's Love, cascading into its true soul expression, then you may only understand the words of which I speak to a limited degree.

But I tell you, what you know of yourself and your soul is only the tip of the iceberg for there is much yet to be discovered, a very long life of discovery, of awakening and understanding the capacities of your soul. Some of you will come to deep experiences of the soul and have that eureka moment of discovery that will bring great joy to you and help you to see that even with this limited experience, how great and wondrous and voluminous is this experience of just one seed of many that have yet come to life.

There are many, many more seeds that will need your attention and prayers and God's blessings upon them. When one comes to a realization, an understanding, an awakening to their soulful capacities, it behooves that individual to express these gifts and this capacity in whatever way and form that can be accomplished upon the material plane. This great gift of awakening is being given to you so that you may continue to carry on as God's servants in the world, that you may use what you know and understand and what has truly been awakened within you in ways that uplift and bless humanity.

As you walk upon your life's journey, know that you will be upheld and uplifted by your angel friends, by God's Touch upon you and that what may come to life within you will know greater life and expression. We urge you to continue to pray to receive the Divine Love of God, to awaken these beautiful seeds and potentials within you so that you may truly know that of which I speak, that you may truly understand the wonderment that is your soul, what God has created, this living creature that is truly you and longs for awakening and expression and is a magnificent creation of God.

This part of you longs for life, full and true life. You will know and express wondrous gifts, gifts that when in alignment with God will bring what may be described as miracles but are not true miracles. Rather, they are the utmost and highest expression of your true self, your soul in alignment with God so that your channel of service, of blessings, of understanding, of truth, may be clear and powerful, wide in scope, wondrous in its capacities to be expressed through you as God's individuated creation.

You are primarily a soul upon a journey of awakening. You will find yourself within this journey and know your true self in all its splendour as you awaken in God's Love. That knowing comes as the soul awakens for it is a true and wondrous capacity within to know the truth as God feeds that soul which is you with the truth. This truth comes alive within you and truth becomes a powerful part of you. It will be unshakeable and a powerful motivator for all that you do.

Truth upon truth will collect within you like a string of pearls which you may access and know and utilize as God's channels in the world. As you align your soul with your mind, so these truths will come through you, expressed in all their beauty and power, helping others to understand themselves and their true capacities of soul expression. So much will come in the stead of your soul awakened with Love. As this happens, step by step, you will be more receptive to understanding my words and the words of your angel friends who come to speak of truth.

Much comes to those who are true and sincere in their spiritual journey and do not clutter their minds with the many frivolous details which humanity wishes to place within their consciousness in order to describe truth. You will come to understand the truth in a different way. Indeed, the challenge will be to express that truth to another. But indeed, you will carry the mantel of truth with you. Others will sense your knowing and understanding, the power of this, the wonderment and grace that comes with a soul that has found the Truth of God and the expression of all God's great Truths and creation.

It is an infinite journey, one taken with the first step, a step that will not end, moving ever forward, going ever deeper within, expanding in love. Knowing all the beautiful seeds that God has implanted within you and seeing them come to life one by one, embracing with great joy and happiness what God has given you. What gifts lie within you! What truth may come in your experiences with God as His Love continues to build within you, its flow strengthening and coming to you in great waves, empowering the great transformation that must come.

You will be deeply blessed, beloveds, and you are. You will come to understand how deeply you are blessed. You will come to know God and will see God as your great protector and guide, your Heavenly Father or Mother, your beautiful and perfect friend who will come to you always and embrace you within His loving arms. In this way, a great unfolding of deep revelations, of joy, of who you truly are will unfold upon this infinite journey toward at-onement with God.

May God bless you, beloved souls. I wish that I could share more about the capacities and aspects of the soul within you. But indeed, there will be a time where I might communicate with you in a way that you will truly understand and absorb that which I have to share. There will come a time in the future where I will speak directly to you all without the need of utilizing this form of communication. In that time, that opening of revelations, I will speak freely and will share freely with you all.

May God bless you, beloved souls. May we all come to greater revelations for there is no limit to them and to be in greater alignment with God. The journey toward true and wondrous joy, continues. May God bless you, beloveds. I am with you, your brother and friend Jesus. God bless you.

LESSON 11

Humanity Will Awaken with Coming Earth Changes

June 2, 2021

I am Jesus. I come once again to speak to you. I see that it lays heavy upon the mind of this instrument the brutality and injustice that has been perpetrated by those who are in power and who profess to follow my teachings, those in the past who have done great harm and damage to many children and adults in the world seeking to be comforted in love and truth *. But instead, they have perpetrated error, hatred and judgment. This indeed is a great tragedy, a great tragedy that the perversions of thought and actions of humanity in all manner of ways and means in your world continue to be expressed, that much darkness is perpetrated in the name of truth, in the name of religious propriety. This is indeed a very sad condition.

As you know, we continue to try to reach this world with truth. I make a great effort to bring to the world my true teachings for I am recognized by so many in your world and yet, misunderstood as well. So many who carry the cross and who profess to be my followers are lost in error, often darkness and have great judgment upon their brothers and sisters, still insisting that they carry the truth and those who do not will be punished by the fires of hell.

Oh, this brings me such pain and sadness to know that my brothers and sisters who say that they are truly my brothers and sisters do not recognize the power of love, the power of God's Love for them and for all of humanity. No matter their cultures, creeds, doctrines, and ideas, all are loved by God equally. They are loved by me equally for one cannot follow the truth of my teachings without a deep expression of purity in love, purity of thought, purity of action which reflects love.

I know there are many in your world who aspire to be lights, to be pure in their thinking and in their doing in the world. Many are not attached to any particular religion. Many are indeed good and bright souls who have within their minds and their morals the necessity to do good in the world. These children will find themselves in bright places when they progress to the world of spirit for the law does not delineate between those who in their minds are strong in beliefs that are in alignment with truth compared to those who have religious or spiritual beliefs that are also in line with the truth.

It is the soul that determines the location of that individual in the world of spirit. The soul records and is the repository for all actions both dark and light that one may express in the world during a lifetime. God does not judge those children who do not believe in Him or have a firm connection with Him for God understands, as do we in the Celestial Kingdom, that they will come to God in time. It is a great benefit to the individual that they have not marred the path toward the light by actions and deeds that are of darkness. Of course, all of humanity expresses darkness within their life to some degree or another. None are pure. None are free from actions that are not in harmony with God's Laws of Love. Yet some are less so inclined than others and benefit from their choices which are perpetrated day in and day out upon your world.

Sin is that disharmony created by thought and action that is not in harmony with God's creation and laws. Each of you has perpetrated sin in your lives and to some degree, express this disharmony still in your lives. But indeed, you are progressing. Many are making great effort to walk in the world with a measure of light and a measure of purity. Each day is a challenge. Each day brings those things which may be difficult to overcome, choices which are easier to express in the greyness and darkness of apathy rather than to take the greater step forward into light and harmony.

Much darkness is perpetrated because there is great ignorance of the laws. There is great apathy in regard to one's own soul and the progression of one's soul. This is within the vast majority of cases that most souls upon your world are ignorant and also apathetic. They have no inclination to stretch beyond their present ideas and mode of thinking to something higher and purer in one's nature and expression.

This is why we come to Earth, to awaken those who are asleep that they may rise up from their apathy and come to a place of understanding and purity. Beloved souls, there are many, many barriers in the way of the progression of humanity in light and love. There is much that is perpetrated in the name of truth and righteousness that is not so and is very damaging to many souls.

It is this apathy that is within the souls of so many that allows the darkness to be perpetuated. Even though many may have the knowledge and understanding of this perpetration, they see no way or means to intervene, to voice their disapproval, to change their thoughts and actions that they may be more in harmony with love. This is the human condition of which we have spoken many times and as such there is so much that needs to be changed.

Indeed, change is coming; of this we have also spoken. God will awaken His children in the unfolding of Earth Changes, and by lifting the veil from these unspeakable deprivations and sins that have been perpetrated upon the innocent. Much is coming to light and will continue to unfold and come to light in the world, for it is important for humanity to realize that each individual must take responsibility for their actions and are their brothers' keepers, required to make effort to protect those who are innocent, especially the children of your world.

There is so much inequity in your world. There are those who can change the world if they were to use their wealth to help reshape the world into greater harmony, to bring equity and equality to their brothers and sisters, that they too may live a life that is in harmony, that is not so deprived in the material sense.

We see the world so differently from you for our elevation of perception allows us to see the dark corners of your world, the great deprivation that exists, the ignorance and the strife, the wars, the inequality, and that which is perpetrated upon your Earth that fouls and brings great disharmony to it. Humanity is at a tipping point where the power of their actions, deeds and thoughts are overwhelming this beautiful world that God has created. The time has come for a reckoning of humanity, that all of humanity may open their eyes and see for themselves what has been perpetrated and what is not in harmony within their own personal lives.

The scales will be peeled from all of your eyes, beloveds. God will ensure that you see clearly, whether that results in great despair and recognition of a life not lived well or whether one sees the goodness and the kindness and the love that has been expressed. Most individuals upon the Earth plane carry both within them. They have done good and they have done those things that are not of light. When the individual sees clearly the difference between the two and understands clearly the benefits of bringing light and expressing light in their lives, so they are given the choice, an opportunity to change within their thinking and their doing.

To be true channels of love and light in the world, one must first begin with the recognition of that which is not of love and light. This we call sin. Indeed, every individual carries a measure of sin within them for no individual upon your Earth plane is fully in alignment and in accord with God's Laws of Love and Light. Humanity must awaken, choose, and gather within them the strength to change those patterns that are not in harmony with God.

No one can do this for the individual for it is their own personal responsibility and determined by their own choices and actions in the world. Certainly, many can help their brothers and sisters, uplifting them, teaching them, and guiding them in the way of light for those who are not ignorant of this carry a great responsibility to share these truths, to help others understand the journey that is required toward the light. This is why we continue to strengthen you, beloved souls. We continue to work with many others in your world to strengthen them, so to have upon this world a great army of light, a great coalition of those who bring truth and love and comfort to many.

It is happening at this time, that you are indeed a part of a great movement, a wave of light that is coming to your world. As the darkness is pushed back, as the scales are peeled from the eyes of so many, so this will be your opportunity to step forward and bring the Truth of God's Love to many. This simple Truth need not be changed or added to or predicated upon the minds of those who wish to bring them power and recognition. Rather, it must be presented in its simple form, humbly, and without any pretense, and not carry the truth as some exalted being and one who is above their brothers and sisters.

This too is a sin for I did not walk upon the Earth and proclaim myself as one who is all-powerful. Rather, I stated that I was the Messiah who was predicted would bring the truth to the world. I did so with humility. I did so with love. I did not carry a crown or a mantle that said I am the authority and you must bow down to me and listen to me. Rather, I went to my brothers and sisters, those in great need, and told them that I loved them and asked if I could pray with them, that they may receive a blessing from God.

You must also be those individuals who carry humility, who walk in grace, who are true to the simple Truth of God's Love and its redeeming qualities upon the soul. That measure of humility will bring others to you for with this humility comes a sort of charisma that beckons those souls who are in need and who desire relief from their pain and suffering to come forth and to seek you out. Indeed, in the times to come, there will be many, many souls who will be in despair and confusion and will need comfort and clarity.

God will guide you into their midst, beloved souls. God will use you as His instruments. This does not mean that God loves you any more than all your other brothers and sisters. Rather, God has given you the gift of service, the gift of truth, the gift of the way beyond your personal struggles to that of freedom and joy and love. You are not more loved than others, but you are indeed blessed mightily because you have chosen to be blessed. Within your soul, you have recognized the truth and come to God in all earnestness to be blessed by His Great Soul to your needing soul.

The great perpetration of sin and error upon your Earth is coming to an end. The time of reckoning is coming close. It will not be done in a moment or a day, a week or a year but it will come as all things come in God's creation, in a wave that builds and becomes more intense as time continues. You have felt this. Many of you have felt this, beloved brothers and sisters. With this wave of light building, so you also are built up and blessed by this changing condition, this blessing upon your world. You will continue to open to God more fully and be in harmony with God as you come to understand your Creator and come to know His Love for you.

You will be leaders, beloved and beautiful souls. Like all true leaders, you will carry humility. You will be consistent in what you teach and what you demonstrate in the world, for this is a powerful way to show others the truth. It is more important that you demonstrate the truth than speak it for the simple truth is only a few words spoken, but the expression of truth are many actions and deeds done in love.

You must see your way toward expressing truth with each moment and breath of your life, that the truth may be expressed more fully, more powerfully as each day passes. That you slough off all conditions that are of sin and error and come to be in true alignment with God. That your souls may sing the harmonies of love, that your lives may express the beauty of love, and that you may reach out to your brothers and sisters, those in great need, and uplift them and show them the way to their own upliftment in prayer and beseeching God to bless them.

As you pray with them, so they will come to know the power of this blessing, for you will help to manifest this blessing in more tangible terms as God's instruments upon the world. You will see yourselves as true channels of His Love. This will bring great joy to you, beloved souls, and great blessings to others. You are greatly needed, beloveds, greatly needed. As we have spoken of, the world is in great need. The disharmonies of this world continue to build as your brothers and sisters continue to sleep.

As the great torrent of change comes upon them, it would behoove them to awaken before such things come for then they can prepare themselves for what is coming. You must help them to understand this, to see this for what it is, which is the cleansing of your world of darkness and the shifting of your world toward the light. God is bringing upon your world a great opportunity to all His children to come into alignment with truth, to reshape their lives so that it may reflect the harmony of God's creation and that they may come to look within their souls so that they will see that their souls are in need.

So much is coming and so quickly, so powerfully that it will disorient many and bring deep confusion and fear. You must come to them with strength and love, putting aside your own concerns and fears, stepping forward as God guides you and uses you as His channels of love and light. In this way, you will influence many souls in this world, and you will have the opportunity to speak to many. We will speak through many of you in this regard and manifest with you. As you bring the glad tidings of God's Love to many and the true purpose of life so that your brothers and sisters may realize that though they have lost much in the way of material possessions, they have gained much in the way of their own soulful joy and happiness.

The majority will release their attachment to the material so that a new balance may be obtained. A new way of life that is more in harmony with God's laws as the veneer and deceptions which so many in your world carry and perpetrate through their deep dedication to materialism and to their mindful thoughts and conditions that are not of the soul and not deep in their natures will come to see the truth of their true condition. God will provide opportunities and answers to the world in tumult. God will bring great comfort. You, beloved souls, as His channels will be very active and be required in many ways to express your gifts and capacities to serve your brothers and sisters as God's channels.

The awakening of humanity builds and it will come to a crescendo at the right time. You will all be called. That clarion call will be true and heard by all of you. You must come to prepare yourselves in prayer, to continue to awaken within your souls, to forge your alliance with God that all will become into alignment and truth and light.

This is not difficult for any of you, beloved souls, for you have put your steps upon the Divine Path. In so doing, you have opened a great treasure trove of truth and great power of alignment and resources from God and His angels. Utilize these resources, and come to see yourselves as true children of God. Put aside your self-doubts. Put aside your guilt and your shame and all those things that you harbour within your minds that say you are not worthy, for truly you are worthy, beloved souls, truly you are worthy. Find freedom in God. Find comfort in His Love. Find the truth in that inflowing of His great gift of Love into your souls. In this way, you forge the path forward and will be able to lead your brothers and sisters who have freshly awakened to the truth and light and peace that must come.

May God bless you on that journey, beloved souls. Though sin is perpetrated throughout the world, know that every time you choose light and take action in light, you are neutralizing this darkness and that you are helping God to wipe away all that is of sin and error. You are my true brothers and sisters for you carry the truth that I taught, and you are a part of this great effort to bring the simple truth to humanity.

My love is with each one of you. My hope and prayers are with you, so that you may overcome the darkness completely and be resplendent in light. This can be your destiny and it can be your life upon this Earth, if you so choose, but it requires your efforts and dedications, and the efforts and dedications of many more.

We all travel together upon this road, anticipating what God has to bring and what He will give to His children. We are together in this great journey of awakening, of service, of love, of truth. May you come to know your true selves in all your glory and beauty. May you come to know God as your Heavenly Father who loves you so and has such a bountiful treasure to give to you, each of you. May you come to know your brothers and sisters in the Celestial Kingdom for we too wish to be by your side and to assist you upon that journey of awakening.

May God's Love continue to flow into your souls. For those who are awakening, may they come to know the comfort and strength that comes from God, for it is available to every soul. It is your fervent prayer and desire that brings you to God. Allow this to be uttered through your lips, expressed through your minds, and emanate from your souls. In this way, you will truly know God and truly come to know of those things of which I speak, leading you to at-onement with God.

May God bless you all, beloved souls. I am your brother and friend, Jesus, and I am happy to come once again to speak to you of the human condition and the way beyond it toward light, truth, and love. God bless you, beloveds. God bless you deeply. I love you.

\ This message was given after a recent disclosure that hundreds of bodies of native children were found on the grounds of residential schools in Canada. It disturbed me greatly and the reassurance that was given in this message helped me to feel less distressed by this horrifying news.*

LESSON 12

Description of the Three Minds

I come. I am Jesus. I come to speak to you once again in hopes that these words may be recorded and shared with others. Today I wish to speak about the three minds of each individual. I know this may be surprising to you, but indeed, there are three centers of consciousness within those living on the earth plane.

The first mind is the material mind with all its linear deductions, its intense emotions and its perceptions and reality deduced from the five senses of the body. The material mind organizes information given to it from the five senses and from those things that are received within this mind, for the material mind is the center of memory of the material experiences and information collated and organized within it. Indeed, without this mind, one could not survive in the material plane for it possesses vital functions and capacities to ensure life and to sustain life, and in some ways to give life meaning. Much has been researched and documented about the material mind so I will not go further with these details since this information is well-known and freely available.

There is also a spirit mind. It is that part of you that you carry within your spirit body which continues, surviving your transition from the material plane. In many respects, the spirit mind is identical to the material mind, but it has certain faculties and abilities which are beyond the limitations of the material, linear perspective. The spirit mind has within it the capacity for deep intuition, to feel things and know things that are beyond that which you might deduce from your material senses and thoughts. It adds to your experience in life and can give you many insights and perceptions that may defy material limitations. It comes into the mind and consciousness of the individual in waves of insight, feeling, and knowings. It is also the seat of the imagination and creativity.

This is the place where spirits have influence, for they are able to communicate and add their thoughts to those who are receptive to those elements within the mind of the spirit body. Indeed, this is where the thoughts of the individual may be transmitted out into the ethers. This ability to receive and transmit originates within this body and mind. Much happens within this realm of consciousness that is often ignored or misunderstood, for within your Earth plane many are highly focused upon the material and therefore, render themselves incapable of being aware of those mental activities that are a part of the spirit body.

Yet, in many ways, the information that is given reaches the material mind, although often distorted and muffled by the inclination of the material mind to interpret and to collate information so that it may reflect a more material manifestation in alignment with the mind's reality. Yet, this communication and flow of energies are always taking place within the individual, whether they are aware of it or not.

Your capacity to be a healing channel is centered within your spirit body. The mind has much to do with the capacity and ability to transmit healing energies into the world. This mind acts as a gatekeeper for energies flowing into and out through the body. It is highly sensitive and very subtle. Many psychics have learned to tap into those aspects of consciousness centered in the mind of the spirit body, and have been able to manifest many things and perceive many things through this awareness. Mediumship originates within this part of the individual.

There are many qualities and potentials within this mind that humanity is yet to discover or utilize in their daily lives. As one becomes more spiritually sensitive and evolved, whether that be through the journey of the natural man purified or that of the soul awakened in Divine Love, this mind will reveal great capacities and abilities to perceive information and truth that is not readily received through the material mind with its limitations and biases.

I take as an example one of your great scientists, Albert Einstein. Much of his insight and ability to transcribe and share information about the material world and the workings of the universe came in this way. He had a deep and powerful ability to attune himself to these elements of information and truth that are available to humanity given their want to explore them. Einstein was a great explorer possessing a great mind open and willing to perceive and to accept the source from which he was inspired and was given much information for the benefit of humanity. He became a powerful catalyst to change the thinking and perception of your present modern life and is revered today as a great pioneer of important knowledge.

Yet, even that which Einstein gave to the world through his gifts has been perverted and used for destructive means and has created as much instability as stability in your world. This is unfortunate indeed and a good example of the immaturity of humanity and its incapacity to progress wisely so that all is in harmony rather than the disharmony and darkness that is often caused by the misuse of truth.

Every individual has great capacity and potential to understand many things through their spirit mind and its capacities to attune to the many elements of the universe and many layers of reality, which you call dimensions, so that the mind may collect truth and be inspiration in its ability to open to diverse realities. Humanity, however, must mature and come to the realization that it cannot continue to build, create, and formulate using primarily the material mind and its limited functions without including the capacity and insight of the spirit mind as well as the mind of the soul.

When those subtle and more spiritual aspects of humanity are liberated from the oppression of the material mind, then many avenues of insight, many truths, and realizations of the functioning of the universe may be revealed to humanity bringing you all to a higher level of material existence and understanding. Yet, what has happened in the case of Einstein's discoveries where these things were perverted into weapons of destruction, which as you know threatens the very existence of this planet, it would not be wise for humanity to go further in these explorations unless there is a time given for the awakening of their spiritual natures. Thus, the mind of the spirit body is often not completely developed and rather immature in its present capacities. Within some, there is great maturity and many gifts awakened within this maturity. But for the vast majority, the capacities of the spirit mind are cloaked and unheard in a conscious way.

Within the spirit mind reside many feelings and emotions that are of a higher calibre than that of the material mind. This is where the natural love capacities reside. This is where many feelings, whether they be joy or grief, originate. It is a powerful center for these emotional expressions in one's life.

I have spoken many times of the mind of the soul. This mind has the greatest of capacities and is the most powerful and wondrous of the three minds of the individual. Yet, it too is buried under many layers of thought and emotional conditions that are manifested through the other two minds of the individual. The capacities of perception and of knowing the truth that is of God's creation and being reside within this part of one's consciousness, the soul mind. Unless the soul mind is purified and awakened to some degree through this purification, often these abilities are stunted and incapable of translating information, perceptions, and experiences to the conscious self.

I have said that there are two ways in which an individual may accomplish the purification of the soul. I will not go into detail as to how one may take these routes toward purification, but I wish to say that in order for the soul mind to be truly awakened and express its true capacities and depth, one must ignite the soul through receiving the great gift of Divine Love from God. There is no other way to awaken the soul fully. The soul has been given to humanity for this purpose so that it may in time know God from a depth and breadth of understanding that is completely out of reach from the soul that has been merely purified upon the path of the natural man.

Indeed, some capacities of the soul and emotions of the soul are realized through the purification process. A deeper ability to understand truth comes in this way but that truth is limited because the finer and more powerful faculties of the soul have not been fully developed. The capacities of this mind are thus limited. Yet, if the soul becomes awakened in the way that I have explained, the Divine Love ignites and empowers the many faculties of the soul. The faculties and abilities for perception, understanding, and experience that come with a soul awakened dwarf the abilities of the spirit mind and the material mind.

A soul mind awakened can perceive deep into the truths of God's universe. A soul mind awakened can know and truly feel that sense of at-onement with God. A soul mind awakened has a greater intelligence in every respect than the spirit mind and the material mind combined. In fact, this intelligence is unlimited as progression is unlimited when a soul is transformed by Divine Love and continues to grow accordingly.

We do not know the limitations of the soul mind, for we too continue upon this journey of awakening and at-onement with God, so we do not see an end to the abilities and capacities of the soul mind. When a soul is transformed by Divine Love and truly awakened and purified and in alignment with God, the other minds of the individual are absorbed by the soul mind and completely integrated. For example, those memories that come within the spirit mind which has absorbed many memories from the material mind are then absorbed by the mind of the soul, fully integrating this information, and transforming all into light and harmony.

Within the transformation of the soul is a great transformation of consciousness. The capacity of the soul to see, feel, hear, and know all reflects the non-material nature of the soul. Hence it is difficult to explain this experience firsthand to you because you are using what is primarily the faculties of the material mind in order to understand the information of which I speak, that is derived from the soul mind. It is for the individual who continues to pray for Divine Love and seek its transformational power within the soul to experience these things of the soul and to understand from that perspective what soul perception is.

I can say that it is multi-dimensional where the material mind is linear and deductive and depends upon the five senses to bring within and process information. The spirit mind has the capacity for intuition, for memory, for absorption of insights and understanding many things that are of the spirit. These things are only one aspect of the experience of the soul mind when engaged in its awakening, absorbing of Truth from God.

You may imagine that the consciousness of the soul mind is like sections of a sphere and the first two minds are two pieces of it. Yet, there are many more segments to this sphere that are engaged as the soul mind is awakened. Many of you continue to absorb the guidance and teaching that I and many others have given. As such you are preparing to understand these things in a deeper way. You will continue to add many pieces to this great puzzle of understanding God's universe. You will use, to some degree, each mind as you engage in this process. As you continue to grow in Divine Love, so the balance of consciousness shifts from the material to the spiritual and toward the soul.

Many of you have discovered some capacities to experience your spiritual reality within the spirit mind and on rare occasions, a sense of something that has come directly from God into the soul and into your consciousness. It is important that you discern between these different experiences and perceptions, to understand that yes, there are many layers within you and many capacities and capabilities that exist within you.

Few have truly ventured beyond the spirit mind consciousness. Certainly, many who are immersed in the spirit mind are filled with explanations and spiritual teachings which they ascribe to this experience. Indeed, as far as this experience accumulates and grows in terms of understanding through the faculties of the spirit mind, they share the truth with others in this way. Unfortunately, many cannot and will not venture beyond this and are completely convinced that what they perceive and how they perceive it is the absolute truth because it has shifted their consciousness beyond that of the material mind plane. Yet there is much more to come and much more to experience in a deeper way and a wider, more universal way than what they have perceived so far.

When the mind of the spirit and the material mind are engaged together, it creates powerful avenues of understanding while you are upon the Earth plane. Many have come to this understanding and have utilized the capacities of both minds to some degree and have deduced many things from their experience and effort to engage them.

In order for this world to be fully healed from all the inequities and darkness within it, the power of the mind of the soul needs to be engaged by humanity. If but a limited number of individuals are engaged in this way, absorbing all the wisdom and ability of these three minds coalesced into one, their ability would be far greater than any individual who may be described as a genius upon your world. For the mind integrated in this way, empowered by the Divine Love has a far greater capacity to perceive, to understand and to share those gifts that are dormant and unused so that they may come to life. That individual may truly be a fount of truth, love, light, and wisdom. Though the possibility of such individuals existing upon your Earth plane is somewhat limited, still, if these gifts and capacities were developed to some degree, that individual would have a great capacity to lead and teach others toward greater harmony in the world.

This is our desire, as you know. It is God's desire that the individual may indeed be developed and awakened in Divine Love so that these capacities may come to life. An ability to be a true channel of love, wisdom and truth in the world may be realized to a higher degree than what is now present in your world. These things are possible, given the dedication of the individual in prayer and faith that God will indeed implant within them many wondrous blessings. He has already implanted much in the way of abilities, capacities to learn, to grow, to understand, to express, so that with the gift of His Love will come deep wisdom, deep love and deep understanding.

There is so much that can come with the mind of the soul awakened, absorbing the spirit mind and the material mind, transforming these things in a way that brings alignment with God, harmony, great compassion and love; for these higher emotions are part of the soul. The soul may amplify and direct its light and energy, those blessings and expressions out into the world, bringing great light and the capacity to uplift and heal, to teach and bless many as God's channels in the world.

When the soul is in alignment with God, the mind is pure in its thoughts and its capacities go far beyond the abilities of the natural man into a realm that reflects more of the Divine. Our hope is that, in time, these truths and the capacity of Divine Love to awaken the soul and be expressed through the soul, will come forth. We see that light is coming to the world. We see that a great transformation in your world is upon us. We see that God's influence and blessing upon the world are great. We are engaging in this process of transformation through God's guidance and influence upon us. There is much happening that is dynamic and will bring change.

We continue to help develop, influence and guide you toward this new light, this transformative expression of God's Will upon the world, so that you will see for yourselves through the eyes, wisdom, and understanding of your soul what is meant to be in your world and what is meant to be within your inner world. Insights are continuing to come, and your understanding continues to grow. You have come to see things differently. Some of you have come to experience spiritual outpourings of truth, whether that be through the mind of your spirit body or your soul mind. I urge you forward, beloved children of God. I urge you forward to continue to eagerly embrace the transformation within, for as you transform so you have a greater capacity to help God transform the world. You become a beacon of light in the world, a transformer for His energies to flow, as His instruments upon the world.

May you find your way through the many layers of experiences and understanding. May your minds coalesce into that of the great mind of the soul so that you may see from this heightened perspective, that perception and knowledge and wisdom that reflects the Truth of God, the great Soul of God, which is a reflection of His Truth into your soul, although limited by its development and awakened state. This will grow and continue to flow to you, beloved souls.

You are the first of many who will walk upon the Earth with a higher vision and deeper truth. You will act in love, wisdom, joy, and great compassion. This will be an example for others. You will see how God will use you in many ways and will guide you upon a path that He has pre-destined for you, so that you are in alignment with His great plan for the salvation of humanity and this world. You will know this path because of the vision of your soul and the understandings that will come within your soul. You will have great joy on this path. You will sense great fulfillment because this path will facilitate the opening of many gifts and abilities within you, many of which you do not know or understand at this time but will come to know and come to express in all harmony and light.

You have ascribed to God's Will and plan, His blessings and Truth, so these things will manifest in many wondrous ways, beautiful and unique. You will come to know the great capacities of your soul mind and express them in powerful ways. The gifts that God has given you will begin to emerge and blossom and come to fruition within your life. It is an exciting time, a time of transformation, of change, of awakening. You spearhead this great wave and you are greatly blessed in this way. You will find what I say to be true. You will see how you have been guided as you look back upon your life, seeing how God has taken such wonderful care of each of you, embraced in His loving arms, blessed abundantly, protected and guided. You will find your way and come to express your true selves.

May God bless you on that journey, beloved souls. I thank you for listening to me once again. I come in love and appreciation of all souls upon this Earth, for this Earth carries a great treasure trove of gifts, of capacities, of wondrous, wondrous souls whom God has created. My hope is that these abilities and potentials will be realized someday and harmony will come, joy will come, the world will come to be vibrant with life and beauty and light.

God bless you, beloveds. I am Jesus. My love is with you all. God bless you.

LESSON 13

Coming Changes Are Full of Challenges and Blessings

This is Jesus. I come to speak of times that are coming in your Earth plane and to assure you that a changed world will not be a world that is hostile to humanity but rather, a world that brings further nurturing and support to those who live upon the Earth plane. It is humanity that has caused itself such great difficulties and erected such barriers against the natural flow and natural order that God has created in your world.

It is only just recently that humanity has come to realize this, that indeed their actions day in and day out multiplied by not just millions but billions of individuals upon this world has created such a condition of stress, imbalance, and disharmony that the world is reacting and responding in ways that your scientists cannot truly predict nor understand.

Your world has its own consciousness. It is not an individual with a soul like yourself but there is a sense of self within the world, your planet Earth. As in all creatures of God, there is instilled within it the capacity to be self-sustaining. There is a wisdom within the consciousness of this planet that will ensure the survival of all things within it. God created your world with intricacy, harmony, beauty, and what your scientists call biodiversity.

Yet, I am always surprised when those individuals of high intellect suggest that all that is of Earth came about in a random way with no plan nor structure intended. Rather, all has come to this point through trial and error and randomness. This attitude in so many ways reflects the human condition in which you live, that the intellect is supreme and has authority and understanding that cannot be easily shaken by alternate thinking and perception. It is a strictly material perspective of life. This perspective has come to motivate many in actions that are truly atrocious and are contrary to the well-being of your world. This I have spoken of in previous lessons. I do not wish to belabour the point other than to say that each and every soul upon your world needs to shift their consciousness toward harmony, light, and truth.

This shift cannot happen without some form of integration of spiritual understanding with material reckoning and without a balanced perspective, one that sees beyond the obvious and the superficial and has an intuitive understanding for that which is of God. I do not speak of a god that has been fabricated in books, described and designated as having certain personality traits and expressions that wholly reflect the human condition rather than that which is and will always be Divine.

Until humanity is willing and able to look within their hearts to see the perspective of their souls, so as to come into alignment with God, they are blind and deaf to the truth. As such, they walk in the world unaware that each step they take has a consequence and each thought that they have has an effect upon the world. As you can well imagine, the collective influence of humanity is that of a sort of virus that is destroying God's creation. I am not suggesting that every individual is evil and dark in their motivations and actions. Merely, that through their blindness and inability to go beyond the recognition of their simple needs in life and the gratification of pleasure in their lives, they cannot see beyond this rudimentary expression of a life gifted by God.

God has orchestrated coming events that will force the awakening of humanity so that a different sort of consciousness may flower within a substantial portion of the human race thereby giving impetus and power to actions that are in greater harmony with God's creation and in time neutralize the damage that has been done by the impact of human endeavours.

God is expressing wave upon wave of blessings and energies that will bring reactions and responses within the natural world and the human world for they are two separate things at this time. These reactions will be baffling to scientists. Much will come in the stead of God's influence upon your world. It will come over a period of time that in the considered history of your world is very short indeed. These energies and reactions will build over time and as they build, they will create adverse conditions in your climate, in your oceans, within the air. This will result in further disruptions of humanity's endeavours.

You have recently experienced such a disruption in the form of a disease which has threatened many. I am saddened to say that more of this sort of disruption will come into your world and will intensify. It will overwhelm the capacity of your medical systems to cope with such things. It will create chaos and difficulties for all upon this planet. These things are not a direct correlation of God's Will for humanity but as I have said, your world within its consciousness is fighting back, so to speak, against the great burden that humanity has put upon it.

As in every system that God has created, it seeks balance and wishes and intends to move forward in greater harmony. Humanity must suffer for its actions, not because God wills it but because humanity has blindly stumbled and considered its own actions as that which gratifies the needs of the mind and the body rather than considered movement toward harmony and grace. Yet, humanity is capable of harmony and grace. Humanity has all that it requires to consider what is indeed in harmony.

Unfortunately, the powers that be in your world are so obsessed with power, wealth, and control that the finer aspects of life and survival are ignored. Your economic systems and priorities will be changed, not willingly, but forcibly by the changing conditions of the world. Every civilization requires a form of commerce and a way in which a sharing of resources may take place. This will not be lost but changed. The way in which you do business, as you call it, will be very different indeed in times to come. The way in which you share your resources will be more localized and will be simplified.

The prolific forms of travel and interaction between countries and all that is entailed in these complex structures will crumble.

It is not that you will be isolated, for you will be able to retain some of your technologies in order to communicate with one another. Indeed, some interaction and travel back and forth will be possible, but the mechanisms and machinery that are required in order to sustain such intensity within these avenues and arenas will be lost in the tumult of Earth changes. Humanity will begin to appreciate the small luxuries that are available to them rather than the gluttony of indulgence, of movement, of busyness that is so prevalent in your western world.

As you can well imagine, there will be great fear and anxiety as these structures collapse and life changes dramatically. You have tasted some of this with the onslaught of the virus that has attacked humanity. In God's mercy, these waves are calibrated in such a way that the intensity will increase as time goes on, as humanity adjusts and becomes strengthened by their resolve to counteract the conditions and challenges that have come with a changing Earth.

You will become strengthened, beloved souls. As we have told you many, many times, that it will be in prayer, in opening up the centers of wisdom within you, the channel toward God that will bring the blessings and understanding forth. As I speak these words of prophecy and prognostication, it is so to inform those who are willing to listen and to warn those who are vulnerable that these conditions and changes are coming to the world. I urge you to prepare yourselves for what is to come. We in the Celestial Kingdom and many spirits in the bright spheres of spirit will be by your side. Although we cannot interfere with your free will, we will do all that is possible to uplift, protect, and guide.

Within three generations, your world will be a very different place. The world will be beautiful and express the true intention of God to make this a place of paradise that is in harmony, a world that sustains itself beautifully, including opportunities for humanity to grow and to live in ways that reflect true physical and spiritual harmony. There will be no wars. As for your physical bodies, they will be strong and vital. Your life spans upon this world will be longer than they are at this time. You will have great respect for one another, love for your children, deep and abiding, and much time to come together in the joyous activities and creative outlets and expressions that are a part of your human nature. Love will proliferate upon your world, within this new beginning. As with any storm, the aftermath will be peaceful as the sun shines once more and nature comes back to glorify God in the expressions of His creation.

Many of you have incarnated upon this world to be a part of these great changes. Each of you has a purpose and function in the reclaiming of your world by God. You are and will be His active agents upon this planet. Those of you who are stepping forward know within your hearts and your souls that indeed God has a plan for you. I urge you to continue to awaken to your souls, to truly come to understand your true selves in all your glory and intricacies and wonderment, for within you are the seeds which need to be planted to regenerate the Earth.

You will be guided. You will come to know God deeply and powerfully within you. You will come to seek His Love, the blessings of the great Divine Love, with ever greater intensity and desire. There will be many opportunities to help teach humanity the way of true love and soulful understanding. As the old ways crumble, so they make way for something new and wonderful.

God will ensure the survival of humanity, not that all souls upon this world will be able to weather this storm; many will pass into the world of spirit, where they will continue on in their progression. But those who do survive, who are in alignment with God and who will be guided each and every day in their actions and expressions, will serve humanity and bring the truth forward, will be the leaders, those to whom others will look up. Many will seek comfort and security with those of you who are strong and forthright in your endeavours to serve God.

For the time being, a wave of change has abated in your world but I assure you, more waves are coming. This current abatement brings an opportunity for all of you to enjoy the last vestiges of human creation, to be in the world as it has been but cannot be. In times to come, I urge you to live each day with a sense of joy, of appreciation, of love, working together; develop your bonds together so that you may support one another and provide strength for one another. Your shared love may indeed strengthen the great Lattice of Light you are building, and with love, you may be instruments to facilitate more Portals of Light in your world; and these portals will play a significant role in bringing forth guidance, manifestations, and blessings to many.

For those who are guardians of portals, I say to you, be forthright and committed to your responsibilities in this regard. Continue to pray for these places, these manifestations and the blessings of God, for the benefit of humanity and the healing of your world. I urge you to continue to awaken to your souls and to continue to endeavour to forge your relationship with your Creator. Seek out His Love with greater intensity and frequency. Utilize these times of peace and calm to continue to strengthen your life in light and to be open to God's guidance and Will in your life.

All need to continue their journey of soul awakening and strengthening. Each of you needs to be strong within your physical body and clear within your mind, so that all the aspects that God has given you, all of those gifts that make up your beautiful soul and being, will come into greater alignment and harmony. You must slough off all that is not in harmony with God's creation. This is crucial, to look within yourself and see those things in need of repair, healing, and harmonization.

This is a great challenge, I know, but as I have indicated, each of you has chosen this challenge. Each of you continues to uncover the great mysteries of your own soul and the purpose of the soul which God has imbued within it. These things come as you awaken. You will find yourself coming to certain truths and insights and shifts of thinking that at times will astound and surprise you. Indeed, your soul is full of many things, many aspects that you are yet to discover.

These blessings will come as you grow in light. You will find yourself with a sense of greater freedom and detachment from the human condition as you allow the release and healing that comes with the gift of God's Love. May you find your way along the path that God has designated for each one of you. May all who are in light in this world be strengthened and blessed by God and awakened and guided, thereby knowing the Will of God with each breath.

You will find yourself in circumstances that will surprise you and also require a great deal from you. During those times when you are guided and needed, God will give you the strength and blessings required in order for you to fulfill the requirements and edicts from God to support and sustain your brothers and sisters. You will come to know His Laws of Creation with great detail and depth. You will be able to see your way through to a place of clarity and have the ability to guide others as the world rebuilds and is reformulated. Many of you have gifts and talents that you do not realize you have. These things will emerge in times to come. Many blessings will flow through you. Great strength will build through you and be sustained through love and by God's Touch, and by your angel friends who walk with you.

In times to come, much will be accomplished by God's servants upon the Earth. May you find yourself among the elected few who have been so deeply blessed by God. May you come to that place of great wisdom, strength, and love that opens the door to untold opportunities of service and comfort to many. Each and every one of you will be a channel of healing and love for your brothers and sisters. As the weary and tired masses huddle together for comfort and out of fear, you will wade within them and speak of truth and radiate love and warmth. It is important that you carry within you a deep sense of humility, for these things that you do and will do for God are not of your doing but of God's doing through you; so maintain equilibrium within you, and through you to God, and through you to your brothers and sisters. This is crucial.

The old ideas of power and adulation cannot be sustained in a new world. The new world will reflect the power of love, humility, and grace, where there is no judgment, no favouritism, where all are valued as equal and loved and cared for, no matter their station in life, no matter who they are in your world at this time.

I urge you forward, beloved souls. I urge you forward. Continue to pray, to seek greater light, to prepare yourselves, and to be within the joy and light of life as it is at this moment, a gift to you.

God bless you, beloved souls. I am your brother and friend, Jesus. God bless you.

LESSON 14

A Soul Transformed by the Blessing of Divine Love can Change the World

July 29, 2021

Beloved souls, I am Jesus. I come once again to give a lesson. The subject of this lesson pertains to the changes that will happen within the individual and, on a grander scale, with the Earth when the light and blessings from God penetrate many souls upon this planet and many aspects of this world.

As your scientists have explained, all aspects of creation include energy; the manipulation of, the transformation and the expression of energy, in the material world. It is similar with the transformation of the individual as their soul receives the blessing of God. The Divine Love, having its own qualities and energies instilled within the soul, changes the make-up of the soul. With this special blessing, this gift of energy and substance of God, invariably the make-up of the soul and the expression of the soul are deeply affected by this gift.

With this gift comes great change, a great transformation and enhancement of many aspects of the soul. The soul resonates upon a different frequency. That frequency continues to be recalibrated with the gift of Divine Love within it. As this recalibration is accomplished and continues to be transformed and manifested on higher levels, resonances of energy, so the emanations of the soul affect all parts of the individual. The very molecules of each cell within the body begin to resonate with this new energetic influence from the soul. This changes the body, in time, so that it too is re-organized and is expressed in harmony with the new properties and energies of the soul gained through prayer.

One's thoughts also are changed and begin to resonate with love. What the individual expresses in the energetic fields that are a part of your life and of the Earth and its expression becomes a powerful element of light within the individual and around the individual as all aspects begin to work in greater harmony together. When the transformation of the soul is well on its way, so the body, the mind, and the spirit are in greater harmony and express less of that which is not in harmony with God's Laws of Love.

So much can change within the individual, given a large quantity of Divine Love within the soul. The individual cannot help but respond and change accordingly. Love flows through all parts of the individual, through all aspects and expressions of the individual. This love intensifies with every blessing of God's gift to the soul and it becomes the motivating agent in all aspects of the individual's life. This Love will resonate out into the world and affect the world accordingly, for the power of love is the greatest power in the universe. The power of God's Love is a creative and expressive force that is higher than any other in the universe, for this is the very Essence of God reflected within the soul.

So much can happen through the expression of this Love, which has changed and is continuing to change the individual. Their motivations, their gifts, and their expressions in the world will become more in harmony with God's Will and God's laws. This may not bring an immediate response or reflection of the blessing of God's Love but it does come to be as the individual accepts and integrates the change that is happening within the soul.

In time the individual becomes a new person as they are reborn in Love. Their expression in every instance is beautiful to behold and wondrous in its power to bring change into the world. As God's instruments of change, each soul redeemed or partially redeemed in the Father's Love has a great influence upon your world. This may not be seen in an overt way, although there are certainly times when blessings and what you might call miracles may be manifested. As the soul brings light through its connection with God into the world, so the overall energetic vibration upon your planet is changed and influenced by this individual.

Collectively, many individuals may indeed exert a great influence in the world, provided they are attuned to God and attuned to one another. This body of souls in the Light of God's Truth and Love may have the potential to change your world and certainly to change the thinking of many others. The truth catches from one soul to another, its flame burning bright and lighting many others in the Truth of God's Love.

I know that for many of you it is challenging to be in this world and to express the Truth of God's Love in this world, for many do not want to acknowledge this and are indeed apathetic toward it. Yet, as you continue to grow in light, so the influence that you carry and the channel that you are will intensify. There will be a tipping point at some time in this world of yours where this truth will be accepted and commonly known.

God is working diligently to infuse His blessings and various energetic influences upon your world in order that it may create a receptive condition that may influence the minds of many. With your exertions, efforts and prayers, expressions of light in the world, you are assisting God in this great transformation that must come and will come to your world.

It is a very fluid and dynamic time and much is happening. With the beginnings of every important change or transformation, there are times of stress and anxiety, of questioning, and being unsure of all that is in one's life. When you are feeling this condition, your souls are especially attuned to the conditions and blessings that God is bringing upon the world. You may feel discomfort, anxiety, and restlessness, but rest assured, my beloved friends, it is only the beginning of something wonderful where you are shedding much that is not in harmony with God. You must do so with the utmost efficiency and timing so that you are ready for what is to come.

Just as you are changing from the influence and effects of the great blessing of Divine Love within you, so the world itself, the Earth, is also changing and responding to the blessings and effect that God is having upon His beautiful creation. We too are responding in harmony with God's plan and efforts to change the world. God has made this more possible to express our influence and presence upon this world and that of the bright spirits of the spirit world to come to help humanity. A great influence is being exerted upon the minds of many, bringing them to a sense and longing for something of light, harmony, and love.

This great conspiracy of light and love continues to be enacted upon your world. It is bringing change. It is opening up many souls to higher truths and understanding. It is for each of you who carry this great truth, this great power that is transformative and influences everything to exert yourselves and bring those who are willing to listen to the Truth of God's Love and its effects upon the individual.

You are given a great responsibility. Many of you just begin this journey and feel you have little knowledge to share, but I tell you, when you stand up and speak the truth to others, God will infill you with this truth and inspire you with the words to speak it clearly. The light will intensify around you as the angels gather close in support and love of your efforts. Do not fear to speak, beloved souls. Do not fear to express your love in the world.

Many have been hurt by the judgments of your world. Many feel protective and anxious and worry about the consequences of their actions that are different from those around them. I say to you that it is your test of faith to walk in the world as God's channels of love and truth. Though you may indeed receive rejection and people may turn their backs on you but you have instilled seeds. You have been an instrument for God to work upon these individuals. As you continue to step forward in light, so you are re-enforcing the light and having its effects upon the souls of those around you.

As I have said, it may cause them discomfort. They may feel embarrassed for you. But, truly these feelings, these judgments are the reaction of the soul that is compelled to turn to light but the mind resists and the mind judges. It is easier to reject the individual who speaks truth than it is to acknowledge the lacking of their true selves in terms of light, love, and truth.

This is the way of the world as you well know. But there are always those who are strong and can indeed stand for truth and light and have their influence upon the world, bringing a semblance of harmony to it. I beseech those of you who are willing to stand forth in light to be those harbingers of truth, to be in harmony with God's Will and desire that humanity will know the truth and therefore be able to make the choice.

The world is changing as you are changing. Life in this world will be very different in the future. The values and priorities and desires of the individual will be vastly different than what they are at this time. You must be the example. Although, you too struggle and often have one foot firmly planted within the material desires and perspectives and one within the soul and that of God. This creates its own dilemmas, its own challenges.

But truly, you are continuing to grow and to change. You will find your way. It is not a sin to be in the world and enjoy those good things that God has created for your benefit and your pleasure. It is a sin when these things are not in balance and contradict the Laws of God. As you continue to grow upon this path of love, you will find yourself questioning many things for as you are more sensitized to your own soul, so these thoughts and perceptions bubble forth.

The desire for greater harmony will come to the forefront of your consciousness. You will be challenged, beloved souls. But also, you will challenge others. This is part of the great process and effects of God's blessings upon your world and upon your soul. Indeed, these are challenging times for all of you but these are times of great potential, great blessings, great understanding, and great transformation. What more could you wish for in life but one that is dynamic and filled with many blessings, many shifts of consciousness and understanding with much love growing within your heart and soul?

This is a life well-lived and it is my desire to inspire you, beloved souls, toward a life well-expressed in truth. May you come to the truth more fully, more richly in a deep and abiding way that will truly change you and change your actions, your thoughts, and your expressions of love and light. God will guide you upon this path, will send His angels to accompany you and continue to teach and direct, protect and inspire you.

These are the overt outcomes of the great changes that are happening within you as each aspect of yourself, every cell, every part of you continues to respond to the great blessings of God's Love. You will not recognize yourselves ten years hence if you are sincere upon this path for, in the coming times, the intensity of change, the effects and outcomes of great change will be powerful and undeniable. As you come into greater alignment with God, so you will come to see yourselves much differently and see others in the light of love, compassion, and truth. As your numbers continue to grow and build, so the outcomes, blessings, and effects of your ministry will widen and deepen in the world.

Your time comes, beloved souls. God has blessed you deeply and continues to do so. May you find your way on the path that God has designated for you. May you find that road full of joy, deepened with insights and truth and knowledge, widened by love, an expression of love and joy so deep, so abiding that your life will take on a hue that is beautiful, a fragrance that is alluring, a beauty that is beyond your imaging.

This awaits you, beloved souls, and every soul who comes to God in this way, humbly beseeching God with all earnestness to receive the gift of His Love. It will come in great abundance. The floodgates will open and the love will flow, washing over you, cleansing you, changing you so that in time, all that is you will be different and changed, healed, and in great joy and light.

Join me upon this road and we shall know the wonders and glories of God together. God's gift to you is His Love. This gift will be expressed in many forms and ways, expressions and manifestations that will be of light and truth. May you continue to know the peace of God's Presence with you. May you continue upon this path, this journey. I am with you always, your brother and friend Jesus. I will continue to speak of the wonders of God's transformative Love and how this will bring you great joy.

God bless you. God bless you, beloveds. My love is with you.

LESSON 15

Being an Effective Change Agent in the World

August 6, 2021

May God bless you and bring His Love deep within your soul. I am Jesus. I come once again to speak about matters of your Earth plane and to inspire those who are willing to listen to my words so that they may affect change within their lives and within this world.

How does one affect change in an ever-changing world? How does one make their mark upon this world by their actions and efforts which have their effects upon this world? Each mortal is endowed with the gift of free will, with a mind, a spirit, and a soul, all of these things collaborating together, bring the individual to decisions and choices with each day. Yet, the vast majority of souls in your world feel impotent in the way in which they may affect change upon your world.

It is indeed difficult from the mind's perspective to make choices and to formulate actions and ideas that may be contrary to the culture and flow of thought of those within their communities. Yet, this considered effort must indeed come with the harmonization of the wisdom of the soul, combined with the desire of the spirit and the structure of the mind, working together to enact those efforts that are designed to bring change and to affect change in the world.

Unfortunately, humanity is stuck within the ideas and perspectives of the mind and rarely goes beyond this perspective. From this perspective alone, there is little that the mind can truly perceive and do to affect change that is positive and reflects wisdom. Instead, most take the road of least resistance and act out their lives in accordance with what has been taught and what you call "programmed" into their daily routines and goals. Because your world focuses upon materialism more than anything else, often the goals of individuals reflect a materialistic focus.

Few are able or have the desire to go beyond this focus, for the goals of materialism are to thwart fear; the fear of being poor, of being helpless, of being without. In your material societies, the message is to work hard, to consider accumulating as much material wealth as possible, and to live a life that is, in the eyes of your cultures, successful and abundant. Unfortunately, this perspective imposes a great price on humanity: that of a world out of balance, of life out of balance, a life that is filled with material thought and desire but lacking the substance of love, light, and harmony. In this condition, indeed the individual is quite impotent and unable to affect any serious change within themselves and within their lives. They are lost within the flow of the human condition and for many, they are unaware of this plight.

This is why we suggest that humanity is sleeping, for the level of their awareness is small to minuscule in comparison to what can be within the individual. Their day-by-day actions and plight merely reflect and reinforce the darkness of the human condition, which is governed by materialism, greed, fear, and the desires of the flesh. Indeed, it is a very sad state of affairs, one that is in deep need of healing and rectification.

We from the Celestial Kingdom and the bright spirits from the spirit world work diligently to help rectify this condition, to neutralize the ignorance, fear, and darkness. We help to inspire humanity to higher thought and motivation, so as to be in the world as an individual empowered, full of possibility, full of the ability to act in ways that are more in harmony with God's creation and laws. Without wisdom, one cannot act and bring forth change that is in harmony with God. Wisdom must come from the soul and bubble forth into the consciousness of the individual. Without a foundation laid in alignment with God, in harmony with love, that which creates light, truth, and a life that is filled with the deeper fulfillment of the soul and the spirit, then that which you see, embedded within the human condition, continues to proliferate.

Beloved souls, it is time for a change. Every soul upon this planet is feeling this need. Every soul knows within its very depths that there is a need for change, that there is a need to seek something higher, better, of greater light and greater harmony. The soul within the individual has a desire to act and express itself. Yet, because it is buried under layer upon layer of thought and conditions which have accumulated from the very beginning of mortal life, it is difficult for the soul to communicate in a conscious way to the individual. Though within them a flame continues to burn; often, the muffled awareness of that flame ignites an anxiousness within the individual, a sense of unease, a sense that not all is well. Rather than turn to God in prayer, which would bring a harmonious response their unease, sadly, in order to assuage this uneasiness, the individual often busies themselves with many things that entertain the mind and keep them occupied to such a degree that the longings of the soul seem very distant indeed.

Each of you entertains these patterns to some degree or another. As you do so, you empower your mind to continue on its course to be in control and to act in accordance with those paradigms and structures that are embedded within the mind. Yet, humanity is on the verge of great change, change that is coming because of the great resistance within each individual upon this planet of yours to truly affect change within their lives.

This resistance comes with a deep reticence to give up any and all of one's material accumulations, thoughts, and perspectives. To do so would bring deep anxiety to most if not all of humanity. Yet, this must be the case to the degree that greater harmony will come to your world, because the demands of humanity must be lessened and the material hunger dampened. If humanity lives a more humble and simple life upon your world, this is not to say that all that you have created and all the technologies and inventions of humanity will be cast aside. But indeed, the world will demand that these things are within their proper place and balanced within human life, that extreme materialism gives way to something that is less demanding both upon the individual and upon your world.

Therefore, your economies will change. Your motivations and ambitions will change. This is the first step toward gaining greater wisdom. God's plan is a desire for humanity to come to its senses because God has placed within every mortal the capacity to truly live a life that is in harmony with God's creation. Unfortunately, that sense of what is in harmony and balance is very much lost at the moment. Because of this deep loss of wisdom, humanity suffers greatly. Although, when many of you look around in your lives, at your families, your friends, and your loved ones, you see contentment, material abundance, a life that is lived as full and rich in many ways. But as I have said, this comes at a great price. With the mind fulfilled or at least filled with many material thoughts and ambitions, the soul is lacking and deeply deprived of what it requires to flourish.

Many of you continue upon this course of busyness, of material and mindful engagement that fills your days, satisfying the desires of your mind and your body but not acknowledging the desires of your soul. How can you truly affect change, change that is harmony with God, if your souls continue to be malnourished and ignored? The consciousness of the soul could bring many solutions to your daily problems and dilemmas. For the consciousness of the soul, ignited with the gift of Divine Love, God's Essence, enlivening the soul, the depth and breadth of wisdom that can be had by the individual through an awakened soul, is truly astounding and remarkable; this exists as potential within each individual.

In order to affect change upon your world, change that is necessary, change that is required at this time, the soul must be awakened. The consciousness of the soul must come into engagement with the material consciousness of the individual. In other words, each individual in your world must awaken from their slumbers, stepping forward into higher consciousness, higher understanding of who they are, where they are going, and what purpose they may have, living upon this Earth plane.

With these things alive within the individual's awareness, it will inform their decisions accordingly, informing their actions and their thoughts. Many of you speak of evolution, that indeed humanity continues to evolve and this is the truth. God continues to direct the world in such ways that evolution may take place, that humanity may evolve into a higher level of consciousness, a state of being that incorporates higher wisdom and higher thought and actions that are more in harmony with God's Laws of Creation. But in order to do so, ignorance must be dispelled. This lower level of awareness, consciousness, and action must be transformed so that humanity may see things from a very different perspective.

As I have said many times, prayer is the key to opening the door to higher consciousness. It is important that each individual utilize this great Law of Activation that comes with prayer. That way, the deeper levels of consciousness may be awakened and come to full awareness. This is done as the soul is awakened incrementally with sincere prayers for the gift of God's Love. This is the teaching which I taught 2000 years ago and the teaching which I still teach.

True change cannot be enacted without the soul awakening. Yes, there will be an evolution of men's thoughts and paradigms of understanding in the material sense but this is inadequate to rectify the conditions that have been built over millennia by the concerted efforts of men to control this world and thereby control their destinies. Few understand that the wisdom that comes from the mind cannot fully understand or comprehend the wonderment of God's creation or the wonderment of all that is around you at this moment. With humility, humanity can come to know that deeper place within them.

In your material world, there is a great reluctance to come to God, for it is considered an act of weakness and supplication to something greater than themselves. With the vanity that is present within so many in your world, there is a feeling that they are powerful, most powerful, that indeed they can enact their desires without consequence. This is woefully wrong and brings much pain, not only to humanity but to all of the world. All the creatures, all that God has created, suffer from the vanity of the individual and their collective imposition upon the world.

Few understand this, nor do they wish to understand this. Even from a young age, the individual is taught to be powerful, and that this is the road to a successful, fulfilling life. Some upon your world have accumulated vast sums in order to fulfill this mandate of power and control. Many have suffered as a result of their accumulations and greed. Of course, these individuals have buffered themselves from their suffering by piling luxury upon luxury around them, and distraction upon distraction.

These poor souls have sacrificed much within their own spiritual selves in order to comply with their desire for material goods and power. It is not just the wealthy. It is many of you who continue to put your focus upon luxuries and material gains, the trappings of the material world, so that you are deeply bereft of a fulfilled soul. Many of you stand with one foot in the spiritual consciousness and one in the material. This at times causes you some distress. You cry to God, “Why are you not blessing me in a way that I so desire to be blessed?” Often that blame goes to God, from your mind to God’s Soul. Yet, the answer is that it is through your own free will that you choose. It is through your actions that you reap the rewards and the consequences. It is through the conditions that you make within yourself, the actions that are in your daily life, the thoughts that you carry, the fears that you hold onto, the error that continues to exist within you. All of these things inform your life and your spiritual awareness.

Rather than blaming God or even having a sense of frustration and weariness, I say to you, exercise your faith. Bring yourself to prayer. Not a pleading prayer that says, God, heal me of these conditions. Take me away from the burden that I carry. Rather, Beloved God, open my soul more fully to your Love. Help me come to that place of true soul awareness and understanding. Help me to be strong enough to make those choices that will reinforce this awareness and this condition of the soul. Your salvation lies within your souls, beloveds. That which holds you from your salvation lies within the choices that you make on a daily basis. The material world pulls you in many different directions. The desire for material goods reinforces your mindful considerations and actions. These things in themselves are not a sin but as I have indicated, these conditions and actions are out of balance with God’s laws and need to be placed back into balance.

You have a mind, a mind that is willful, a mind that makes choices, often consciously. Yet, you do not utilize your mind in a way that will neutralize the conditions that you so suffer from in this material world. If you set your mind to a desire to be in prayer and then release your mind's compulsion to entertain many thoughts that are not relevant to prayer, then you are well on your way to opening the door to your soul. It requires discipline and deep desire and longing. But with a mind disciplined and a soul longing, you will inevitably come to a place of knowing and acknowledging your Creator and feeling His Presence with you. His Presence is always with you, beloved souls, as are the many angels that come to support and uplift you but it is for you to struggle toward that awareness, that consciousness. With success in these efforts, you will truly be able to enact change that is in harmony with God, God's Will, and God's laws.

It often feels, from your perspective, a great leap from all that you have known and all that you aspire toward in terms of the material world. But indeed, this great change must come. A change that must come with each individual. Provided there are a number of individuals who have truly come to this soul awareness and understanding, then they together may enact a great change within the world, for the power of their light and their consciousness, wisdom and understanding, love and the grace, in which they walk and act, will influence the conditions of your world. They will push back the darkness and the ignorance that is so profound and prevalent in your world.

It takes one to begin. Yet, God gives you many to support you and to support one another. God has guided many of you together, has taught you many things, and brought through many truths and understandings of the soul, the spirit, and the mind so that you may ruminate and consider these things within your mind, in hopes that these truths may sink down into your soul and help you open those great chambers of your soul.

God provides all for His children. In this material world, much is provided for your sustenance, for a good life. Yet, so many have such a deep hunger, an insatiable hunger for more of the material, in order to escape from the anguish that lies within the soul. That anguish often feels like a great emptiness within. To fill the void, the individual seeks conscious stimulus, satisfying the desires of the flesh and the mind, continuing to sustain the consciousness on that surface level; such understanding cheats the individual from the true wonderment and expression of their beautiful, individual selves.

I speak of enacting change in the world. I say to you that change begins with the individual. With the experiences that one will encounter through knowing God and awakening their own soul through God's blessings, it is inevitable that that individual will act differently within your material plane. That difference will be noticed by others, some who will reject this new expression and some who will be drawn and assist you upon your journey.

This is the way of the world, as free will is embedded in everything that humanity does and is. Yet, when the soul is awakened, it begins to understand another way of being, a journey that includes God and God's guidance and wisdom that flows into the soul. It requires a journey from the soul through to the mind, with a mind that no longer resists but welcomes the beauty and wonderment and insights of the soul and its understanding of truth. This journey encompasses morals, ambitions and desires that bring greater harmony to the individual and to all that is around the individual.

Nothing is lost with God, but all is gained in this great awakening; a changing perspective and depth of wisdom and understanding that comes with love. The power of love is what will change your world. The power of love expressed through each individual who is attuned to God and is a channel of love for God will affect many changes in your world, for the soul who is attuned to God's Love and is infilled with God's Love cannot help but be an agent of change in the world. For to merely to walk in the world as a light so imbued by love is to bring change, to affect all around you.

With a soul attuned to God and receiving the guidance of God, the inspiration of God, that soul will know the routes and roads to take in order to enact God's Will and to fulfill what is known as God's plan for the salvation of humanity. Each has its place within that plan. Each soul that is attuned to God will know its place within it. You will find your way, beloved souls, provided you seek the way, through prayer.

I have spent many hours explaining to each of you the way. There are books upon books that have the truth of this way within it. There is no shortage of truth in your world, rather, there is a great lack of action. The passivity of humanity is great. Its resistance, its apathy continues to allow those who act for their own betterment and power to do as they like and to enact what they think is the right path in the idea that this is for the betterment of humanity. But because of the ignorance in the world and the error, a great deal of what these individuals do in the world, those with power, are misguided and often self-motivated. Altruism does not exist in your world. There are very few who practise altruism for the benefit of others. The scale of this is minuscule compared to the scale of those who are acting out of self-gratification and empowerment.

Many things need to be changed in your world. God will ensure that those opportunities and doors will open for change to be enacted in a way that will bring greater harmony. Those who are willing to act and those who are in alignment with God and with all that is of God's laws and all that is of love and those who are strong enough and willing to step forward in this way will be greatly rewarded and greatly blessed and will have many opportunities put before them in order to enact God's Will and plan.

This is the only way that true change will come to your world, a change that does not include nor encompass the will of man, that does not reflect the evolution of the natural mind and ideas of man. Rather, it is a way that strips man of his sense of entitlement, power and control and brings them to humility and a choice to follow that which is of God, or to be alone and without power, without all that made him feel powerful and comfortable within his error and darkness.

Unfortunately, it is a harsh reality that is coming, because humanity has refused to look and continues to sleep. God will rouse them from their slumbers and force them to re-evaluate their lives, themselves, those conditions in which they live. Yet, through these difficult times will come many opportunities for those of you attuned to God to help educate, comfort, and heal the lost souls who have been awakened by God's Touch upon them.

The time of preparation grows short. Your time of dedication must be a powerful motivation in your life. You must come into greater alignment with God, coming to know your true selves. Seeing that all that is around you that is life at present is the delusion of man, rather than the Will of God. It is not for you to lash out and correct this unfortunate situation. Rather, it is for you to go within and be with God at this time, to truly allow God to transform your soul with His Love, to awaken you thusly, so that you may act in harmony and reflect fully the Will and plan of God.

I ask much of you, beloved souls, but indeed, much is required at this time. There is much needed. There is a great awakening coming and for each of you, great possibilities and opportunities set forth upon your path. Be strengthened, beloveds, in all of your being, your physical, your spiritual, and your soul. Be strong. Be in alignment and attunement with God, and you will find yourselves upon a wondrous path, a path that will avoid much of the suffering that is coming, a path that will bring you fulfillment, a path that will bring you joy. God's Love for you is great. His desire for you to be in alignment with Him is great, but God will not usurp your free will. It is for you to choose, with each breath, the alignment that God has proffered to you with His Love and Truth and His angels by your side.

May God bless you upon that journey, beloved souls. I am your brother and friend, your companion upon this journey. I am Jesus and my love for each of you, for all of humanity is great. May light come to your world. This is my fervent prayer. May all upon your world find peace and harmony, love and truth. God gives all of these things to those who desire to receive. May your desires be strong and the Love of God within you flourish, so that it is expressed with every breath and every aspect of your life. God bless you. God bless you.

LESSON 16

Calling All Light Bringers to Help Build a New World

August 10, 2021

I am Jesus. I come once again to speak, to share my perceptions and wisdom with you, for as you know, the world is in deep need of truth, understanding, light, wisdom, compassion and love.

Alarms are sounding around the world at this time as each individual soul begins to realize that all is not well. Even those who insulate themselves well from earthly conditions which are unpleasant and threatening are coming to realize that life as they know it is coming to an end and that great changes are upon all of you in your world. Within the atmosphere of your world is a sense of distress which is felt by those of you who are sensitive, and it colours your thinking and perceptions for the moment. There are also those of you who are more detached and find that the events of the world are at arm's length rather than responding within your own emotions informing your actions.

It is important at this time to have great faith and yes, to calm yourself in the face of what appears to be great danger and upheaval, for as we have spoken of in the past, so these things are coming to fruition as you look upon this great wave cresting before you and threatening to engulf you. Indeed, your primal reaction is that of fear and concern. But I say to you, my beloved brothers and sisters, that there is little you can do at this time to prevent the events that are imminent, other than to be in a state of prayer, to trust that God will guide and protect you through all that is to come. It is likely that some of these events will touch you, for indeed some are so powerful that you will feel its touch and effect upon your lives. Many of you have already done so, to a degree, but you have seen others suffer more. You have recognized that danger is present and to some degree have taken the precautions required in order to insulate yourselves from these things.

Many are very fortunate in terms of geography and their material circumstance, so that they are not as easily affected by such conditions. Each of you have perceptions, intelligence, a sense of what is needed in these conditions. You also walk in faith, allowing God to guide you forward through the tumult of Earth changes and upheavals.

These things will not come as one great, cataclysmic event. Rather, conditions will worsen in certain areas at certain times. Each of you, as I have said, will feel the touch of these changes in your life. It is my hope that you prepare yourselves accordingly, for each of you are required to fortify yourselves against this tumult. It is done primarily through prayer and faith, expunging the fear from your mind, replacing it with a trust in God's Will and guidance.

As such, you will be instruments of change in the world. You will assist God in ushering in a new world, a new beginning for humanity, a beginning that will include wiping away much of humanity's blight upon this world. In preparation and understanding of that which comes, you must see how you too contribute to this darkening of the conditions of the world, for none of you are immune from this responsibility and the actions that have been taken by all of humanity which have desecrated much of your world.

I have spoken several times of the condition that has been created and the error and ignorance that is proliferated throughout the world. But now comes the time when humanity reaps the whirlwind of its actions. The power of humanity upon the world is great, and so the reactions that come are great. Great swaths of humanity will suffer and lose their place upon the material world and exit into the spirit world as changing conditions manifest and reactions bring harsh outcomes to the world.

It is often the poor and the ignorant who suffer the most. Those who are empowered in the material sense and use their minds and intelligence to thwart and avoid reactions of the Earth rebelling against humanity tend to immunize themselves against those harsh outcomes that manifest. Although, even those who are within this group will suffer eventually as conditions in the world intensify and change comes in such a powerful way that none can avoid it nor hide from it.

As I have repeated many times, these are serious times. Much is coming that you cannot predict. Much is coming that without deep faith and listening to your own guidance, you will not be able to avoid. Yet, I assure you, beloved souls, those of you who walk in the Light and Truth of God's Love and those of you who have awakened your soul to some degree and opened your minds to greater truth, those whom you call "light bringers," will be guided and protected and shown the way forward. It is not that you will be immune from all that will come, but you will survive these outcomes and find yourself in positions of leadership, positions of teaching others what they must learn in order to adapt to a new world.

We prepare you and we offer you sanctuary from the darkness. We show you the way forward, the way to truth, the way to God, the way to harmony. We uplift you each and every day. Yet, often you take for granted these efforts that are made on your behalf. This is a reflection of your own humanness and the human condition, for the material world distracts you. Your minds continue to play out their patterns and perceptions that are often distorted and in error. Yet, you continue to pray, to reach out to God, seeking greater harmony. Although that harmony is often fleeting, it comes with the ministrations of the angels and God's Touch upon your souls

There are many in your world who have incarnated at this time in order to help facilitate the changes that are required and are coming rapidly upon your Earth. Within their souls, they know this. They sense a greater purpose that awaits them. God in His wisdom and timing will reveal to each individual the purpose that has been implanted within their souls. This will come often in revelation, a dawning of awareness that reflects the progress that has been made by that soul toward the light. When the tipping point in the soul is reached, then all becomes clear. There comes clear understanding, clear perception, and clear purpose. This comes with a soul beginning to awaken and emerging into the consciousness of the individual, for it is within the soul that these things reside. It comes with the soul having a voice as clarity comes to the consciousness of those who are seeking truth, seeking to serve, those who have a great love for their brothers and sisters. This consciousness is strengthened day by day as understanding trickles forth into the minds of each individual, building and infusing truth and clarity with each prayer and each day that unfolds in that individual's life.

As conditions intensify in your world, so there is a speeding up of the process of awakening and understanding. God is ensuring that many of those souls who have been seeded with purpose may awaken before the time comes where they must act. God is doing so through blessing this world of Earth with many energies and elements that are expediting the awakening of humanity.

Within every soul upon your world, there is an inkling that something greater is coming. Unfortunately, many greet this small perception with fear and seek to hide from it. In the time that is coming very quickly, humanity cannot hide and will have their eyes opened to the truth of their existence, their actions, and spiritual and material conditions. This will be a time of great anguish within the world. Many will be greatly disoriented, for the underpinnings of their life will no longer exist. They will feel as if they have been set adrift in a sea of emotions, perceptions, and need.

Stability will come through the ministration of God's agents upon the Earth. Those of you who are willing to take up this call will be guided and know fully what you must do in order to bring calm, peace, wisdom and solutions to humanity. There will be many of you who will take up this call. There will be much to act upon in your world. Yet, at this time, those of you who hear these words are not entirely clear as to what you are to do and what destiny you are to fulfill.

In time clarity will come. As I have said, it requires the maturity of the soul and the understanding that comes with the soul awakened by the gift of the Father's Love upon it and within it. Your time is coming, beloved souls. The opportunities will be great and the challenges will be great but you will be prepared. Like all things that are part of God's Garden, He seeds this garden with many seedlings, and some will sprout and some will not.

It is my wish that those of you who take seriously these words and feel within yourselves a sense of purpose, a sense of moving forward as God's instruments, that you will take these things to heart and pray for awareness and understanding to come. How else will the world be saved but by those who are willing to act on God's behalf in the world, to be guided daily, moment-by-moment, to sacrifice their own needs for the needs of others? In this way, all needs are met. To love your brothers and sisters as you love yourselves and your families and extend this love out to the lost and hungry children of your world who are continuing to cry out in need and despair.

As God calls upon you, He will require extraordinary efforts from you and through you. You will need to be strong, beloved souls. You will need to be faithful and diligent in your prayers and clear and pure in your motives. If you are tainted by the fear and the error that persists in your world, you cannot be an effective teacher and leader in the world. You must be in the world but not of it, carrying the banner of truth and love for humanity and point the way.

Many will follow, given your steadfastness, light and love. You cannot waiver and doubt as the world crumbles when the reality of man gives way to the reality of God, for when this transition is complete, the great reward will come to each of you and all those who have survived this change. Your world will then be in greater harmony. The stresses and difficulties that you experience today will be replaced by opportunities and possibilities that will come with the new conditions of your world.

I have spoken of these things, that much support and help will be given to humanity in this time of great need and great possibilities. You will find great joy at the end of these great challenges. You will find peace and you will see the way forward. For God will give you the vision and the understanding required to see beyond the limitations of the human intellect through to the awakenings and knowings of the soul; a soul which will have a far greater capacity to express and to make real in the world those things that are required for human survival and human life that is in harmony with God's laws.

Your dilemmas will no longer exist. They will be replaced by wisdom and a deep understanding of the mechanics of God's universe. In this way, many new inventions and ways of providing for your material needs will come. A sort of paradise on Earth will emerge, in time. This will foster greater light, truth and understanding, deeper wisdom and knowledge within humanity. In the reset of humanity's onward progression and presence upon this world, the harmony of creation will flourish. The truth about the purpose and meaning of life will be evident within each individual. There will be no more misunderstandings and distortions of the spiritual life of man. The truth will reign supreme upon your world and love will be the currency.

I know this sounds unrealistic and very idealistic, but it will come to pass. It must come to pass at this time. Otherwise, humanity will continue down a road that is very destructive indeed. God's intervention, the intervention of the angels, the intervention of Mother Earth, and all the forces that conspire and are a part of life will ensure that the correction is made, so that the world will know greater harmony. This will reverberate through the spheres of spirit, assisting in the healing of many who are in darkness at this time.

It is a time of great momentum, of powerful change, of the unfolding of a new world. May you all act as midwives in its birth and be used in accordance with your purpose, your gifts and abilities. May you be pure in thought and strong within yourself, so as to thwart any darkness and error that may try to impinge upon your thinking and your actions. You are needed as God's instruments.

I wish for each of you to spend time in contemplation and prayer regarding this message and to ask God to bring clarity to your mind and your soul, that His Love may blossom in your soul. That the passage of understanding may intensify and clarify your relationship with God, and strengthen to such a degree that nothing will inhibit your efforts and instrumentality, which will express God's Will upon this world.

You are all lights. Those of you who can hear my words know that within your soul is a great light, for within your soul, what I have spoken resonates with truth and assures you that what is meant to be will come to pass. You, beloved souls, each one, are God's beloved children who will find your way upon this unstable ground that is the world in transition. You will walk upon a path that is guided by God. You will know your purpose and find your way beyond the speculations of the mind and see clearly the power of your soul's knowing. Many will follow each one of you who are willing to do this for God and for your love of humanity. You will save many souls from great turmoil and suffering. God will guide you in ways that will bring refuge and peace and comfort to your brothers and sisters. Light will shine upon you, beloved souls, and manifestations will emanate through you in order to assure those who are lost that there is hope and there is a direction toward the light.

Much is coming, beloved souls, as you feel and know. The world that you know now is a mirage, an illusion created by man. The world that is coming and emerging in this time will have a powerful reality that is the manifestation of God's creation and Will, rather than that of man. May your eyes see clearly, beloved souls. May you come to understand who you truly are. May you come to see life as it truly is, which is a passage to greater soul awareness and development, transitioning from being human toward a soul awakened to its great potential, which dwells in harmony with the Divine through the gift of the Father's Love upon it.

May God bless you on that journey, beloved souls. May it be clear. May it be joyful. May it be filled with wisdom and love, for this is God's desire for all of you; that life may be an awakening, a knowing, a joyful journey toward greater alignment and at-onement with God. I am with you on that journey and shall always be with you.

God bless you, beloveds. I am your brother and friend, Jesus. God bless you.

LESSON 17

Some Details Concerning Coming Changes in Your World

October 01, 2021

May God bless you deeply with His Divine Love, my beloveds. I come to continue my dissertations to your world. Today I wish to speak upon the coming changes in your world and what will manifest in the world that will bring greater light and blessings to your world.

At this time, you are on the verge of great transformation. Although the world continues to feel familiar and part of those conditions that you know and live within, these things will begin to change and bring about great shifts in awareness and experience. You will begin to reorganize your thinking, your priorities, your desires. As the energetic conditions of your world are influenced by God's blessings upon it, so this opens up various capacities and perceptions that have been for the most part hidden and unrecognized within humanity. A deeper and greater sensitivity will come to each individual. This will open the faculties of the psychic abilities and the tender heart within each individual, that is a reflection of the natural love.

These increased sensitivities and perceptions will open the door to many, so that they may see the world as it truly is and that they may see themselves as they truly are. The veil will be lifted and humanity will not be able to live within its own illusions and fantasies, but rather come to the truth of its own being and existence. In many respects, this will horrify those who have, before this, not looked nor have they seen with any depth the deprivation that exists within the material world. A deprivation that has been created by man; and man persists upon sustaining it, falsely believing that this is and must be the way of life in the material world.

The edict from mankind that insists that this is reality and this is the truth is in fact error and delusion. Though it's true that humanity has created many conditions and situations in the world that have correlations and responses, in terms of human life; unfortunately, this is a perversion of God's creation and brings about its consequences because of it. You all live in a darkened world filled with much error, a human condition filled with deceit. The time comes and is upon you where deceit and error are beginning to disperse and be cleansed from this world.

The power of the human condition, as I have said often, threatens the very vitality of your world. Humanity has objectified the world and put the natural world at arm's length, so there is indeed great disharmony within all that is of God's creation, including humanity. This deceit and error cannot continue, for the world must be sustained and light must return. It must become a place where harmony exists.

Remember that harmony is not perfection. Perfection is never obtained, because the creation of God is always dynamic and changing. Therefore, perfection cannot be obtained, because perfection requires a static environment, rather than one that is fluid.

In order for change and harmony to exist together, there must be an exercise of God's Laws to such an extent that the road toward harmony is made possible. God created the world so that it may evolve toward harmony and greater light. With the exception of humanity which has free will, all that God has created is destined to exercise the law toward harmony. Free will choice is not given to anything within God's existence, other than humanity and similar humanoid beings on other planets, who have a soul within them.

As I have said, there are beings who inhabit many other planets. They too are subject to God's Laws and they too have the gift of free will. Some of these beautiful beings who are in the light have very developed souls, souls that are in harmony with God's Laws of Love. These souls continue to grow within the Truth of God's Love, they are coming to assist humanity in this great transition.

At the beginning of this great transition, humanity will suffer deep pangs of regret, as their eyes are opened and they see for themselves the damage that they have done to the world, to each other and to themselves. This heartbreaking experience is not required for humanity to change, but because of their insistent resistance to change and accept God's Laws and Laws of Love, the consequences bring difficult and harsh results. This awakening, however harsh it may be, is necessary. Humanity has chosen this. As humanity has chosen time and time again to put its will, its insistence on creating human reality to overlay God's reality, so the suffering continues, so the world continues to be degraded every moment and every breath. Though there are some attempts to rectify these wrongdoings, it is feeble in respect to what is needed, and needed quickly, for the pace of degradation continues to increase and cause much suffering, depleting the Earth of those resources and conditions of light that sustain the Earth.

Your Earth is slowly dying. To some, this is evident. But indeed, the machinery and workings of the human condition and creation continue to forge ahead, believing that it must sustain what humanity has created. There is great fear that lives in the hearts of many. There is little desire to change in such a way that all is re-calibrated and awakened to something new, thus God must insist on bringing those responses and blessings to the world that will ensure that change will take place.

There is little humanity can do to resist this coming awakening. As we have said many times, it is important for those who understand the power of prayer, who understand the power of God's Love to awaken the individual, it is important for those souls to be consistent and persistent in their own prayer lives. They must ask God to prepare them for this awakening, to infuse within them that which is needed for the soul to awaken. That God may give them a conscious understanding of what is taking place and what will take place. In this, those individuals who are willing and open to these blessings will be empowered and able to assist God in transforming the world into something of greater light and harmony, so to reset the evolution of your world on the course that is meant to be and is destined to be.

Many aspects of the material world will remain, even as it is transformed; but much of what humanity has created will not remain. That which does remain will be re-purposed and brought into greater harmony with the Laws of Creation. Humanity will receive great assistance from many sources in order for this to be realized. We will be very present in the world as it undergoes its transformation. There will be many bright spirits who will also assist and bring blessings to many. Upholding and uplifting humanity will be our great effort at this time. Much will manifest. Much guidance will be given. Many will be inspired. God has seeded upon the world many souls who are being prepared for this, who are gifted in particular ways, unique ways, to help humanity understand and act in accordance to this new way of being. Our friends from other planets within the galaxy will also assist and be with us.

There is indeed a great plan. God has instilled this plan within us, and He has given us great insight into His Will and desire to have the world healed. We will implement this plan, as will you upon your path, being guided and inspired and uplifted. Many things are about to change, beloved friends. We have told you of this for a number of years. We have implored you to prepare within your soul in prayer a desire to live life in the highest way that you can, a life that is in harmony with God's Laws, a life that is awakened by God's Love, a life that expresses light and love.

We continue to try to inform and inspire those who will listen, those who in their heart believe that new things, new expressions, new ways of being will manifest upon your Earth. Please continue to pray. Please continue to walk in truth and to open yourselves up to greater truth and understanding, by awakening your soul through the blessings of God's Essence. In this way, your eyes will certainly open. You will see with new faculties. You will comprehend things that in your previous time on Earth you would not accept or comprehend.

Beloved souls, this is the time of awakening, the time of opening your hearts and souls to love, a time to see the world differently, to understand that the material desires of man are not the focus of earthly life. Indeed, God gave you a body and desires and needs for material upliftment and comfort, but without the foundation of the spiritual within humanity, much of what humanity does is contrary to God's Laws.

There is a great reconciliation coming between God and man. In this, humanity will comprehend what is needed in order to willingly comply with God's laws. In complying with God's laws, harmony comes. Life will no longer be a life of pain and struggle but one of joy and acknowledgement of the great beauty and wonderment of life.

God's great mercy is being expressed to humanity. God forgives all. God's only wish is that all will know they are loved, deeply and truly loved, and that in that love comes what is required to be in harmony with God's laws, in harmony with one another and in harmony with the world. For when love is expressed, how can one contradict God's Laws? In this harmony, humanity reflexively will turn toward that which is in harmony with the Laws of Creation.

A new consciousness is being born within humanity. No matter what path they follow, no matter what ideas they have, no matter what inclinations are within them, there will be a turning point of great change that will happen within every individual. They will come to understand the power of choice and will come to use that gift of free will to make the choices that will bring greater light. Those who understand but do not choose will not be able to co-exist upon this world, for there will be a great incompatibility with those who continue to walk in the world in the old ways and conditions of darkness. They will have to reconcile themselves to light. Some are averse to this. Some will not see the advantage of it. They will not find a place in this new world and will have to move on to the world of spirit, where they are given the opportunities to grow and change, transforming from darkness to light at the pace and in the conditions that will allow them to do so, depending upon their free will and choice.

This is not harsh, beloved souls. It is a blessing for those who cannot and will not acquiesce to the new ways of light. You are needed to show the way, to show the way to everyone, for every soul will come to that place of deep concern, of awakening to some degree, of acknowledging the wrongdoing and the disharmony that has ensued from the actions of man. In these times, you will speak up and declare yourselves as children of God. In this, you will come to teach your brothers and sisters, not in anger, harshness and judgment but in love and generosity, kindness and truth.

This is why we ask you to release all conditions of judgment, to purge yourselves of dark thoughts and fears. For you must be pure, beloved souls, pure in your desire to serve, pure in your compassion for humanity, pure in your expression of love. If you pray with great light, a great longing to serve, a great desire to be in harmony with God's Will, many doors will open and opportunities will be given for you to walk in the world as a light. Seek to be that beacon of light that is truly a message from God to come close, to be embraced by God's great Love for you and each one.

You will come to see, in the days that unfold, a continued awakening and transformation of the world. You will walk in peace and you will know within your heart that you walk upon the road that God has destined for you. Much will come into your lives that will be surprising and unprecedented. Your gifts will open and flourish. A new life will be realized, and you will express this life with great joy, wisdom, and love.

Remember that you are all God's children and that we are all God's children. As such, we are family, a family that reaches out one to another in support of each member in their lives, in their struggles, in their daily challenges, so that love ensures that each of God's children serves their brothers and sisters. It is in this expression of service and love, joy and light that truth will be manifest upon the Earth. Each of you are given great opportunities at this time to grow in God's Love. Each of you who are truly in alignment with the Truth of God's Love are assigned angels and bright spirits who uplift you, protect you, and guide you along the road. This is a manifestation of God's great Love for each of you and it can be for every soul who desires to walk toward greater light and toward the Truth of Love.

May you be those bright, shining examples in the world. May you come to know God more intimately, so that you may communicate, receiving His blessings more readily, and act in alignment with God's Will. These things all come with prayer, the deep desire of the soul to reach God. Acknowledge this desire, beloved souls. Acknowledge who you are, a beautiful creation of God, imbued with a soul, something that is a reflection of God, something that is truly a part of God, in reflection of who and what God is. In this reflection, one must bring seeded potentials to life, so that the soul will not just be an image, but will become the substance. In this way, those aspects of God which are meant to be within humanity will be realized, awakened, and will grow for all eternity.

To have individuals on Earth who are a reflection of this truth, and who truly live by this truth, will be a great blessing to many. God needs His instruments upon the world, especially at this time. May you come to realize the true potentials of your soul, so that you may serve God as a clear and robust channel of His Love and Light. May the image become substance. May the truth be born within you. May the true transformation come to you and may you be His instruments upon the world.

I thank you for listening to my dissertation. I will come again to speak of things, of a new world, the birthing of the soul in Love, the need for greater light and truth. May God bless you. I am your brother and friend Jesus. I come once again to speak, to share my words of wisdom and truth to humanity. God bless you, beloved souls, God bless you.

LESSON 18

The Law of Attraction and Soul Progression

October 13, 2021

I come once again to talk on another subject that may interest you. It is about the Law of Attraction and its workings within the material world. It is a law that indicates that like attracts to like so that with magnetism and resonance, which is evident in your world, even amongst material objects, there is a drawing of forces, a connection between seemingly solitary objects that are drawn together by unseen forces.

So it is with humanity, that many individuals are drawn together. It may seem a mystery as to how this may be, but indeed, this is the law in action. This force is exerted and expressed in ways that make possible connections amongst individuals that may seem somewhat impossible or remote but indeed come to be as time passes. Many individuals are drawn together, one to another because of like-mindedness and a certain expression and direction in their lives which draw them into a resonance of connection and an agreement of thought and desire which comes from the soul expressed in the world. There are many layers that come into play, bringing about the eventual interconnectedness of souls. As well, the guidance of God and the influence of the angels and bright spirits also lead one upon a trajectory that will bring a guided connection with another.

I know that it is difficult for you to understand these laws considering the great complexity of human interaction and thought in the world, those billions upon billions of actions which take place in a day upon your Earth. How does the individual navigate through this great maze of choice and action and thought which reflects the human condition? Yet, through this maze, the soul's intention, married with God's intention and the intention of another, seemingly draws individuals together in some circumstance and situation that assures connectivity and, in most cases, a recognition deep within that there is something valuable and interesting in forging a bond and connection with another.

God's Will plays its part within this scheme. In this, He keeps His angels busy, attempting to guide and influence individuals, so they may indeed come together at some point. Of course, God will not interfere with free will. God will not insist that two individuals acknowledge their mutual resonance within the Law of Attraction which has brought them together, and often together for a purpose.

Yet, on many occasions, individuals do acknowledge and recognize this attraction. Often they will follow through by reaching out to another who has within them something that interests the individual, and they recognize an intuitive sense of being drawn to another. It is an important aspect to acknowledge and to act upon when meeting another individual.

At times, there is repulsion between individuals which would indicate a dissidence in thought, intention and desire between those individuals. This law acts conversely as well. Yet, the power of attraction, and I am not just talking about attractions between the two sexes, but the attraction between minds and souls, between the auras and the energies of the individuals which feel comfortable and attractive, is a powerful force in the universe. This law plays an important part as we guide you along your path and put before you many opportunities to connect and reach out to others.

A positive resonance between individuals makes for a powerful opening. If one is indeed a channel of light and love for God, there is more readily an acceptance of this influence between two individuals, an opening that can bring many blessings through. Although there are certainly times when the receiver is not even aware of what they have received and may not even be aware of the Law of Attraction working in this case, still, there is a fulfillment of God's Will and desire for a blessing for that individual. It is for you as God's channels to be sensitive and aware of the possibilities that God places before you. It is important that you live your life in a way that the higher intentions of your soul are in alignment with the intentions of God's Soul, working together in harmony, and therefore creating a powerful opportunity for blessings to flow.

In many ways, those angels and spirits who are your guides are with you because of the Law of Attraction. There is a similarity between your personality, your light, your desires, your destinies and those who have gone before you and have travelled the path toward the light in such a way that they are a powerful influence upon you. That influence comes with the resonance between souls and this resonance is the enactment of the Law of Attraction.

These dynamics and connections are often not well understood by you upon the Earth plane. Yet, often you are pleased, sometimes impressed, or even have a sense of awe at what God has accomplished in your life, bringing many beautiful souls to you with whom you feel compatible and resonant, in many ways and on many levels. In comparison to the planes of spirit, the Law of Attraction on the material plane is not as strong nor direct, but nonetheless, it continues to be active in your world.

Many of you are the beneficiaries of this law in a great variety of ways. How else do you form communities, beloved souls? Many begin by reading a book, by being inspired to pray for God's Love and drawing that gift of Love within them through prayer. With the power of that gift of Love given by God, it creates a resonating light to which others with a similar light are drawn. One often seeks out community, fellowship, friendship with those who have similar experiences, beliefs, and ideas. A powerful element is the soul's energy, light, and presence within you, that is constantly broadcasting into the world its light and its desires.

On what you call the soul level, this call is sent by another soul who is also desiring to make connections with many upon the Earth plane of similar experiences and soul conditions. Complementing this dynamic are those angels guided by God, who make great efforts to help facilitate these connections. Communities are formed, not just by happenstance but with purpose and with direction which God has, in His way, orchestrated through His angels and bright spirits, through each individual's desire upon the Earth plane.

These varied and complex interactions have their roots in God's Will, though it may take some time and many steps in order to be realized. Thus, the Law of Attraction upon the Earth plane is a somewhat diffused expression and is not often direct, obvious, and powerful in its effects upon the individual. Though, as you grow in Divine Love, so these things will become very obvious indeed. Within your soul, as you become more aware of it's senses, intuition and feelings, there will be an obvious signal that there is a purpose to your meeting someone and forging a bond or relationship that may be short-lived or long-lived, but will nonetheless have a purpose.

I would urge all of you to continue to listen to your souls, for within the wisdom of your souls God may guide you and guide you in ways that are direct, powerful, and purposeful. You pray to be a channel of God's Love and so through the actions of the laws, including the Law of Attraction, you are able to express and fulfill God's Will through your instrumentality.

The Law of Attraction in the spirit world is very direct indeed and very powerful. It determines the sphere in which a spirit that has newly entered into the spirit world must reside. His or her spiritual and mental condition determine exactly the positioning that they will take in the many spheres of spirit and sub-spheres of spirit that are part of the reality of the spirit world. They will then reside with individuals who are truly of a like mind and very much so, as well their spiritual light or condition that has been brought on by a lifetime spent upon the Earth plane.

Spirits form communities as well, at least those that are not within the very dark conditions of the hells. Even they at times seek out others but are often isolated and alone in their deprivation and suffering. This condition of suffering has been brought about by the exercise of the Law of Attraction placing them in the sphere that is most suited for their condition.

It is important that you urge those upon the Earth plane whom you meet that they seek light, that they seek to do good in the world for the consequences of fostering evil and darkness upon the material plane are very direct indeed when one passes over into the spirit world. There are many, many worlds within the spirit world, worlds that have been created by individuals of like mind and have in essence, created their own reality through constant re-enforcement of thought, attitude and action that is shared amongst their particular community. Indeed, there are certain laws that pertain to this and certain elements that are consistent in the existence of the spirit spheres. Still, there are many possibilities of creating one's own experience within the world of spirit.

As you walk upon the earthly plane, you have much leeway to practice and to apply the Law of Attraction in your life. There is much that can be accomplished with an understanding of this law and how one may go about their lives seeking for the highest, seeking for light, seeking to serve in love, seeking to be an instrument of God's Will. As you exercise your choices in life, so you set into motion many laws, including the Law of Attraction. You may draw to you many beautiful souls of like mind and like intention. In this way, as you gather together, so you create a formidable force in the world. You draw the Light of God's Love, Presence, blessings, and healing into your midst. This you may also broadcast out into the world as a collective channel for God. All this is accomplished through the actions of free will and the Law of Attraction, amongst many other laws.

The Earth life is a great gift. It entails many possibilities and many opportunities. You who live your life in a material world that seemingly provides all your needs, material needs, you may also apply this law to draw to you many opportunities to serve God, to serve humanity, and to uplift yourself. When you pray, you are utilizing the Law of Attraction. You are asking God to bless you. You are drawing yourself to God as God is ever drawing Himself to you. There is a resonance of the soul that makes possible the blessings that God has to give to you. As you pray, you also draw the Celestial angels into your midst. You draw forces and energies that are in alignment with God and may bring powerful outcomes, open many doors and bring many blessings to you.

As one begins to understand these Laws of Life, you open doorways that were to some degree not accessible to you in the past. It is important to study the laws, so to understand that with knowledge of the laws and acting upon them, practicing them in your daily life, you are forging greater harmony and connection with your Heavenly Father, the Creator of All. You come to understand the Law of Love as you pray to receive this great gift, a gift that brings powerful transformation and outcomes within your soul. You live within the Law of Free Will that allows you to choose with each breath. You understand the Law of Compensation and wish to do good in your life so that this law may not act against you and create suffering for you if you choose that which is not in harmony with God.

You are coming to understand many things about your own soul and its capacities and capabilities and to understand the complexities of your body and your spirit body. When you come to greater understanding of those many aspects and elements of life, whether that be within your mind or your soul, in both cases, it empowers you to act in harmony with God's laws, for knowledge of the law brings the possibility of acting inside the effects of those laws in your life, with positive outcomes.

Your angel friends spend much time tutoring you and teaching you of these laws and the importance of acting within these laws in order to foster harmony. Yet, there is a countervailing influence upon you which is the human condition, that which you were born into and has been nurtured in your lives. The mind has a great sway upon your choices and your perceptions of the world. Yet, as you continue to grow within your souls and come to know the great wisdom that is within your soul, the true and deep understanding of these laws which resides within you, so you are coming into greater alignment with all that is part of God's creation; and thus you spend less time being distracted within your mind with things that are not in alignment with God.

Your souls continue to grow in Love as you pray each and every day for this gift. The power of this blessing continues to transform you and influence you. Soon your minds will not be the predominant influence upon your daily actions and decisions. Instead, there will be a co-creative outpouring of insight and wisdom that comes from both the soul and the mind. This marriage of both will be a powerful catalyst for many actions and decisions in the future. As you continue to pray to be used as an instrument for God, this emerging understanding and wisdom will play a major part in your instrumentality and how God may use you. The latitude of how God may use you will increase greatly because of the incorporation of the soul's wisdom and the influence of the soul. The soul is always receptive to God's Will, and its attunement brings greater effectiveness to your work.

You are beginning to realize how important it is to discipline your mind for there are two centers within you that broadcast thought and energy out into the world; your soul and your mind. When they are in harmony together, then what is broadcast is much more powerful, exponentially so. You may indeed be a powerful instrument for God and a channel of love and light. As this resonance and unity within you grows, so you become more effective as His instruments. You are much more easily guided and you may see more clearly that which it is to be done, the words that are to be spoken, the actions that are to be expressed, the love that flows more readily and powerfully through you.

In this way, the light that you are becoming acts powerfully through the Law of Attraction to draw others to you. You have experienced individuals who have an aura about them, a charisma as you call it, that is powerful. You cannot help but respond to this, to feel the drawing toward that individual that is in effect your soulful response to that individual. In time you will gain a certain charisma. Not one that is borne from ego and mental talent, but one that comes from a soul resonating and broadcasting in God's Love and God's Will. This will indeed make you a powerful channel in the world and this the world needs desperately, so to have more who can bring the Truth of God's Love, the salvation of the soul, to many individuals.

There are many, many souls seeking in the world. In that seeking, they are enacting the Law of Attraction. In this, provided you are readily guided and are powerful as a channel of light and love, you may answer the call. You will feel and know the law in action, as will another with whom you are in contact. You see how growing in God's Love can bring many, many wonderful opportunities and possibilities to your life. You will understand how the power of Love within your soul will enact the Law of Attraction in powerful ways. You will come to know God as you are drawn and enact this law in prayer. Even within yourself, the Law of Attraction will draw your mind and soul together so that you may resonate as one integrated self who has many gifts and faculties that can be utilized for the benefit of others in powerful and beautiful ways.

You are learning with each day. You are coming to know your true self. You are drawing to God and receiving the great elixir of the soul so that you are empowered, transformed, and awakened. In this, the Laws of Creation become quite evident. With your knowledge of them, so you will walk in the world in greater harmony and greater light, a beautiful channel for God, bringing greater light to the world. This is God's desire for you, beloved souls. It is God's desire for all in the world, that all may indeed resonate in truth, love and light. As there is a body of individuals who are living in this way, so they will draw more and more to them, creating an effect that will be exponential and powerful to transform the world.

May you continue to draw light to you, beloved souls. May you continue to understand what you carry, the power of your own gifts, and the power of your own free will to enact those gifts. Be a channel of God's Will in the world. Enlightenment will come, my beautiful friends. Enlightenment is yours as you grow in God's Love. May you find deep peace and deep joy in this great journey of life. May you come to know God more deeply and profoundly with each prayer. May you see yourselves within a sea of light, a soul of love, a mind in harmony with truth, a body that is strong and able to move in the world. In these things, you will be God's children and channels of love.

You are my brothers and sisters and I am with you always. Beloved, beloved souls, my love for you is great. My love for all in the world is great. Indeed, in time, we will bring greater light, greater truth so the world is transformed and healed in love as God blesses us all upon this journey. I thank you. I give my love to you. I am your brother and friend, Jesus. God bless you.

LESSON 19

Calling All Light Bringers to Serve

November 02, 2021

It is good that you pursue avenues and ways to share the messages that have been given through this instrument in my efforts to communicate with the world. You feel the momentum building as you reach out to many in the world. There are those who are responding and offering to support and help you in these efforts. This too is guided and will bear fruit in these efforts to bring the Truth of Love to humanity.

As you continue to pray and ask to be used as God's instruments, so the responsibilities and opportunities that are laid before you intensify. I urge you to answer the call, to be diligent in your efforts, to work unceasingly for the divine call to bring truth, transformation, light, love, and peace to your world. Few have had such opportunities, gifts and blessings from God that you have received. It is well past time to express these gifts, to venture out into the world in whatever way you are guided, whatever door that opens, and whatever opportunities are laid at your feet. Respond, step forward, and do so with the wisdom of your soul, the love that you have for humanity, and the desire to help rectify all that is in disharmony in your world.

It is a matter of attitude and priorities. Allow your mind to focus upon the task at hand, rather than be distracted by the material things of life and all that may bring pleasure and gratification of the flesh and the mind, but is not in harmony with the truth of the soul. We must all step forward at this time, for this time offers a window of opportunity to move in the world. Disseminating this truth, each in our own way, sharing gifts and possibilities out into the world.

For those who are dedicated and serious, who wish to be God's instruments to bring the Truth of God's Love to their brothers and sisters, the way will be opened and the opportunities will be set before them. Just as you have seen barriers removed and the possibility of service grow and expand as you have grown and expanded in the Truth of God's Love within your soul and within your consciousness, so this is given and flows to all who are in harmony with God's Will and God's plan for the salvation of humanity.

As is often the case in your world, when you are asked to step forward and to grow spiritually, to be more loving and more attuned to God's Laws of Love, so you step forward and at times step back and at times step forward again. This dance between your will and God's Will continues to take place with each day that comes as a blessing to you. May you come to step forward again and again without retracting your steps but moving ever forward in alignment with God's plan for you and for your instrumentality.

There is much work to be done and few who are willing to do it. I urge you, beloved souls, and all who may listen to this message, that you may put aside the fantasies that you entertain within your mind and listen deeply within your souls to the Will and the guidance of God, for this is what will bring you upon those treasured steps forward. Indeed, when God's guidance comes and there is clarity, then what constitutes your steps will be readily attained and expressed. Little comes without a struggle in your world. Each of you have struggled greatly to overcome barriers, error, and illusions, including those mindful and egocentric desires that constitute your idea of service but are not for service to God. Listen to His Will, which flows unceasingly to your soul. In this, the Truth of God's Will and desire for you will bubble forth to your minds. We urge you to allow yourself to be open to this guidance, without fear of misinterpretation or attempting to reinterpret that which is given.

God's guidance is often simple and straightforward. There is little that needs your interpretation, only your action. That action in itself may be simple and straightforward. Though you live in a complex world, a world that does not open the way easily, yet, with faith and as you step forward, often blindly, you will find that doors will open and opportunities will present themselves as required to fulfill God's plan. Now is the time to truly step forward in faith. Those things that are a barrier to you, whether it be your physical health, your concern for financial well-being, your desire to be distracted by the material, your doubts and fears, all of these things must now be released. With faith, the barriers that are present in your life will fall away. How powerful are your prayers, beloveds? How strong are your convictions and your dedications? How much do you desire to truly be a channel for God rather than to formulate your own ideas of instrumentality and service? Are you willing to be humble, to follow God's Will no matter what that may seem to be and is challenging to your mind? Are you willing to let go of those things within you that hold you back from being God's instruments freely, actively, purposefully, in harmony with God's Will?

Each day represents a challenge to you. Each day is often met with your mindful expectations, desires, and expressions. Yet, we have often compelled you to seek the counsel of your soul which is in alignment with God. Yet, you are often stymied by what you perceive as silence and that God does not speak to you. This is not the case, but merely a reflection of your focus upon the mind and its desires and insistent reflection and expression of its state and condition. You must go beyond this now, my beloved, beloved friends. You must see yourself truly as a soul living in a material world, a soul which exists beyond this world, and that all those material accomplishments and demands will evaporate with your transition into the spirit world. To see life from this perspective is to not give much focus and effort to all that is material but to allow your material obligations to flow in harmony with the priority of the soul's inclinations, a soul guided by God in the flow of God's Will.

This I know is a great and arduous task in a world so entrenched in materialism and the heaviness of the human condition. But if you are to be leaders in the world, you must teach the way of the soul. You cannot speak of these things and yet live a life that is not of these things. A teacher lives within the truth of his own teachings and must do so in order to be an example to others. True spirituality is the commitment of the soul to God and the understanding that God has gifted each individual with life upon the material plane, which does indeed entail material actions and engagement but is also predicated upon the truth of love, the truth of light, the truth of the generosity of the soul to embrace all, to love all, to appreciate the true beauty of God's creation, which is this world.

Can you allow yourselves the luxury of releasing the burden of obligations and responsibility and walk in the freedom of God's plan for each and every day upon this Earth? In this way, you will know great joy and a great sense of engagement in life that is not weighed down by those material obligations that feel so urgent and necessary. Indeed, these obligations will be met but met in a different way and with a different attitude from that which you have cultivated all of your life.

It is time to shift your focus and consciousness from that of the material mind and expectations to that place of soul that is expansive, inclusive and joyful, and is with God. In this way, you will truly be powerful examples and agents for the truth. In this way, all of those concerns and cares will be met with love and executed with ease as love infiltrates all things in your life. Nothing is accomplished with worry, frustration, anger, confusion, a sense that life is difficult and perfection is unobtainable. These things are all of the mind. As the mind continues to restrict the expression of the soul, so the difficulties mount, frustrations continue, anger grows, and a lack of joy is ever-present.

This is the way of the world. Yet, you have been called upon to express and to teach a different way, a way that will restore harmony in your lives and in the world. Are you truly practicing this way? I see that at times you are and at other times, you are not. This merely reflects your humanity and your vulnerability, but I urge you with each day to see yourself as you truly are. When you find yourself too engaged within the material concerns of life, at times obsessed, at times full of angst and worry, bring this to God. Ask God to assist you in these tasks and God will provide the ways and the means to fulfill these obligations without the condition and difficulties that are often associated with them. God has provided many of you with ways and solutions to your dilemmas so that all is in harmony. You will find this will intensify and that God's influence and blessings upon you will infiltrate every part of your life.

If you assess your life at this moment and look back upon past years in which you have asked to be an instrument of God, do you not see the many thousands of ways that God has answered those prayers, that solutions have come, that doors have opened, and that all have come with love? Individuals have come to assist. You have been provided with the means to physically solve any problem you may have in your material world and life. You have known great love and great blessings. Doors of opportunity have opened for you. This will continue to be. This is the way of God as all flows in abundance; if it is accepted and recognized for what it is, not tainted by the mind and the interpretations of the mind. Rather, I urge you to say a prayer of thanks to God for all that He has given to you. There is much that has been given, many blessings and opportunities, many solutions and doorways opened in order to accomplish the task that God has set before you.

It is time to wipe away that sense of inadequacy, that sense that all is not well or perfect, that sense that you have not fulfilled God's Will adequately. All those things of the mind that judge and preclude love and see the world in such a way that it is a great challenge rather than a great opportunity. Let these things go, my beloveds. Release your fears and your judgments. Allow your minds to be calm and accepting. Do not allow your mind to dominate and to create consternation and reaction that is not of love.

You are His children and we are all His children. God has implored us all to serve humanity in love, to walk in the world as a light, to be that clear and beautiful channel of love, truth, peace, and healing for the world. It shall be in accordance with your will, desires, and actions, so it shall be. Are you willing to allow God to fully infiltrate your life, in the ways and means, actions, and impetus to live a life of service in love, truth and light?

May God bless you on that journey, beloved souls. May God help you with each day, to see beyond the shadows of the mind and come to the pure light of the soul, unencumbered by the human condition, free from the encrustations that encompass every soul, bursting forth in light, truth, and love; bursting forth with great vitality, creating a charisma of truth, of trust, of love, where many will be drawn and come to you and seek you out.

May God bless you, beloveds. I am your brother and friend, Jesus. I love you. I love you dearly. I am with you on this journey, never to leave, always by your side, always in prayer for your upliftment, for your growth and development of the soul in God's Love. God bless you. My love is with you. God bless you.

LESSON 20

God's Love is the Way for the Salvation of Humanity

November 04, 2021

Beloved souls, I am Jesus. We have come close to the end of our dissertations on spiritual truth. This instrument has spent many hours along with his beloved mate recording these truths and sharing them with the world. As is always the case, there is much more in the way of truth that may be shared, but we wish to feed you that which is most relevant and useful in your lives. In due course, you will discover the details which fan out from these truths and the universal awakenings that come as you apply these truths to your lives.

We have made a concerted effort to educate those who are willing to listen, to read, to absorb, and to practice the simple truths that we have put forward. Indeed, there has been a concerted effort in the world to bring forth the truth in many ways. At this time, there is a great flood of information, a flood so great and intense that one is almost drowning in words, descriptions, ideas, and concepts. Millions of books have been published and shared on countless subjects. Yet, humanity continues to walk the road of ignorance, to walk a road that does not bring betterment or truth or higher levels of awareness and consciousness. Rather, most of humanity is engaged in the mundane practices and patterns of material life.

Most are willing to acknowledge those scientific advances that have been obtained over the years as their minds are more inclined to listen to that which is of a material explanation of the world. When one ventures into the spiritual, there is less appreciation or interest. The mind is greedy for that which feeds itself. In the intense search and procurement of fact, there is little room for that which goes beyond the intellectual and the mindful. Yet, the salvation of humanity lies within the recognition that life is more than just the material experience and mindful understanding that comes through the senses. There is something deeper within all of us. That, as I have explained, is the soul. Without the soul being nourished and coming to wakefulness, profound ignorance will continue to be the hallmark of earthly life, because there is little that material life can bring to the individual in terms of spiritual awareness.

Your scientists, researchers, doctors, and educators are focused upon the very obvious and palpable of the material existence, using scientific methods of research and proof. There is no way and means to prove that which is spiritual, to any great degree, using material methods of deduction. Those who are firmly embroiled within the mental perspective will not accept proof, even of life beyond the material plane. They live with blinders firmly in place, unable to venture beyond the strictures of their perspective and paradigms.

Yet, this is slowly breaking down, even with those who are in power and have been empowered by their great intellectual prowess and cannot see beyond the barriers of their own makings and therefore live in a world that sees only one perspective, one fraction of what is the truth of the universe. They wait for material proof to bring greater awareness to them. In terms of the mechanical universe, this perspective has borne much fruit, but what of the deeper parts of humanity? Those who study the brain tend to dissect consciousness and label it so that the function of the brain is the only avenue of consciousness, those parts identified and categorized.

Yet, there is something more than just material consciousness. Even a child understands this. Every individual feels deeply, can intuit many things, has within them a deep sense of what life means to them and reveals to them. Those who have set these sensibilities into religions and spiritual belief systems come closer to the true meaning of life. Though often they fail, because they use the faculties of the brain and mind to discern that which is of the soul. The soul remains inaccessible to many in your world, because they are overwhelmed by the human condition, the great flow of information and the stimuli that come with modern life. Those who have lived in simpler times had greater access to deeper levels of consciousness and soulful knowings. They were not obstructed by the voracious demands of life in your modern world. The material life certainly put its demands upon those individuals of the past, as the earthly life insists upon doing, but those demands were not so great that they lacked times of deep contemplation and consideration of deeper meanings of life.

In your fast-paced world, there is no time for such things, unless one segments that time and utilizes it with intensity and purpose. Even then, the energetic and psychic conditions of your world impinge upon the consciousness of every individual. It does indeed take a great deal of effort to go deep within. Some have made going within a mental practice and found some gratification, insight, and experience by calming the mind. Yet, we teach something different, to not only calm the mind but to go deeper and discover the soul, putting aside the mental biases and barriers that limit the experience of spiritual awakening.

Many are reluctant to include God in their spiritual search, as has been the case in humanity from the beginning. There is a deep inclination to be self-absorbed and self-empowered, thereby neglecting the potential for a deep relationship with our Creator. As I have taught for thousands of years, in this relationship with God, your Creator, whom I call our Loving Father, there is sustenance that can be given to the soul to awaken it and empower it. That sustenance is the Love of God. Unfortunately, the concept of God and Love put together is a very foreign idea to many. Often, the concept of God as taught by orthodox religions is of a being full of wrath, rules, and judgment. In orthodox Christianity, I have been associated with these ideas. They have gone as far as to include me in the Godhead, the trinity, as has been taught in biblical scriptures. Yet, this is entirely false. I am not part of the Godhead. I walked the Earth as a man but a man who received many blessings from God and was given the Truth of His Love.

I shared this Truth with my brothers and sisters as best I could. My travels and experiences and teachings have been shared in the Bible, to some extent, but are more often than not distorted and redirected so that they reinforce certain ideals and concepts of who I was. I have come to the Earth again, although I have never left in many respects, to teach the truth that I taught those 2000 years ago, and to do so in the language and ways in which I hope you will understand, be inspired, and put into practice. These truths, the wonderful opportunity with which God has beset humanity, to awaken to and be awakened by the great Essence of God, His Love flowing into your souls, is a treasure made available to every soul. Yet, there are few takers. Few truly understand the wonderment and immensity of this gift that is offered to every soul. We are here today and have come many times to speak of this truth and this opportunity, for it is the key to the salvation of humanity.

Humanity continues to be on the brink of great disharmony, even self-destruction. The time is nigh for those who see beyond the superficiality of materialism and wish to go deeper into their own spiritual selves and potentials, to speak up, to share this truth, to implore your brothers and sisters to come to God in prayer and seek humbly His blessings. So much fear has been sown within the hearts of men, regarding their relationship with God. In truth, God is all-loving, forgiving and merciful. God does not judge. God only loves. We, His Celestial Angels, cannot judge. Rather, in the flow of love, we are God's servants who are here to assist humanity in your struggle toward greater light and truth.

The simple truth has been given. It is now for those who wish to aspire toward that which is higher and of the highest to apply these truths in your daily lives, to walk upon this world as a light and to be an example, an example worth following that inspires and draws many to you. I was such an example upon the Earth. I invite each of you to follow my example, which was to give love, to give comfort, to give truth, to be a channel for God to bless humanity. I know that this is not an easy task, for even in my day, some of those who knew me laughed at my efforts. They did not understand. Those who were threatened by me eventually removed me from the scene. Today, however, there is more flexibility of thought and more receptivity of ideas and spiritual practices. I do not believe that your lives are in danger by speaking the truth. Rather, it is your own reluctance to be criticized and to be shunned by those you love that often stands in the way of you acting as God's pure and beautiful channels for the world.

Many of you are comfortable in your daily life. You have attained a measure of wealth, are settled in your ways and ideas, and casually entertain these truths which have been given. Yet, within your souls is a great yearning to further commit to these truths, to awaken more fully to these truths, and to live a life that is more in alignment with these truths. May you put love beyond all other things in your life, and may you express love in a multiplicity of ways, so that you will indeed be in alignment with God in a conscious and powerful way.

All these things are possible and plausible, given your willingness to awaken and commit to these simple truths. Understand that the life that you live upon the Earth plane is but a mere drop in the ocean of your continued existence. Yet, this first step in life as a realized materialized being is crucial; it determines the direction and flow of your life when you enter into the world of spirit. It is of the utmost importance that you come to realize that what you feel, think and do while on Earth, has a great bearing upon your future existence.

We have come to help you understand how this is of such importance. I believe if you read through the many lessons that have been proffered to you, you will obtain a picture that is wide in scope and knowledge of what is truly the reality of life, what God has created, and what you live. We have urged you to release the illusions of your mind that humanity has created and insists is the reality of life. Go beyond this surface reality to that solid ground of God's creation, of your relationship with your Creator, so that you may find freedom and joy in His Love. May love abound within your hearts, and may knowledge come to your soul and your mind. May truth become the credo of your existence, rather than continuing to cling to the old and tired ways of humanity's erroneous vision and depiction of life.

Materialism is the great Achille's heel of humanity. It continues to hold the consciousness of man to the very ground, rather than inspire their higher selves to something greater and more in alignment with their true natures. Materialism is also killing your world, as you continue to strip it of its resources and vitality in order to fabricate things that you believe you need and want. This is causing a great imbalance that needs to be rectified and brought back into the harmony that is intended. You are all responsible for doing your part to bring that balance to the world. As you grow in Divine Love and your soul is awakened, so you will see how you may shift. You will see the great openings and opportunities that God will place before you, so that you might be His active instrument to change the world.

The power of love is the greatest power of all. Yet, it is that power that is ignored by man. Man has romanticized love, made it into something that is more aligned with his material and animal nature, rather than that which is of the higher self, the soul. This message has been repeated over and over again. A message given to your children who grow up and give to their children and so on, but true love is the expression of the soul awakened by the Essence of God, given as a gift. This Higher Love brings with it many blessings and opens many faculties, allowing the individual to see and feel and know with more clarity and understanding of the true essence of life and the true meaning of life.

It is time for humanity to awaken to these things. As humanity continues to degrade in its human expressions and lower animal instincts, so it is in danger of descending into deeper darkness, thereby making their struggle something that is tremendous in scope and difficulty. Humanity sits upon the precipice, yet God has deemed it possible that all manner of assistance, support, and upliftment be given at this time.

A great door of opportunity has opened for the world, and God's blessings continue to flow in ever greater intensity. These blessings are helping to ignite transformative elements and aspects of the material world, and the spiritual world, so that humanity can be uplifted. The entire world is receiving the benefits of healing and re-alignment. It is a great choice given, an opportunity to see beyond those blinkered perspectives that humanity has developed and so desires to uphold, so that it may come to a great shift of consciousness and recognition.

There is so much given at this time, my friends, so much that we can do, your celestial helpers, so much that is given, even from souls who reside upon other planets in your galaxy and universe and of course, from the Creator Himself. Powerful forces are in alignment at this time. You may all take advantage of this for support and assistance, guidance and love, all given freely and abundantly.

Is this a God who judges? No, it is a God who loves all His creatures and loves most of all those whom He has created who possess a soul. God in His mercy and love for humanity has opened many doors that heretofore have not been opened, and He is giving all that can be given to help awaken humanity. We find ourselves together in a great quest to disperse the darkness in the world and to give humanity hope. We are bringing humanity to truth, and showing humanity the way to true love. So much is given and it is given in love. A great love for all the souls in this world and the world of spirit, no matter their condition, no matter who they are and what they believe and how they live. All are loved, truly loved.

If humans can receive even a measure of this Love within them and accept this and nurture it, humanity will be well on the road to change the course of history, from that of continued degradation and inhumanity, toward harmony and peace. This is a choice, for as I have stated, free will acts as a great determinant of the course of history for each individual and collectively for all of humanity.

It is for you to decide. I implore those who are willing to listen to these words, those who feel inspired within your hearts as you read or speak these words, to choose light, to choose your higher self, your soul, over that which has been imposed upon you by generations of men who wish to establish power and predominance over the world. It is time to liberate yourselves, to go beyond the rudimentary thoughts, actions and priorities that so many have established in their lives. A great shift is required, a shift of consciousness, a shift in thought and action. It is for you to decide. Though you will not step forward in the world completely free of those conditions of which I speak, you make a beginning. You may go beyond the constrictions of a mind filled with error and distortion and in time will come to know your own soul, that true self that endures.

Humanity must endure and thrive in your world. God created this world for a purpose, and God created each of you as a part of this world and purpose. May you find your true selves and true purpose in life. May you find this in the outpouring and outflowing of love that you may have for your brothers and sisters, for yourself and for God. Love is the key. Love will always be the key to spiritual growth and awakening. To go to the highest of love, that of God, is to fuel your trajectory toward spiritual development and awakening in an intense and exciting way. Life will take on a new hue, a new perspective. Indeed, those old and tired priorities will fall away, giving way to new priorities, new perspectives, new desires.

Your soul will be an active part of your being and expression, thereby giving great wisdom and great resources to your actions and your life. To be an active agent of God is to be a powerful agent of change and an example of love and truth. It is the transformation of the soul through the blessing of God's Love that will bring these things to you and make many things possible through you. Seek the Love of God, such a simple thing, but one that has eluded so many.

May you go beyond the barriers, distortions and fears of your mind and discover the wonderful world of the soul, all that your soul carries within it, waiting to be explored and awakened. God will touch your soul over and over again, until you are awakened and the great shift of consciousness comes to you. Certainly, it will come gradually, but in a firm direction that will not be thwarted by your mind. Though your mind may resist, it will in time capitulate to the soul, for the soul is far stronger than the material consciousness. Once empowered by Love, it becomes the predominant aspect of your being and will guide, influence, and help you in your choices toward greater light.

May God bless you all upon this journey. May you come to hear my words in the sincerity and power of truth and love; for I love each and every soul upon this world, each and every soul that God has created. When one is in alignment with God, this love for all grows and grows and will not cease. It is the truth that comes with the great blessings of the Father's Love.

God bless you, beloved friends. May He keep you in His care and Light. May He guide you and show you the way to the salvation of your soul, where you will be reclaimed in love, bathed in love, healed in love. May you come to experience all that is given in the great and wondrous power of Love that is the Soul of God. God bless you, my beloveds. I am your brother and friend Jesus and I love you. God bless you.

LESSON 21

Laws that Govern the Progression of the Soul

This is Jesus. I wish to talk about the laws that come into effect when one asserts oneself in the material world and the spirit world. There is certainly the Law of Cause and Effect, which means that for every action that is taken, there is an equal and opposite reaction and response that takes place from those actions, thoughts, and deeds which are a part of the individual. Thus, each individual creates conditions, atmospheres, energetic waves that are in direct correlation to the individual's condition and emanations, whether they be from physical action, mental thought, or spiritual expression and intention.

These things all have their effects upon the Earth plane, and they correlate also with the spirit planes. So, you create your reality by your thoughts and deeds. You draw to you many things by the Law of Attraction. These things reinforce and inspire you in certain directions and ways of thought and being in the world. These aspects of life are often unrecognized because they are subtle and not necessarily direct in their actions and reactions to the individual. Yet, these things are powerful and continue to influence and have some bearing upon the individual's life.

In conjunction with this is the Law of Compensation. Your actions and your thoughts create a condition within you, affecting and altering the light that you carry as an individual being. If your thoughts are dark, your emotions angry, destructive, fearful, your actions will reflect this, and will often reinforce these conditions and draw to you spirits who will also reinforce these conditions.

If you think of the world as a coalescence of energy, many countless expressions of energy, then you can see that the energy forces that are within the world are interactive and are either drawn to or repulsed from other energies. So, within this complexity, one builds within oneself a reality, an energy signature, and condition within the mind and soul, as well as the spirit body and the fleshy body, certain aspects and manifestations that are both positive and negative. These either sustain life or detract from life; depending upon whether they are loving or not loving, of fear or of peace. These opposites and dualities exist in the world and are in constant interaction.

Thus, you find yourself challenged often, not necessarily because you have made the decision to create a dark or negative response within yourself and around you, but because often the conditions around you are dark and negative. These prevailing negative conditions are created by your brothers and sisters, who are often ignorant of the fact that they are co-creating with all upon this planet the conditions of your world. Seek to sustain faith and love.

Go to God in prayer, in desire for relief from these conditions. Seek a blessing of light within your soul. Ask for the cloak of protection around you. Ask for the presence of your angel friends and bright spirits to assist you upon your journey in life. In doing so, you create a buffer between yourself and the predominate energetic conditions of your world. This is wise and important as you continue to grow and awaken within your soul and your mind. This will help you gain greater light and truth, greater capacity to love. This is the way to become a channel for God, that His blessings may flow through you.

Everything you think, say and do contributes to your spiritual condition, to the light within you. To create light within you, to awaken yourself to light, to love, to truth. This is crucial, for within these beginning steps of life, which is your existence upon this world, you create the momentum, the power that carries you forward beyond this world when that time comes to shed the fleshy body.

As a result of the light you create, the thoughts that you cultivate, the actions that you express in your world, you are honouring the Law of Compensation in a way that brings you blessings, rather than burdens; for the Law of Compensation is a double-edged sword. It insists that every soul must strive toward light. But if that soul does not strive toward light, then it is obligated to be cleansed of the darkness within it, those memories and actions and conditions that it has created through a lifetime. Each of these actions and conditions and thoughts must be examined and released through the actions of this law.

This can be a very arduous journey for a soul in the spirit world, if that soul has indeed cultivated much darkness within it. For then it is drawn to a place in the spirit world that reflects this and is in harmony with it. As a result, the struggle will be deep and difficult, because the soul will find itself within a dark condition that in itself reinforces the darkness. There they encounter others who are of the same condition, as the Law of Attraction draws them together. These souls cohabitate in what are the hells within the spirit world. There are many in such hells. Those hells have gradations and levels of darkness. Fortunately, there are few in the deepest of hells, but there are many within the grayness of those conditions that are still considered hell.

They do not understand the laws as they pertain to every soul. They do not come to a realization that they are responsible for their actions and each action taken brings a correlating response and a demarcation upon the individual soul which must be cleansed and released and healed in some fashion. For those upon what is called the natural path, this process can be very long and arduous, for they must come to acknowledge and to release each and every element of their own condition, each memory and thought and energy that clings to that individual as a result of their actions on Earth.

These souls may take many hundreds of years, in your Earth time, to accomplish this task; and only then are they able to move on to the higher planes of light. But then, they cannot step into these planes in any meaningful way without first having to reconcile these conditions within them, as the Law of Compensation has its effects.

For those who walk to in the world with a desire to be of light and of service to others, who wish to cultivate love, who desire to be in a harmonious condition, the Law of Compensation works in their favour, for rather than recompense for deeds that were done upon the Earth and therefore reflect upon the condition of the plane in which they reside, there is the benefit of the light cultivated within, which draws them to a place of light in the spirit world.

These places are filled with joy and happiness. Although it is rare that an individual may come beyond the Third Sphere, which is a beautiful place indeed. Still, they find themselves unburdened by the earthly condition and able to engage in the spheres of light and all the wonderments that are contained within it. Their journey then is not hampered by the dark conditions that so many pass into the world of spirit have accumulated in their lifetimes. These fortunate few have either by will or by their own nature and desire for light bypassed these arduous journeys from darkness into light.

Each individual contains conditions that are in need of healing and release, because none escape the earthly conditions to such a degree that they are free from all that hampers them in the earthly world. But if one chooses to grow their soul in Divine Love, to receive the Father's great gift of the Essence of His Soul into their souls, then the higher law is invoked, the Law of Love. The Law of Love dictates that the power of God's Love within the soul will, in time, release the individual from all conditions that are not in harmony with love, thereby bypassing the Law of Compensation and bringing the individual to a place of purity with the power of Love activated within the soul. This power heals and transforms all conditions and energies within the individual toward that of harmony, toward that of the transformed soul. This may only take place with the inflowing of the Divine Love.

So, those who seek to receive the Divine Love while they still walk the Earth benefit greatly. They have a great head start, in comparison with many on this Earth plane of yours. To be able to bypass the Law of Compensation is a great boon to any soul. To be able to walk in a light that is generated within the soul, this beautiful ember of Love that grows and grows as the individual continues to receive more of this gift, puts them upon a path that is swift and beautiful and full of blessings. They cannot help but be drawn to those things that are of light, that are in harmony with God's creation and to express themselves reflecting this, reflecting love, and to be guided by God, because God has opened up the channel between them and Himself through their desire to receive His Love.

The power of this blessing is reinforced over and over again with prayer. With prayer, one draws more of the Essence, which in turn widens the channel between yourself and God. This in turn makes it easier to receive more of God's Love. This self-sustaining loop continues to be reinforced by your efforts, by your desire to be in harmony with God and to receive the great blessing that He wishes to give. This blessing is His Soul's Essence, delivered to you by the actions of the Holy Spirit, another law brought into place within your lives that assures the continued growth of your soul and the expansion of your soul in Love.

As you can well-imagine, the power of this Love, the power of this reinforcing mechanism that comes with prayer and desire of the soul, is a powerful element that burns away and causes the disintegration of all conditions that are not in harmony with love, with the highest of love. So, your prayers set into motion higher laws that respond accordingly. This is part of God's wondrous universe, of creation; it dictates that certain laws may override other laws in order to create greater harmony with His creation. This great Law of Love is the highest of all laws and is able to override many other laws that are within the universe, which would otherwise dictate your own progress and condition.

There are many, many benefits that come with the power of God's blessing of His Essence within you. It opens up many aspects of your soul that lie dormant in most but can be activated by the power of Love. Many doors of opportunity are opened to you, because as you grow in the Father's Love and your soul faculties are activated, then you are able to perceive and know many things that are not recognizable by the mind because it is not in harmony with the soul.

For most in your world, the mind is the most powerful and active agent that humanity utilizes in their lives. Thus, the soul does not have or is not empowered to assert itself in the world, because it lacks the nutrients, the right gift from God, to be empowered and activated in a way that will allow it to perceive and know things that are of soul and of God.

God has created a wondrous universe. He has made for many opportunities and blessings to come to His precious children. His table is bountiful and full of many wonders where each individual may indeed come to feast upon the wondrous blessings of God. But they must desire to come to that table, to make the effort, to sit and be with God, to open themselves and absorb all the blessings that God has to give to them, to have faith that there is indeed more, an infinity of more blessings to behold and to receive.

Rather than humanity remaining absorbed in the conditions of the earthly plane and materialism that is so predominate within this plane, it would do all of humanity a great service to put aside this consciousness, even for a moment, and focus upon God. To be in prayer and contemplation, to be with God. For God is always waiting for the individual to be with Him, to be in communion with His Great Soul. God gave each individual a soul in order to experience and to connect with God's Great Soul.

I have said like attracts like. So, your soul which is indeed a reflection of God, not in substance but in image, may indeed come close to God by the laws that are in place. As the individual comes to commune with God and to ask for the great blessing of His Love, so that image becomes substance. Thus, the soul is transformed and made into something that is more in alignment with God; not God himself, as some believe, but indeed a reflection that carries the light and substance that is God's Soul. Thereby many perceptions, gifts, and abilities that cannot be activated any other way come into focus and come alive. Thus, the power of this Love negates the power of the Law of Compensation.

As one continues to grow in the Father's Love, so that influence becomes great and, in its power, works upon those things that are not in harmony with God's laws, God's Love. They fall away in time. It is not instantaneous. Neither is the growing of the soul in God's Love; it is an incremental thing. But indeed, as one incrementally grows in love, so these conditions that are not of love, that are burdensome and often painful and out of harmony with God, are released; they fall away in response to this predominant influence that is the soul awakening.

The quickest way to the purification of the soul is with the blessing of Divine Love. In this journey of purification, many things may be recognized and released in prayer, painful memories and conditions that emerge and come to consciousness. The wise soul will bring this to God and ask for God's forgiveness, the release of these things and the healing of this pain, so that there is freedom from it. Again, faith is needed as one comes to God and asks for His blessings, His healing, His Love to infuse you, every part of you and bring greater harmony to you.

May you continue to pray, my beloved and beautiful friends. May you continue to grow in the Father's Love and release all those things that are not of His Love. You are being transformed in this process, healed, awakened. Light grows in accordance to your efforts, reflecting the light of your soul, that growing light, that burning ember that brightens and warms your soul and warms your being with love.

You are given this gift freely, beloved souls. God wishes for all His children to be freed from the darkness and the pain that is part of your Earth. This condition was never meant to be within your earthly plane, but was and is a result of the free will of man. Utilize the laws, beloved souls, so that you may free yourselves from these conditions and truly be in the light, the Light of the Father's Love, the harmony of His Love, to know His Will in your life, to know God as a real and powerful aspect of your life that will guide and protect and heal and bring wisdom and love. As much as you desire, so it shall be given.

May you be blessed in Love, healed in Love, awakened in Love, and come to God in the true and wondrous way that is your soul opening to your Heavenly Father, your God who loves you so, unconditionally, powerfully, transformatively. May God bless you, beloved souls. I am your brother and friend, Jesus, Master of the Celestial Heavens, and I walk with you always, those who wish to be in light. I am your brother truly, and I am here to help uplift and serve and bring my love to assist you upon this journey. God bless you. God bless you all, beloved souls.

LESSON 22

The Coming Darkness Before the Light

December 15, 2021

I come to speak to you of all that is in your world that brings suffering and darkness to humanity. These things must come to the surface of the consciousness of man in order to be acknowledged and expunged from their thoughts and behaviours, for without this effort to reach beyond the human condition into that of light and harmony and love, little can be accomplished in bringing the world back to harmony and grace.

It has been over 2000 years since I brought the gospel of love to the world. My teachings have spread far and wide and there are few in your world who do not know of them, but it is with deep sadness that I acknowledge that those teachings have been perverted and express something far different from my intention and the truth. Many atrocities and wrong-doings have been done in my name and in the name of these teachings, because humanity cannot and will not look beyond their mindful ambitions, their needs and wants and come to that place of connection and alignment with God. Humanity has failed to accept that God is love and that God's Love is unconditional, and that the power of God's Love can bring harmony to the world.

Harmony and love were meant to be from the very beginning of humanity. Love was to have been the cornerstone; for love is the power and the light that can lead humanity forward in their progression. Love can lead humanity beyond their natural gifts and abilities to the expansion and transformation of their souls, by receiving the great gift of Divine Love, the Essence of God. But as you well know, that gift was rejected, and humanity chose its own course of development. In so doing, they cut themselves off from the power and beauty of divine influence and the awakening of their souls in ways that cannot be accomplished without this gift of Divine Love.

There have been many thousands upon thousands of ensuing years, during which humanity has lived upon this world and created for themselves a reality and perspective, though diverse in culture and ideas, yet so very similar in the wants and needs of men and their perspectives of the heart. Within humanity's unbridled expression, wondrous things and horrible things have been created. You have come to a place so contrary to God's Laws of Creation that indeed the human race is in jeopardy and is in great need of recalibration and a shift in direction that will bring you toward greater light and harmony.

Yet, humanity is blinded by their own ambitions, by their own patterns of thought and ideas that reinforce and create, over and over again, the error and dark conditions that bring much suffering to the world; not only to the world of man, but to the world of God's creation. All of creation now struggles and falters and is in great stress, as it tries to uphold its own expression that is of God's creation.

You begin to see within your own lives the results of this great struggle that is taking place upon your Earth plane. You are bombarded daily by many messages and ideas that often create fear and distortion and are not conducive to promoting a condition of love in the world. Few upon your world are awake to their own soul's potentials. Few truly understand themselves, but merely go moment-by-moment with the transient thoughts, feelings and desires that enter into the consciousness of each individual.

Underneath many of the motivations of humanity is a deep fear, a fear that they will not have enough, a fear that they will be a failure in the eyes of others, a fear that they will not be loved or accepted. So, they follow the wayward messages from those who wish to control and wish to manipulate humanity in order to garner greater wealth for themselves and their businesses, those ways of operation in the world. Your politicians do not see beyond their own fragile needs and ideas. Your religious leaders are often expressing their roles by following the edicts and doctrines of their religion by rote and not by the expression of their heart.

There are of course, in every sector of society, those who are of light, those who indeed struggle and try to express that which is of truth and light; for each soul has the sense of what is true and what is in harmony. Yet often, those messages from the soul are ignored and trampled by the human condition, by the choices of each individual to sustain and reinforce the materialism that is so predominant upon your world. What was meant to be a simple and beautiful expression of the human race upon this physical planet has been corrupted into such a powerful force for darkness and destruction that there is a need for all to be neutralized and swept away by the Hand of God.

This will not be the first time that God has intervened on behalf of His children. There have been other times in history, which is far longer than what scientists have imagined to be the existence of humanity upon this planet, where all that man has created has fallen asunder because the underpinnings and foundations of their creations have been based on error and based upon the selfish needs of men, rather than utilizing their own inner wisdom, which comes from the soul, to guide their actions and efforts in such a way that what is created is in harmony with the Laws of Creation.

Humanity has come again to a crossroads where change is needed and inevitable. This change will come on such a massive scale and way that all will be affected by this great shift upon your planet, for God will not allow this world to be destroyed and injured in such a way that it cannot recover. This condition is solely the result of men's actions and choices, as so many upon your world continue to act blindly with little consideration for humanity as a whole, or this world as it is. Too few who are in power acknowledge that this world requires a level of harmony and balance in order to function and sustain life.

The layers upon layers of darkness in the world are so complex and so intense that it would take a thousand years of concerted effort to heal and bring back to harmony all these aspects of human endeavour. There is no time for this, beloveds, nor is there any true desire or concerted effort to make way for light and to release those things that are of darkness. Yes, there are efforts being made and expressions of discontent and concern by many individuals and groups in your world, but unfortunately, it is too little, too late.

Now, we come to that place of extreme measures and terrible consequences. You will see in the coming years such ferocity in your weather and climate that what you have experienced recently will pale in comparison. You will find that the efforts of governments and industry to uphold the systems and economies of the world will be thwarted by the natural conditions that will continue to bear pressure upon all the systems and aspects of your physical world. You will find that humanity will lose its desire to be those productive and functioning individuals in the machinery of the economic structures of your world. A deep apathy will cover your world and many will be very discontent in their roles and efforts to contribute to the society and economy of your various countries. Deep discontent will rise up, especially among those who are youthful and who do not see a viable future ahead of them. Old orders will crumble and great chaos will ensue as humanity tries to shift in response to the reactions and conditions of light that are coming to help rectify the disarray of this world. It will be a very challenging time indeed, my beloved souls.

I wish I could bring to you a message of deep peace and hope for the coming future, the immediate future. But indeed, I cannot bring to you a message that is not correct or truthful. I and your angel friends and others can only come to support that which is of light and harmony and love. So, we come with our message of love. We come to bring to you the message that will bring harmony and healing to your world and will continue to do so. No matter what conditions may ensue upon your planet, we will continue to be with you and uphold you. As you continue to align yourselves with God, so you will have God's protection and guidance. You will have our presence surrounding you all.

It will be a difficult time as you see your brothers and sisters suffer so greatly. Although, even now the suffering of humanity is great, but much of this is hidden by the veneer of materialism, by the muteness of those who carry that suffering and bury it under layer upon layer of mental stimulation and material gratification. This possibility will no longer be available to such a great extent as to numb and redirect the individual from their pain.

There will come a time when it will feel as if the entire world is crying out and suffering. There will come a time when nothing that humanity has made and created for its own well-being will seem to function or be of any sense, as the world shifts and as the consciousness of the world shifts to the light and perspective of God's creation — bringing harmony above all else.

This will be the time when you are greatly needed, beloved souls. This will be the time when your gifts and your intentions and your desires to serve God and to bring the Truth of His Love forward will be manifested in each of your lives. Your attentions to your material life and material well-being will be replaced by a deep desire of the soul to move forward as God's instruments in the world, helping to bring comfort and truth to many who will be in deep fear and anguish and confusion. As you express God's Will in this way, so many manifestations and signs given through you by God will come forward. In this way, humanity will be awakened to its true self, to God's Will, and to God's creation.

Those who cannot accept this, even when they have come to the place of wakefulness, will not survive in the new world that is coming, the world that has been freed from the encumbrances of man and given the gift of a new beginning, the dawning of light and truth and peace in the world. In your restrictive and heavy material world and conditions, it is difficult to contemplate and understand this vision that I give to you all. You cannot see how this can possibly take place or how you may find your role within this unfolding plan that God has for humanity, but you will come to see this with clarity.

God will bring vision to you, beloved souls. You will come to slough off the skepticism of your mind and see with the clarity of your soul. In this, a firm and unshakable faith in the Will of God will be forged in your consciousness. You will come to see yourselves as you truly are. You will come to understand the great potentials and gifts that God has placed within you. You will see the world differently. You will see your wants and desires expressed through the wisdom of your soul, rather the inclinations of your mind and your physical needs. You will be guided in the ways of light, truth, and love and no other way will satisfy you, beloved souls.

Rather than fear and concern for the realities which you have created for yourself and engaged with many, many others in your world, as this crumbles and falls away, you will find yourself with a sense of freedom and joy, and an understanding of why this must be and how this will usher in a new world, a new existence for you and for all — provided they are willing to accept the coming changes as a gift from God.

This will not be accomplished so much with obedience and bowing down to God in a passive and defeated way. Instead, it will be the result of the liberation of the soul and a new awareness that dawns upon each individual as they come to accept that they are truly children of God. The mind often resists because the mind is full of fear and apprehension of what is new and does not wish to release its hold upon the control and power that it asserts upon the individual's consciousness. Instead, that deep desire to control will be usurped by love, by peace, and by a willingness and desire to be in harmony and in alignment with the Laws of Love and the Laws of Creation.

Although many will resist this, for they are so entrenched within their mindful beliefs and ideas and are afraid to give these things up and adopt something so very new and radically different, there will be many who will willingly absolve themselves from the demands and expectations of the human condition and adopt a new way, a new understanding that will engender a sense of equality amongst all and an appreciation of love for all humanity and for all of creation.

Can you not see that such a radical shift of consciousness, of truth cannot happen gradually but must happen as a shock to the world of humanity as it falls and the necessity for humanity to adopt something new and of greater light? As humanity is impoverished by their own weak and feeble ways, so that sense of helplessness will override all intentions of insisting upon rebuilding the world in the image of the past. Rather, there will be no possibility of this, my beloved souls.

Though, of course your material needs must be met. There are things that humanity has created which are in harmony with God's creation, given the wisdom and expression of them in such a way that they benefit all and are in alignment with God's Laws. This wisdom will come as humanity continues to step forward in the light.

I know there is a deep fear that those who seek to control humanity and have power to do so will instigate their control through these times of vulnerability and change. But I tell you, their power will be neutralized. Their ability to control humanity will no longer be present. You will see for yourselves how the actions of men who desire control will be neutralized by the Hand of God. This in itself will develop a great sense of faith and trust in God as you see that the darkness will be enveloped by light and truth and will be the cornerstone of all human action in times to come.

The time for deceit and lies and manipulation and lack of love are crumbling and will dissipate to make way for a new era of humanity's existence upon this world. As this era is established, as this time becomes more pronounced and powerful in light, so this will reverberate through the spheres of spirit and influence many to give up those vestiges of darkness and adopt that which is of light.

The entire planet and all that is a part of this world of ours will be affected by what will happen upon the earthly plane. There will be greater, much greater light in the spheres of spirit, and the many spirits that inhabit them will find their way to greater light. It will be a wondrous transformation, beloved souls, a great, great gift given from God to you, a great gift indeed, given in love, as God forgives humanity for its transgressions and as humanity forgives itself for all that it has done in the name of their truth which is not truth but error.

They will come to truth, beloveds. Every soul is meant to come to truth. That journey may be different for each soul. The consequences of their actions may determine much as they continue to move upon the path of their own soul's progression. But still, underneath all that is in the world and the underpinnings of life, is the expression of God's Love for all creation. His Love for humanity is great. For all His precious children, those beautiful creations that were given the gift of a soul, His love is great. In this gift comes the potential for the transformation of each individual from that of the purely human, natural abilities and gifts, toward the Divine. This includes all that comes with the gift of the transforming Love, so that humanity may indeed step forward into eternal progress, eternal expansion and awakening in this wondrous power, which is God's Essence. It is meant to be for humanity, this gift open to all, given in love.

Today I have expressed to you the journey that must take place for the continued advancement of humanity toward light; as the storm fast approaches. It is tumultuous and powerful in its expression and effect upon each of you. But as you walk in faith, beloved and beautiful brothers and sisters, you will find that even through these darkened conditions, there will be revelations, blessings, and wondrous, joyful gifts given to those who are attuned to God and willing to walk with God.

As part and parcel of these conditions that God is bringing to your world, there is and will be greater possibilities for the opening of your gifts and awakening of the potentials of your soul, of the manifestation of your great and beautiful light in the world. This will bring you such joy and satisfaction that you will desire more and more of this expression, of this service in alignment with God's plan. So, the doors will open and the possibilities will be great. You will find yourself walking in the light. You will find that God will give you the strength, the power, and the ability to do so, uninhibited and unhindered by human frailties. You will truly be God's instruments upon the world. The powers of your beautiful being, this wondrous creation by God, will shine forth in all its glory and beauty and light. Love will flow with such power and wonderment that you will see the glory of God expressed through each of you.

You will find yourselves in situations and positions of great influence, touching the hearts and souls of many. They will turn to you as the lost children that they are, and they will come to recognize fully their own pitiable condition. They will seek relief, comfort, truth, and a way through the tumult. Indeed, the way will be given. The doors will be opened, the possibilities expressed and manifested, so that you and many others of your ilk will be God's channels, leaders, gifted individuals, healers, speakers, seers. All the spiritual gifts will be given through the many who are now being prepared and are coming into alignment with the great effort that must be made and will be made, on behalf of humanity. To seek the light, to bring harmony and peace to the world, this is your calling.

God is orchestrating this. As we have said many times, His plan continues to unfold. Be true to yourselves, beloved souls. Be true to that higher self which is your soul. Be true to God. All will fall into place. All will be in harmony and at peace. Even though you may see much suffering around you, you will be an island of peace. You will be an island of light in the tumult. Remember this, beloved souls. When times become desperate, remember that when you turn to God, when you seek God's Touch and Presence, His Love within your soul, His guidance in your thoughts, His glowing peace within your heart, then you may be that light of which I speak, that channel of light for your brothers and sisters.

Do not give in to the pulsing darkness that will try to overcome the light. It will not succeed. The light is inevitable and it will come; but at what price, will be determined by the actions of humanity. What will come in your life is determined by your desire, efforts, perspectives and prayers. It is for you to decide, beloved souls, as God cannot decide for you, nor can we. It is for you to decide whether you walk in light or join those who are fearful and in the dark. Let go of all that which is within you that is of fear, that cannot see beyond the mindful conditions that are so much a part of your world. Walk in light and walk in faith. Trust your Creator. Trust the love and the power of love to make your world a world of light.

You are loved. You are blessed. I love you and I walk with you. I am your brother and friend, Master of the Celestial Heavens. I am Jesus.

I have come to speak to you of important matters and to reinforce the messages that have been given over the months and years. I have come to affirm that you have opened yourself to the truth. Now try each and every day to live it. May you continue to awaken to the Truth of Love. May you continue to find your way through the maze of the human condition, toward the purity and simplicity of God, and His blessing of Love for you. God bless you, beloved souls. God bless you and keep you in light. I love you. God bless you.

Al has published three books in the series

Explorations in Divine Love:

Our World in Transition, Messages from Jesus

Change is coming to our world. A change so profound and powerful that every one of us needs to prepare for what is coming. This book, essentially written by Jesus through the mediumship of Albert J. Fike, is part prophesy and part spiritual teachings. Twenty lessons received over a six month period take us on a journey of understanding our true nature and the potential to forge a personal relationship with our Creator. Jesus teaches that without greater knowledge and clear understanding of deeper spiritual truth, humanity will suffer through these times of difficult transitions. He speaks of the power of love to heal us all and points to avenues of vast untapped resources that will assist in transforming ourselves and our world. A new world of spiritual and material harmony is coming as the old world crumbles and a new one emerges.

The Quiet Revolution of the Soul

We all want to go to Heaven but most of us have trouble understanding what Heaven really is and have no idea how to get there. This book provides a road map to Heaven. Angels are eager to help us on our way and a connection with these beautiful souls is possible. The key is in receiving a unique blessing from the Creator, the Divine Love, which is freely given when sincerely desired.

Divine Love Mediumship

Since the inspired work of James E. Padgett who brought through the truths of Divine Love with his gift of automatic writing, many have taken a keen interest in the subject of mediumship. Though there has been some information given to us by Celestial Spirit Guides on what Divine Love mediumship is about, a comprehensive book has not been written until now. Albert J. Fike, a Divine Love medium himself, has written a second book in the series Explorations in Divine Love that addresses many questions relating to this subject. This book is short and easy to read. It is designed to both educate and inspire the reader. It is not just an instructional book for those who wish to become a medium, but also gives valuable information regarding the laws that govern the gifts of communication and rapport with Celestial Angels.

All three books can be found on divinelovesanctuary.com as well as on the link soultruth.ca/refer which will take you directly to Amazon.
